Rifleman Captured By Police

Barringer Wrests Gun From Mayr

A man who drew police attention on the Rondout Creek Bridge in 1955 was stopped there by patrolmen on a Tuesday night rampage which endangered a neighborhood and threatened police with a rifle.

George William Mayr, 29, of 32 Abeel Street, was charged with first degree assault and discharging a rifle in the city after police were notified that he had fired shots on Abeel Street.

"Get back or I will kill you," police said Mayr shouted as he aimed the 303 British rifle at officers Otto Short and Thomas Coffey, who were among several officers dispatched to the area. It was aimed most directly at Short.

Barringer Takes Rifle

They took cover and as Mayr's attention was focused on them, Officer George Barringer, with Anthony Turck nearby, came from behind Mayr and took the rifle from him at the Wurts Street entrance to the bridge.

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy today said: "I cannot say enough to commend those officers who handled a dangerous situation wonderfully. If it were not for their intelligence and exing there might have been a tragic outcome down there."

Accord Youth Is Jailed for Theft Of Auto Parts

Two youths, one a resident of Accord, today were in the Dutchess County Jail at Poughkeepsie, under sentence of 15 days each for petit larceny.

Town of Poughkeepsie Police Chief Vincent Smith said Charles Harris, 19, of RD 1, Box 225, Accord, and Gerald F. Levy, 20, of 4 Spruce Street, Great Neck, L. I., were sentenced by Justice of the Peace George C. Dietz, following pleas of guilty.

Smith said authorities were notified at 11 p. m. Tuesday that someone appeared to be stealing parts from a car parked in Jocko's Speed Shop yard, 482 South Road, Town of Poughkeepsie.

Poughkeepsie city and town police converged on the scene. A resident had provided police with a description of the car which drove from Jocko's lot and the registration number of the vehicle. Chief Smith told The Freeman that Sergeant Arthur Burchell and Town Patrolman Robert Post, spotted the car parked near a South Avenue tavern.

Harris and Levy were later taken into custody and charged with the theft of a side window and two mirrors valued at $28 from a car parked in the speed shop yard.

The arrests came 12 minutes after police were notified.

Sheriff Bell Seeks 3rd Term in Office

Sheriff Claude Bell, Town of Olive, today announced he would be a candidate to succeed himself if the delegates to the Republican County Convention see fit to designate him.

In announcing his desire to become the Republican candidate for sheriff, he said he was doing so in response to many inquiries over the past several weeks by many of his constituents concerning his candidacy for the office of sheriff of Ulster County.

Sheriff Bell, who is now serving his second term in office, prior to being elected sheriff served his town for six years as superintendent of highways and served as supervisor of the Town of Olive from 1946 until he assumed the office of sheriff.

Not until reecnt years has a sheriff served more than one consecutive term. Back in Civil War days Sheriff Cyrenus F. Brill served from 1863 through 1870, eight years. The late Abram F. Molyneaux was the first sheriff after that to be honored with two terms. Sheriff Molyneaux served two terms from 1936 through 1941, and the late George C. Smith served two terms from 1942 through 1950. Sheriff Cluett Schantz, immediately prior to Sheriff Bell, also served two terms. Nomination of

Kennedy Answers Nikita

Advises Working Closer Together

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy told Soviet Premier Khrushchev today that the formation of a coalition government in Laos is very encouraging.

Kennedy replied to a message from Khrushchev in which the Soviet leader said the agreement on a coalition government could serve as a guide to the solution of other problems between East and West.

"The formation of this government of national unity under Prince Souvanna Phouma marks a milestone in the sustained efforts which have been put forward toward this end, especially since our meeting in Vienna," Kennedy told Khrushchev.

Should Work Together

"It is equally important that we should now press forward, with our associates in the Geneva conference, to complete these arrangements and to work closely together in their execution. We must continue also to do our best to persuade all concerned in Laos to work together to this same end.

"It is very important that no untoward actions anywhere be allowed to disrupt the progress which has been made."

Kennedy agreed with Khrushchev that continued progress in a settlement of the Laotian problem can be helpful in leading toward the resolution of other international difficulties.

Can Be Significant

"If together we can help in the establishment of an independent and neutral Laos, securely sustained in this status through time, this accomplishment will surely have a significant and positive effect far beyond the borders of Laos," Kennedy said in his message.

"You can count on the continued and energetic efforts of the government of the United States toward that end."

Kennedy's reply to Khrushchev's message was dated June 12 and was made public by the White House this morning.

Agree on Point

That the little Southeast Asian country should be independent and neutral, not a cause for East-West conflict, is one point on which Kennedy and Khrushchev have agreed since they met in Vienna a year ago. But only now are the rival neutralist, pro-Western and pro-Communist Laotian princes settling on a nationwide government deemed VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Already sniping at "American warmongers," pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong will take temporary command of Laos' new coalition government late this month.

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, premier designate of the new government, said Tuesday he and right-wing leader Gen. Phoumi Nosavan will be in Europe at the same time. During their absence, he said, "the whole burden of state affairs will fall on Souphanouvong."

Talks and Weddings

Phoumi, like Souphanouvong slated to become a deputy premier, will lead a Cabinet delegation to Switzerland June 24 or 25 to ratify the 14-nation Geneva agreement on Laos pledging the little Southeast Asian nation to neutrality in the cold war.

Souvanna said he is going to France to attend the wedding of his daughter.

Just what powers Souphanouvong will be able to wield while running Laos was not clear. The bulk of the Cabinet posts are invested in neutralists, and the coalition agreement stipulates that all decisions related to the ministries of defense, interior and foreign affairs must have the unanimous agreement of the three faction leaders—Souvanna, Souphanouvong and Phoumi.

Welcomes U.S. Pressure

Souvanna, Souphanouvong's half brother and ally in precoalition maneuvering, welcomed the American pressure that forced the right-wing Vientiane regime to give way to the coalition. But Souphanouvong has shown no softening in his anti-American position.

The next step in what the United States hopes will take Laos out of the cold war will be for Souvanna to present the new government to King Savang Vathana. He plans to do this in the royal capital of Luang Prabang Monday.

Prince Boun Oum, the prime minister of the pro-Western royal government in Vientiane, flew with Gen. Phoumi to Luang Prabang today to submit his government's resignation.

Phoumi's delegation to Geneva will sign a pledge of neutrality agreed upon 13 months ago by such big powers as the United States, the Soviet Union, Great Britain, Red China and France.

Calls for Withdrawal

The Geneva accords call for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Laos within 75 days after the agreement is signed by a unified Laotian delegation. This applies to the several hundred U.S. military advisers to the royal army, and an estimated 10,00 Communist North Vietnamese troops and some Red Chinese advisers reported aiding the Pathet Lao.

Phoumi hedged, however, when asked whether as commander of the royal army he would ask the Americans to pull out. "We are prepared to follow the accords provided everyone else does the same," he said.

All foreign military personnel and civilians captured or interned during the civil war are to be re-

6 Leading Corps Due Saturday in Pageant of Drums

With colorful, precision marching and maneuvering—blended with a diversified repertoire of music—six leading drum corps will be featured in the eighth annual Pageant of Champions on Saturday at 8 p. m. in Dietz Stadium, Kingston.

A highlight of the musical spectacular will be a special exhibition by the Audubon "Bon-Bon" Girls of Audubon, N. J., a unit which has gained wide recognition for their colorful performances in both the U. S. and Canada.

The competing corps will include the Lambertville Volunteers of Lambertville, N. J.; the Kingsmen, Sunrisers, the Amboy Dukes, Carver Gay Blades and Jersey Devils. The pageant is sponsored by the Criterions, a Kingston area drum corps.

7,000 Anticipated

Spencer (Whitey) Myers, pageant chairman, reported today that the reserved ticket sale is "brisk," and predicted that upwards of 7,000 persons will be in the stadium for the Saturday night show. Reserved tickets are on sale at Potter Brothers, 294 Fair Street; Tommy Maines, 351 Broadway and Otto's, 650 Broadway. This will be one of our outstanding pageants in the eight-year history of the event and will provide our many friends with an opportunity to see many of the leading drum corps along the eastern seaboard, which will be making their first appearance in Kingston," Myers said.

The corps include many who have captured state championships, "and these, augmented by the special exhibition of the Bon-Bon Girls will provide the stadium audience with a top show," Myers added.

CR Resolution Is Liable to Stir Governors' Group

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) '— Gov. Rockefeller will go to the annual Governor's Conference armed with a civil rights resolution that is liable to provoke a sharp controversy within that national organization.

The governors of the states, including those in the South, will be asked by the Rockefeller resolution to "pledge" themselves to work for the end of racial discrimination in housing, education, transportation, employment, places of public assembly, and personal services.

The work would be done through executive action where possible and through legislative action where necessary, the resolution states.

The conference opens July 1 in Hershey, Pa., and Rockefeller said Tuesday he had submitted his 35-word resolution to the resolutions committee. In addition, he said he had written the individual governors that adoption of the statement would be "both timely and constructive."

Predictions Of Rocky on JFK Tax Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller predicts that the nation's taxpayers will react with both delight and disappointment to the income-tax cut proposed by President Kennedy.

The delight will be the natural reaction of taxpayers everywhere —including himself—to a tax cut, the governor said.

The disappointment, he predicted, would be felt by millions of taxpayers when they find out the actual amount of individual tax-relief involved.

Asked whether the approaching congressional elections might have been a factor in the Democratic President's call for tax relief, the Republican governor replied crisply:

"I wouldn't know, I haven't talked with him."

Rockefeller commented at a news conference Tuesday.

These were his comments in other areas:

Reapportionment — The governor said again he would not call a special session of the Legislature to deal with reapportionment. A suit challenging the present allocation of legislative seats as unfair to New York City is pending in the federal courts, ne noted, and said he will take no action until the court case is resolved.

Presidential Politics — The governor, a potential candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1964, said again his chief political concern was his reelection campaign and he was neither seeking nor receiving support from national Republican leaders for any presidential bid.

State Election — He anticipates no significant loss of votes to a newly formed state Conservative Party that has called for the defeat of Rockefeller on grounds he is too liberal. The governor said he feels the impact of the extreme conservatives on national politics has been greatly exaggerated.

Civil Rights — Rockefeller announced he would ask his fellow members of the Governors Conference to approve a strong statement calling for elimination of racial discrimination. The conference will hold its annual meeting in Hershey, Pa., beginning July 1.

GOP Policy—He has not read a declaration of Republican principles promulgated last week by GOP members of Congress and has no comment on whether he agrees with the statement.

Although he gave his appraisal of public reaction to the federal tax-cut proposal, Rockefeller said its full impact could not be judged until the President announced a detailed plan.

Kennedy has said he will ask Congress next January to approve an "across-the-board reduction in personal and corporate income tax rates..." He has not indicated

Poisoned Corn Is Eaten by Children, Stomachs Pumped

Three Columbia County children were reported in satisfactory condition Tuesday afternoon at Columbia Memorial Hospital, Hudson, after eating poisoned seed corn.

According to reports, Austin, 5, Jeramie, 4, and Robin, 2, children of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Williams, Claverack, found a bag of the poisoned corn on the porch of their home. Williams said he was caring for the children when he noticed Jeramie had some of the seed in her hand.

Inquiries disclosed the three children had eaten some of the corn. The children were taken to the hospital in Hudson, where a stomach pump was applied and the three appeared to be in good condition.

Williams explained later the corn had been treated with orthocide dieldrin to protect it from disease and insects.

Chest Survey Runs 11,181 On Tuesday

Shooting toward a hopeful 15,000 mark, there were an additional 1,632 who received free chest X-rays in the county-wide free survey Tuesday.

At Stone Ridge the unit served 858 while at Woodstock there were 774 residents of the area who came out for chest X-rays. This total of 1,632 on Tuesday brought the grand total for the survey thus far to 11,181. It has been hoped that a total of 15,000 might be served during the two-week survey.

In the Town of Shandaken where the unit will be at the Alamo Mobile gas station in Phoenicia, a good day is expected since some 900 persons had signed up for chest X-rays. The second until will be in Kingston at Broadway and VanBuren Street. As usual the hours will be from 2 to 4 and 5 to 8 p. m.

Next Stops

Thursday the units will be at East Kingston and the Town of Hurley West Hurley fire stations.

On Friday the two-week survey will be concluded when both units will be in Kingston, one in either end of the city to provide wider coverage and easier access to those who have been missed at prior Kingston visits. It has been pointed out that anyone who may have been un-

Coast Hunt Widens For Rock Escapees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The search went on today for three bank robbers who vanished from tide-swept Alcatraz Island prison in San Francisco Bay Tuesday after wriggling through cell wall vents tediously enlarged with stolen spoons.

Skillfully made dummies in their bunks prevented guards from discovering their absence for several hours.

Raft May Be Used

Warden Olin Blackwell said he does not believe the three men, led by a convict with an IQ of 132, are alive if they tried to swim for it.

However, because of the thoroughness of the trio's planning to bust "The Rock," officials concede that the men could have made it ashore on a makeshift raft.

Nor do they discount the possibility that Frank Lee Morris, 35, the leader, and two brothers, John, 32, and Clarence Anglin, 31 are still on the island lurking in a water's edge cave.

An ever-widening search—coordinated by the FBI—has spread over northern California.

Their escape was discovered at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday. They were last seen at 9:30 p.m. Monday.

11 Unsuccessful Tries

No one is known to have survived an escape attempt from "The Rock" in its 28 years as a federal prison, although 35 men tried it in 11 separate attempts.

Warden Blackwell told how the three men escaped the attention of authorities.

At 5 p.m. Monday, as usual, the doors clanged shut in the three-tiered cell block that housed 269

8th Arrest Made In Theft Probe For 3 Counties

An eighth arrest was made Tuesday by the Dutchess County sheriff's office in connection with an investigation of 150 burglaries in Dutchess, Putnam and Columbia Counties, and recovery of much of the loot, accoring to Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan. More arrests are expected.

The sheriff told The Freeman today that deputies took Joseph Realmuto, of Highland, into custody Tuesday and charged him with receiving stolen goods. Arraigned before Town of Lloyd Justice of the Peace Philip W. Schunk, Realmuto was released in custody of his attorney, Michael Nardone, Highland.

Caught in Probe

The arrest of Realmuto came as the result of diligent investigation by Dutchess County and Ulster County sheriff aides,

Prendergast Goes To Highest Court In Leader Fight

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Michael H. Prendergast has brought his fight for reinstatement as Democratic state chairman to the state's highest court.

He has lost consistently in the lower courts.

Prendergast was busted by the party's state committee in the climax of a long and often bitter fight with Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, who triumphed in a primary fight and an election and now is the actual state leader of the party.

James J. Leff, representing Prendergast, argued before the Court of Appeals Tuesday that because the office of chairman was created and filled under the State Election Law the state committee had no right to oust Prendergast before his term expired.

Samuel J. Silverman, representing the new party chairman, William H. McKeon, and other state committee officers, argued that the committee had acted within its rights.

"The first requisite of a leader is that the people he leads shall want him to be their leader," Silverman told the court. "Otherwise his leadership is meaningless."

Prendergast was elected to a two-year term June 16, 1960. He normally would have continued in office through this year's primary election, which will be held in September.

The state committee, at a meeting March 1, changed its rules to eliminate the two-year provision.

Wharton Sends Gift to Lions

Flag Is Banner, Never A Shield, Snyder Says

"As we mark another Flag Day heralding our emblem of 50 stars, we should remember that it is ever a banner and never a shield. An ever elert, patriotic and united citizenry must act as the shield," Frederic Snyder, noted traveler and lecturer, said as he addressed the Kingston Lions Club at its regular luncheon-meeting Tuesday. The club was observing Flag Day.

A flag that flew over the United States Capitol at Washington, D. C., was received from Congressman J. Ernest Wharton by the Lions at the same luncheon. Stephen T. McGrath, president of the Kingston Lions, accepted the flag and announced that it would be displayed first on July 3 at a joint meeting of Rotary and Lions.

Snyder said as he continued his address:

"The observers in old China described our flag as the garden banner. To them the garden was the symbol of prosperity and beauty. As you observe the five pointed stars, you will discover the outline of a man, with his arms outstretched in devotion. In ancient times, this was the posture of prayer. Truly every reverent and thoughful citizen will offer prayers of thanks for the joyous blessings offered by our country.

"God has no favorite flags. Each flag must earn its favor. May Providence ever prompt us to act in cooperation, neighbor with neighbor, state with state, nation with nation. We must powerfully resist the devilish

Special Session Out

Rocky on Reapportionment, Dems Act

NEW YORK (AP) — J. Lee Rankin, Republican lawyer and former U.S. solicitor general, has urged Gov. Rockefeller to "take the leadership" in getting a reapportionment of seats in the New York State Legislature.

Most of the demands for reapportionment have been made by Democrats, who contend that Democratic urban areas are cheated and Republican rural areas gain unfairly under the present apportionment.

Rankin, who sent a telegram to Rockefeller Tuesday asking him to call a special session of the Legislature on reapportionment, has been practicing law here since he left office as solicitor general at the end of the Eisenhower administration. When he was appointed to the post in 1956, he lived in Nenraska.

Rockefeller said at Albany again Tuesday that he would not call a special session to deal with reapportionment. He said he would take no action until a pending federal court case on the issue in New York City is decided.

On the Democratic side, William H. McKeon, state chairman of the party, announced appointment of a special committee representing all parts of the state to study the reapportionment problem.

The committee is headed by Justin N. Feldman, chairman of the New York County (Manhattan) Democratic Law Committee.

McKeon said the committee 'will study and analyze the developing reapportionment situation with a view toward taking whatever action may be necessary as quietly as possible to prevent continued rigging of the Legislature by the Republican majority."

The state's Democratic congressional leaders expressed jubilation in Washington Tuesday over the Supreme Court's decision Monday in the New York federal court case. The high court directed the U.S. District Court in Manhattan to reconsider the suit for reapportionment which it dismissed last January.

The leaders viewed the decision as an indication that they might be successful in their plans to upset last year's reapportionment of congressional districts by the New York Legislature.

Philly Entertainer to Talk

Chicago Night Clubs Are In for Spotlight Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers hear today from a Philadelphia entertainer and then put the spotlight on Chicago night clubs.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., is exploring allegations that paid officials of the American Guild of Variety Artists (AGVA) connived in many of the big cities with night club operators.

Subcommittee sources said the Philadelphia performer, Dick Jones, a former AGVA official, fought the alleged exploitation of night club entertainers. A cryptic subcommittee announcement said only that Jones would tell his story from the witness stand.

After hearing Jones the senators will turn their attention to the situation in Chicago, quizzing Ernest Fast, recently deposed Midwest regional director of AGVA; two Chicago police officials; and James Allegretti, whom they describe as a purported silent partner in some Chicago night spots under scrutiny in the hearings.

Penny Singleton, an actress who portrayed "Blondie" in the movies and on radio and television, fired bitter blasts at AGVA Tuesday as the hearings opened. She is a former president of the AFL-CIO-affiliated union.

Miss Singleton aimed squarely at Jackie Bright, the union's administrative secretary and executive officer. Bright told reporters he would deny her accusations point by point when he testifies.

Miss Singleton charged that the union doesn't enforce contracts forbidding employers to require

Poisoned Corn Is Eaten by Children, Stomachs Pumped

Three Columbia County children were reported in satisfactory condition Tuesday afternoon at Columbia Memorial Hospital, Hudson, after eating poisoned seed corn.

According to reports, Austin, 5, Jeramie, 4, and Robin, 2, children of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Williams, Claverack, found a bag of the poisoned corn on the porch of their home. Williams said he was caring for the children when he noticed Jeramie had some of the seed in her hand.

Inquiries disclosed the three children had eaten some of the corn. The children were taken to the hospital in Hudson, where a stomach pump was applied and the three appeared to be in good condition.

Williams explained later the corn had been treated with orthocide dieldrin to protect it from disease and insects.

Accord Youth Is Jailed for Theft Of Auto Parts

Two youths, one a resident of Accord, today were in the Dutchess County Jail at Poughkeepsie, under sentence of 15 days each for petit larceny.

Town of Poughkeepsie Police Chief Vincent Smith said Charles Harris, 19, of RD 1, Box 225, Accord, and Gerald F. Levy, 20, of 4 Spruce Street, Great Neck, L. I., were sentenced by Justice of the Peace George C. Dietz, following pleas of guilty.

Smith said authorities were notified at 11 p. m. Tuesday that someone appeared to be stealing parts from a car parked in Jocko's Speed Shop yard, 482 South Road, Town of Poughkeepsie.

Poughkeepsie city and town police converged on the scene. A resident had provided police with a description of the car which drove from Jocko's lot and the registration number of the vehicle. Chief Smith told The Freeman that Sergeant Arthur Burchell and Town Patrolman Robert Post, spotted the car parked near a South Avenue tavern.

Harris and Levy were later taken into custody and charged with the theft of a side window and two mirrors valued at $28 from a car parked in the speed shop yard.

The arrests came 12 minutes after police were notified.

Sheriff Bell Seeks 3rd Term in Office

Sheriff Claude Bell, Town of Olive, today announced he would be a candidate to succeed himself if the delegates to the Republican County Convention see fit to designate him.

In announcing his desire to become the Republican candidate for sheriff, he said he was doing so in response to many inquiries over the past several weeks by many of his constituents concerning his candidacy for the office of sheriff of Ulster County.

Sheriff Bell, who is now serving his second term in office, prior to being elected sheriff served his town for six years as superintendent of highways and served as supervisor of the Town of Olive from 1946 until he assumed the office of sheriff.

Not until reecnt years has a sheriff served more than one consecutive term. Back in Civil War days Sheriff Cyrenus F. Brill served from 1863 through 1870, eight years. The late Abram F. Molyneaux was the first sheriff after that to be honored with two terms. Sheriff Molyneaux served two terms from 1936 through 1941, and the late George C. Smith served two terms from 1942 through 1950. Sheriff Cluett Schantz, immediately prior to Sheriff Bell, also served two terms. Nomination of

SHERIFF CLAUDE BELL

Sheriff Bell for a third term, would be the first time such action has been taken since Civil War days.

Sheriff Bell issued the following public statement today:

"I would be most pleased to accept the designation of the delegates at the Ulster County Con-

Kennedy Answers Nikita

Advises Working Closer Together

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy told Soviet Premier Khrushchev today that the formation of a coalition government in Laos is very encouraging.

Kennedy replied to a message from Khrushchev in which the Soviet leader said the agreement on a coalition government could serve as a guide to the solution of other problems between East and West.

"The formation of this government of national unity under Prince Souvanna Phouma marks a milestone in the sustained efforts which have been put forward toward this end, especially since our meeting in Vienna," Kennedy told Khrushchev.

Should Work Together

"It is equally important that we should now press forward, with our associates in the Geneva conference, to complete these arrangements and to work closely together in their execution. We must continue also to do our best to persuade all concerned in Laos to work together to this same end.

"It is very important that no untoward actions anywhere be allowed to disrupt the progress which has been made."

Can Be Significant

"If together we can help in the establishment of an independent and neutral Laos, securely sustained in this status through time, this accomplishment will surely have a significant and positive effect far beyond the borders of Laos," Kennedy said in his message.

"You can count on the continued and energetic efforts of the government of the United States toward that end."

Kennedy's reply to Khrushchev's message was dated June 12 and was made public by the White House this morning.

Agree on Point

That the little Southeast Asian country should be independent and neutral, not a cause for East-West conflict, is one point on which Kennedy and Khrushchev have agreed since they met in Vienna a year ago. But only now are the rival neutralist, pro-Western and pro-Communist Laotian princes settling on a nationwide government deemed

Chest Survey Runs 11,181 On Tuesday

Shooting toward a hopeful 15,000 mark, there were an additional 1,632 who received free chest X-rays in the county-wide free survey Tuesday.

At Stone Ridge the unit served 858 while at Woodstock there were 774 residents of the area who came out for chest X-rays. This total of 1,632 on Tuesday brought the grand total for the survey thus far to 11,181. It has been hoped that a total of 15,000 might be served during the two-week survey.

In the Town of Shandaken where the unit will be at the Alamo Mobile gas station in Phoenicia, a good day is expected since some 900 persons had signed up for chest X-rays. The second until will be in Kingston at Broadway and VanBuren Street. As usual the hours will be from 2 to 4 and 5 to 8 p. m.

Next Stops

Thursday the units will be at East Kingston and the Town of Hurley West Hurley fire stations.

On Friday the two-week survey will be concluded when both units will be in Kingston, one in either end of the city to provide wider coverage and easier access to those who have been missed at prior Kingston visits. It has been pointed out that anyone who may have been un-

Coast Hunt Widens For Rock Escapees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The search went on today for three bank robbers who vanished from tide-swept Alcatraz Island prison in San Francisco Bay Tuesday after wriggling through cell wall vents tediously enlarged with stolen spoons.

Skillfully made dummies in their bunks prevented guards from discovering their absence for several hours.

Raft May Be Used

Warden Olin Blackwell said he does not believe the three men, led by a convict with an IQ of 132, are alive if they tried to swim for it.

However, because of the thoroughness of the trio's planning to bust "The Rock," officials concede that the men could have made it ashore on a makeshift raft.

Nor do they discount the possibility that Frank Lee Morris, 35, the leader, and two brothers, John, 32, and Clarence Anglin, 31 are still on the island lurking in a water's edge cave.

An ever-widening search—coordinated by the FBI—has spread over northern California.

Their escape was discovered at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday. They were last seen at 9:30 p.m. Monday.

11 Unsuccessful Tries

No one is known to have survived an escape attempt from "The Rock" in its 28 years as a federal prison, although 35 men tried it in 11 separate attempts.

Warden Blackwell told how the three men escaped the attention of authorities.

At 5 p.m. Monday, as usual, the doors clanged shut in the three-tiered cell block that housed 269

8th Arrest Made In Theft Probe For 3 Counties

An eighth arrest was made Tuesday by the Dutchess County sheriff's office in connection with an investigation of 150 burglaries in Dutchess, Putnam and Columbia Counties, and recovery of much of the loot, accoring to Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan. More arrests are expected.

The sheriff told The Freeman today that deputies took Joseph Realmuto, of Highland, into custody Tuesday and charged him with receiving stolen goods. Arraigned before Town of Lloyd Justice of the Peace Philip W. Schunk, Realmuto was released in custody of his attorney, Michael Nardone, Highland.

Caught in Probe

The arrest of Realmuto came as the result of diligent investigation by Dutchess County and Ulster County sheriff aides,

Prendergast Goes To Highest Court In Leader Fight

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Michael H. Prendergast has brought his fight for reinstatement as Democratic state chairman to the state's highest court.

He has lost consistently in the lower courts.

Prendergast was busted by the party's state committee in the climax of a long and often bitter fight with Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, who triumphed in a primary fight and an election and now is the actual state leader of the party.

James J. Leff, representing Prendergast, argued before the Court of Appeals Tuesday that because the office of chairman was created and filled under the State Election Law the state committee had no right to oust Prendergast before his term expired.

Samuel J. Silverman, representing the new party chairman, William H. McKeon, and other state committee officers, argued that the committee had acted within its rights.

"The first requisite of a leader is that the people he leads shall want him to be their leader," Silverman told the court. "Otherwise his leadership is meaningless."

Prendergast was elected to a two-year term June 16, 1960. He normally would have continued in office through this year's primary election, which will be held in September.

The state committee, at a meeting March 1, changed its rules to eliminate the two-year provision.

Special Session Out

Rocky on Reapportionment, Dems Act

NEW YORK (AP) — J. Lee Rankin, Republican lawyer and former U.S. solicitor general, has urged Gov. Rockefeller to "take the leadership" in getting a reapportionment of seats in the New York State Legislature.

Most of the demands for reapportionment have been made by Democrats, who contend that Democratic urban areas are cheated and Republican rural areas gain unfairly under the present apportionment.

Rankin, who sent a telegram to Rockefeller Tuesday asking him to call a special session of the Legislature on reapportionment, has been practicing law here since he left office as solicitor general at the end of the Eisenhower administration. When he was appointed to the post in 1956, he lived in Nenraska.

Rockefeller said at Albany again Tuesday that he would not call a special session to deal with reapportionment. He said he would take no action until a pending federal court case on the issue in New York City is decided.

On the Democratic side, William H. McKeon, state chairman of the party, announced appointment of a special committee representing all parts of the state to study the reapportionment problem.

The committee is headed by Justin N. Feldman, chairman of the New York County (Manhattan) Democratic Law Committee.

McKeon said the committee 'will study and analyze the developing reapportionment situation with a view toward taking whatever action may be necessary as quietly as possible to prevent continued rigging of the Legislature by the Republican majority."

The state's Democratic congressional leaders expressed jubilation in Washington Tuesday over the Supreme Court's decision Monday in the New York federal court case. The high court directed the U.S. District Court in Manhattan to reconsider the suit for reapportionment which it dismissed last January.

The leaders viewed the decision as an indication that they might be successful in their plans to upset last year's reapportionment of congressional districts by the New York Legislature.

Wharton Sends Gift to Lions

Flag Is Banner, Never A Shield, Snyder Says

"As we mark another Flag Day heralding our emblem of 50 stars, we should remember that it is ever a banner and never a shield. An ever elert, patriotic and united citizenry must act as the shield," Frederic Snyder, noted traveler and lecturer, said as he addressed the Kingston Lions Club at its regular luncheon-meeting Tuesday. The club was observing Flag Day.

A flag that flew over the United States Capitol at Washington, D. C., was received from Congressman J. Ernest Wharton by the Lions at the same luncheon. Stephen T. McGrath, president of the Kingston Lions, accepted the flag and announced that it would be displayed first on July 3 at a joint meeting of Rotary and Lions.

Snyder said as he continued his address:

"The observers in old China described our flag as the garden banner. To them the garden was the symbol of prosperity and beauty. As you observe the five pointed stars, you will discover the outline of a man, with his arms outstretched in devotion. In ancient times, this was the posture of prayer. Truly every reverent and thoughful citizen will offer prayers of thanks for the joyous blessings offered by our country.

"God has no favorite flags. Each flag must earn its favor. May Providence ever prompt us to act in cooperation, neighbor with neighbor, state with state, nation with nation. We must powerfully resist the devilish

Philly Entertainer to Talk

Chicago Night Clubs Are In for Spotlight Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers hear today from a Philadelphia entertainer and then put the spotlight on Chicago night clubs.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., is exploring allegations that paid officials of the American Guild of Variety Artists (AGVA) connived in many of the big cities with night club operators.

Subcommittee sources said the Philadelphia performer, Dick Jones, a former AGVA official, fought the alleged exploitation of night club entertainers. A cryptic subcommittee announcement said only that Jones would tell his story from the witness stand.

After hearing Jones the senators will turn their attention to the situation in Chicago, quizzing Ernest Fast, recently deposed Midwest regional director of AGVA; two Chicago police officials; and James Allegretti, whom they describe as a purported silent partner in some Chicago night spots under scrutiny in the hearings.

Penny Singleton, an actress who portrayed "Blondie" in the movies and on radio and television, fired bitter blasts at AGVA Tuesday as the hearings opened. She is a former president of the AFL-CIO-affiliated union.

Miss Singleton aimed squarely at Jackie Bright, the union's administrative secretary and executive officer. Bright told reporters he would deny her accusations point by point when he testifies.

Miss Singleton charged that the union doesn't enforce contracts forbidding employers to require

Explosion Possible From Troops Merger

New Laotian Peace Could Be Prelude to More Woes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Laos has just taken its first step toward peace, but if history means anything this is just the first step toward real trouble.

For more than a year, the United States has urged the three feuding princes—one pro-Western, one neutralist, one pro-Communist—to bury the hatchet and form a coalition government in which all three could share.

Looks Reasonable on Paper

Tuesday they signed an agreement and on paper it looks pleasantly reasonable.

Of the 19 Cabinet posts, 11 go to neutralists, four to members of the present pro-Western royal government, and four to the pro-Communist group. The top job and the three most important Cabinet jobs go to neutralists.

Prince Souvanna Phouma will be premier and defense minister; Pheng Phongsavan will head the Interior Ministry which controls the police; Quinin Pholsena, who has made bitterly anti-American statements, will be foreign minister.

The head of the pro-Communist group, Prince Souphanouvong, will be deputy premier and economics minister. One of the leaders of the pro-Western group, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, who has been criticized by the United States, will also be a deputy premier and minister of finance.

It's unreal to think the pro-Communists will simply serve in the government, always acting like nice boys, without trying to take it over, either suddenly, in an unexpected rush, or gradually.

Seventy-five days from Tuesday's signing all foreign troops are to be withdrawn from Laos. The United States has had about 30 observers there, helping the pro-Western government. It has been estimated about 10,000 men from Communist North Viet Nam are in Laos, supporting the pro-Communist forces there.

After these foreign troops leave, the new Laotian government is supposed to merge into one national army the troops of the present opposing forces: the pro-Communists from the north, the pro-Westerners from the south.

This merger attempt may bring the first explosion, although it's possible the newly created coalition of pro-Communists, neutralists and pro-Westerners will blow up before it really gets started because of old grudges, new ambitions and permanent distrusts.

If all this were not enough cause for trouble, there is still one more, a beaut, lying ahead.

Elections Pose Trouble

Prince Souvanna Phouma said that, after the opposing troops have been integrated, he will hold nationwide elections to "determine the will of the Laotian people."

He had hardly said this when American officials in Laos were reported to have said this has many pitfalls.

In short, new peace in Laos looks like a preliminary to new trouble. And any trouble will be trouble for the United States which now is deeply involved in Southeast Asia and can hardly afford to see any of it slip away, no matter how.

Case of Missing Child Still Agonizing Mystery

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Say you are the parents of four happy children, living in a pleasant home in a quiet neighborhood. Then one morning you awaken and find your 8-year-old daughter is gone from her bedroom.

There is a frantic search. Days, weeks and months pass and there are only false clues and dead ends.

This happened to Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Burr the morning of Aug. 31, 1961. More than nine months later the case of Ann Marie Burr still is an agonizing mystery.

It was cold and rainy that Aug. 31. Mrs. Burr, 33, awakened shortly after 5:30 a.m. She heard their youngest child, Mary, 3, crying. Mary was bothered by a cast put on her arm after an accident. The other children, Greg, 5, and Julie, 7, were asleep in a basement bedroom.

Child Was Gone

When Mrs. Burr looked in Ann Marie's bedroom, it was empty.

The Burrs searched every room and closet in the two-story brick home. Then they called police.

There was ample cause for alarm. The front door, locked and latched with a night chain the evening before, was open. A small living room window, closed the night before, also was open. A bench beneath the window was overturned.

Donald and Beverly Burr live now in a tangled web of confusion, sorrow and apprehension—hoping against mounting odds that their blonde, hazel-eyed daughter may be alive. No ransom ever was asked. No ready explanation is available.

Police Puzzled

Tacoma police are just as puzzled.

More than 1,500 persons were questioned in the first 12 days of the search.

Robert J. Drost, detective captain, has a 500-page file on the Ann Marie case on a rack above his desk.

Missing person bulletins have been sent to every state and to Canada and Mexico. When Ann Marie first disappeared, hundreds of searchers combed the city's wooded areas and vacant lots.

Police made a house-to-house check of the neighborhood. All known child molesters and sex offenders were questioned.

Ann Marie was described as a happy, intelligent child, somewhat shy. She was ready to enter the third grade in a few days.

Her parents, not wealthy, were not a likely mark for a kidnaper. The father is a warehouseman at nearby Camp Murray.

Rewards for return of Ann Marie or arrest and conviction of those responsible for her disappearance now total $5,000.

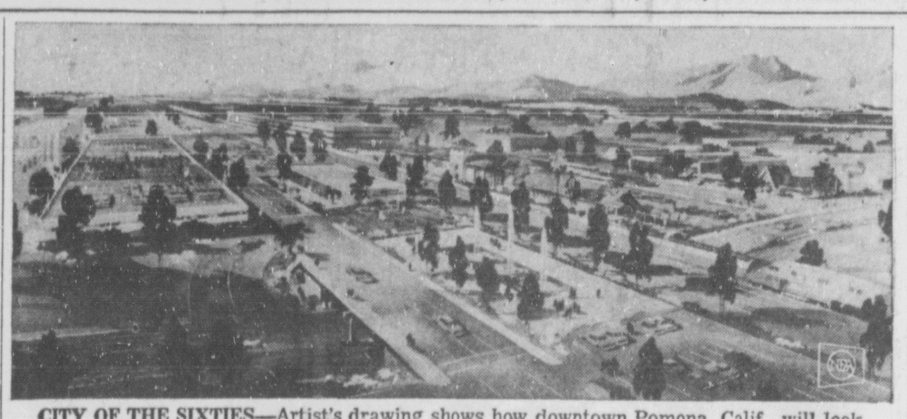
Garfman Promoted

Gerald Garfman, 21, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Smith, Route 1, Lyonsville, Accord, recently was promoted to specialist four in Germany where he is a member of the 97st Signal Battalion. A camera repairman in the battalion's Headquarters Company in Stuttgart, Specialist Garfman entered the Army in August 1959 and was stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J., before arriving overseas in February 1961. He is a 1959 graduate of Kingston High School.



CITY OF THE SIXTIES—Artist's drawing shows how downtown Pomona, Calif., will look at the end of a 10-year urban renaissance program. Main features are a nine-block-long pedestrian mall, transportation terminal and civic center. The Pomona Plan is unique in being financed by private enterprise, without state or federal aid. The city, 30 miles from Los Angeles, has grown from 35,000 in 1950 to 227,000 in 1961 and hasn't stopped.

Y Staff Members Visit Institute

Members of the Kingston YMCA staff attended the YMCA Outdoor Acquatic Institute at Holliday Hills in Pawling last weekend.

Steve Orozco, physical director; L. I. Van Heusen, Youth Secretary; Sandy Simion and Jan Lloyd Van Heusen attended the Institute to be qualified as Y aquatic instructors.

The work covered study of pool mainteance, resuscitation methods including instruction in use of the emerson resuscitators, teaching methods and practice for YMCA. Progressive swim skills through life saving, swim team training methods, swim meets, boat and canoe handling. The institute ended with a three hour examination in the water on life saving skills.

YMCA aquatic instructors from greater New York and the Mid-Hudson area attended the institute.

Explosion Possible From Troops Merger

New Laotian Peace Could Be Prelude to More Woes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Laos has just taken its first step toward peace, but if history means anything this is just the first step toward real trouble.

For more than a year, the United States has urged the three feuding princes—one pro-Western, one neutralist, one pro-Communist—to bury the hatchet and form a coalition government in which all three could share.

Looks Reasonable on Paper

Tuesday they signed an agreement and on paper it looks pleasantly reasonable.

Of the 19 Cabinet posts, 11 go to neutralists, four to members of the present pro-Western royal government, and four to the pro-Communist group. The top job and the three most important Cabinet jobs go to neutralists.

Prince Souvanna Phouma will be premier and defense minister; Pheng Phongsavan will head the Interior Ministry which controls the police; Quinin Pholsena, who has made bitterly anti-American statements, will be foreign minister.

The head of the pro-Communist group, Prince Souphanouvong, will be deputy premier and economics minister. One of the leaders of the pro-Western group, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, who has been criticized by the United States, will also be a deputy premier and minister of finance.

It's unreal to think the pro-Communists will simply serve in the government, always acting like nice boys, without trying to take it over, either suddenly, in an unexpected rush, or gradually.

Seventy-five days from Tuesday's signing all foreign troops are to be withdrawn from Laos. The United States has had about 30 observers there, helping the pro-Western government. It has been estimated about 10,000 men from Communist North Viet Nam are in Laos, supporting the pro-Communist forces there.

After these foreign troops leave, the new Laotian government is supposed to merge into one national army the troops of the present opposing forces: the pro-Communists from the north, the pro-Westerners from the south.

This merger attempt may bring the first explosion, although it's possible the newly created coalition of pro-Communists, neutralists and pro-Westerners will blow up before it really gets started because of old grudges, new ambitions and permanent distrusts.

If all this were not enough cause for trouble, there is still one more, a beaut, lying ahead.

Elections Pose Trouble

Prince Souvanna Phouma said that, after the opposing troops have been integrated, he will hold nationwide elections to "determine the will of the Laotian people."

He had hardly said this when American officials in Laos were reported to have said this has many pitfalls.

In short, new peace in Laos looks like a preliminary to new trouble. And any trouble will be trouble for the United States which now is deeply involved in Southeast Asia and can hardly afford to see any of it slip away, no matter how.

Case of Missing Child Still Agonizing Mystery

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Say you are the parents of four happy children, living in a pleasant home in a quiet neighborhood. Then one morning you awaken and find your 8-year-old daughter is gone from her bedroom.

There is a frantic search. Days, weeks and months pass and there are only false clues and dead ends.

This happened to Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Burr the morning of Aug. 31, 1961. More than nine months later the case of Ann Marie Burr still is an agonizing mystery.

It was cold and rainy that Aug. 31. Mrs. Burr, 33, awakened shortly after 5:30 a.m. She heard their youngest child, Mary, 3, crying. Mary was bothered by a cast put on her arm after an accident. The other children, Greg, 5, and Julie, 7, were asleep in a basement bedroom.

Child Was Gone

When Mrs. Burr looked in Ann Marie's bedroom, it was empty.

The Burrs searched every room and closet in the two-story brick home. Then they called police.

There was ample cause for alarm. The front door, locked and latched with a night chain the evening before, was open. A small living room window, closed the night before, also was open. A bench beneath the window was overturned.

Donald and Beverly Burr live now in a tangled web of confusion, sorrow and apprehension—hoping against mounting odds that their blonde, hazel-eyed daughter may be alive. No ransom ever was asked. No ready explanation is available.

Police Puzzled

Tacoma police are just as puzzled.

More than 1,500 persons were questioned in the first 12 days of the search.

Robert J. Drost, detective captain, has a 500-page file on the Ann Marie case on a rack above his desk.

Missing person bulletins have been sent to every state and to Canada and Mexico. When Ann Marie first disappeared, hundreds of searchers combed the city's wooded areas and vacant lots.

Police made a house-to-house check of the neighborhood. All known child molesters and sex offenders were questioned.

Ann Marie was described as a happy, intelligent child, somewhat shy. She was ready to enter the third grade in a few days.

Her parents, not wealthy, were not a likely mark for a kidnaper. The father is a warehouseman at nearby Camp Murray.

Rewards for return of Ann Marie or arrest and conviction of those responsible for her disappearance now total $5,000.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 13, 1962

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

The cost of public assistance and the new medical aid for the aged program in Ulster County was $1,407,886 in 1961, according to a report by the Citizens Expenditure Survey, a tax research organization. This is a decrease of 1.6 per cent compared with 1960's public assistance bill of $1,430,944 which did not include the new medical program.

The report pointed out that the cost of every man, woman and child in the county was $11.45 a decrease of 4.1 per cent from 1960 per capita cost of $11.94. Based on per capita spending Ulster County ranked 45 among New York's 57 counties and New York City. The average per capita bill for counties outside New York City was $14.19.

The number of public assistance recipients for every 1,000 county residents increased 7.3 per cent between 1960 and 1961, the report said. Last year the number of recipients was 2,206, in 1960 it was 2,056.

On a statewide basis, the cost for public assistance continued to increase last year, as did the number of people receiving assistance, the report said.

The Survey pointed out that public assistance costs (including an estimated $19 million increase for the new medical care program) reached $382.5 million in 1961, a 12.8 per cent increase over 1960 and the number of people who received assistance in an average month increased to 556,247, an 8.5 per cent increase. In 1960, the cost for public assistance was $339.1 million with the average monthly number of recipients 512,691.

There are five public assistance programs in New York: old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, aid to the disabled and home relief. Home relief is paid for by state and local funds while the other programs are supported by a combination of federal, state and local money.

The new program, known as medical assistance for the aged, includes aged persons previously receiving medical assistance under old age assistance, aid to the blind, and locally supported hospital care. Federal and state aided, the program was adopted by Congress in 1960 and put into effect by the State Legislature in New York effective April 1, 1961.

Although public assistance makes up the bulk of welfare spending, it does not represent total welfare spending in New York. There are welfare programs for children in foster homes, hospital care for persons not on relief and other programs. When these programs are considered, it brings total welfare spending in New York to $633.8 million in 1961.

LUNAR LADDER

The national debt is currently nudging $300 billion. Such a figure doesn't mean much, even when translated into graphic terms.

One such calculation has it that if you placed three billion $100 bills end to end they would reach from the dome of the Capitol to the moon, with $33 million to spare.

If there were any undeveloped, uncommitted, nonaligned neutral nations on the moon, they might like that idea just fine.

FRAIL FOUNDATIONS

As we watch the impatient surge of the world's underdeveloped peoples toward independence, we in the United States are impatient too.

We want the newly independent to embrace freedom and self-government as we know it.

Yet we dare not forget that the kind of democracy we cherish is rooted in the decisions of an informed voting populace. Such an electorate simply does not exist in many places now trying—or eager to try—independence.

One proof of this unhappy inadequacy is the illiteracy rate—44 per cent of the world's three billion people. The United Nations reports that 97 of the world's 198 nations and territories have more than 50 per cent illiteracy. Some 20 countries show a fantastic 95 to 99 per cent rate.

Free government is said to derive from the "consent of the governed." To what may the world's un-read millions wisely consent.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE TIMOROUS

The great Robert Burns spoke of our times in these two stanzas:

"Wee, sleekit, cow'rin, tim'rous beaste,
O what a panic's in thy breastie!
Thou need na start awa sae hasty,
Wi' bickering brattle!
I wad be laith to rin and chase thee
Wi' murd'ring pattle!

"Still thou art blest, compared wi' me!
The present only toucheth thee:
But och! I backward cast me e'e
On prospects drear!
An' forward, tho' I canna see,
I guess and fear!"

It is the enormous fear of failure that besets our people. They fear war. They fear the bomb. They fear the fall-out. They fear another Depression. They fear the consequences of history.

When a people develops a fear psychosis, there are always rational and irrational factors in the situation. We have been at war since 1914 and war has eaten away our substance. It is impossible to assess the indirect cost of our wars; the direct cost of close to 100 billion dollars year after year is beyond our capacity to sustain. As a result we have lost our gold reserve and our currency is depreciated. This no one can deny. Despite upwards of $100 billion of aid to friend and foe, we still have more enemies than friends and we have not yet learned that friendship cannot be bought.

In the economic field, wars and government controls have produced a mixed economy. Not only is the government engaged in vast enterprises formerly reserved to the private citizen but the controls set up since 1933 and greatly developed since then, in effect, make the government a partner in all basic enterprises. To this must be added that as the principal customer of many industries, departments of the government set policies, determine prices, enforce labor practices, etc.

This is one side of the coin. The other side is equally important:

We have managed since 1933 to go through these wars and economic downs and ups and downs again, without losing a single civil liberty guaranteed by the Constitution. Many Americans believe that they enjoy more rights than the Constitution provides for. If we stick to the bill of Rights, we have a sure guide as to what we may or may not do. For instance, while I have the right to refer to an imaginary alerter of public opinion as a mouse with the mumps, that being a nondescriptive, live and let live expression, I may not say that he is a thief unless I can prove it in a Court of Law. It is possible to call everyone, whom I dislike, Communist, but if challenged I must prove my point. I have the right to like or dislike people individually or collectively, but I may not take such actions against them as to deprive them of their Constitutional Rights.

When the individual is assured his liberties, he lives in a wholesome country. It is difficult to understand why so many curious movements have suddenly appeared in this country and why they have such large followings. For example, although Dick Nixon won in California, the John Birch Society produced a large vote.

Actually, this country is at this moment in a hopeful state. The Cold War is lessening its ugliness. All the Communist countries are suffering from economic disorders and there is little question but that Khrushchev is finding his operations too costly and he does not know how to bail himself out. We have established strength in Berlin and in Southeast Asia. We have gone through a tough stock market debacle, but we were able to survive its damage. We are overproduced and while prices are formed internationally, costs are determined within the United States.

Things can happen because of the psychological factors of fear. There are those who are genuinely frightened of the President's pronounced policies. There are others who project those policies beyond the President's stated intentions. There are others engaged in a legitimate Republican campaign to defeat the Democrats in 1962. And then there are the professional oppositionists who make a career of being against whatever is until they turn about and are for what is.

But fear does not give a country strength. When things go wrong, we must straighten out the situation and fight on. We do not worship a man as the Germans worshipped Hitler. Nor do we hate a man as the Italians, in the end, hated Mussolini or as Khrushchev hates Stalin.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Here's How to Guard Foods' Top Nutrition Values

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

As a nation, we are the best fed people of all times. Nutritional problems frequently are those of overproduction and overeating.

Nevertheless, during periods of unusaul demand, such as the months of pregnancy and the years of childhood growth, efforts must be made to preserve the nutritional values of products we buy and to reduce spoilage and wastage to a minimum.

To assist the housewife toward this end, thus stretching the dollar to the limit of its purchasing power, the AMA council on food and nutrition has issued a series of useful booklets. Much of the information was originally published in their magazine, "Today's Health."

Here are some of the practical suggestions that should have appeal to the prospective mother and to the housewife who is faced thrice daily with the problem of stoking the furnaces of a brood of rapidly growing youngsters.

Store milk and milk products in refrigerator. Certain B vitamin constituents are destroyed by light..

Store frozen foods in freezer at zero degrees F or less (do not freeze after thawing).

Store canned goods in cool, dry area at about 50 degrees F. (root cellar or back refrigerator). Store opened canned foods, juices and leftovers in refrigerator after covering tightly.

Wrap dark green leafy vegetables, broccoli, asparagus, lettuce, etc. in wet cloth and store in humidifier or coldest part of refrigerator (50 degrees F. or below).

In closed container, place beans, tomatoes, cabbage, peppers, etc., in refrigerator.

Place fruit in refrigerator if possible. Refrigerate berries. (Vitamin C is rapidly lost unless protected.)

To prevent withering, store potatoes, carrots, turnips, parsnips, ettc. in cool, dry place. Vitamin C content is highest in small, new, freshly dug tubers such as potatoes.

In trimming vegetables, remember that less attractive outer leaves contain highest concentrations of vitamins and minerals.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The most widely used directory of Communist-front and left wing groups of fellow travelers in the United States is the "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications." It runs 250 pages and sells for 70 cents. It may be ordered from Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

The list was compiled by House Un-American Activities Committee in 1957. A revised edition was issued Dec. 1, 1961. While it is still a valuable reference work, it is already out of date. Most of the organizations listed no longer exist. New organizations formed since the directory was compiled and active today are not listed.

The revised edition lists 818 organizations and 147 publications. It is admitted that this is not a complete list of all the groups that have functioned since the 1920s. But it list the most important that have operated openly or been exposed.

Listings in the guide include only those groups that have been cited by federal, state and territorial agencies and investigating committees. The citations are given in every case. But the listings are not official findings of government agencies or the courts. So the guide must be used with extreme caution.

ONLY 21 OF THE 818 organizations listed in the guide are known to be active today. The list includes:

American Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born.
American-Russian Institute of Southern California.
American-Russian Institute of San Francisco.
Camp Lakeland - Kinderland (New York State)
Citizens Committee for Constitutional Liberties.
Citizens Committee to Preserve American Freedoms.
Emergency Civil Liberties Committee.
Farm Research Organization.
Fund for Social Analysis.
Labor Research Organization.
Los Angeles Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born.
Methodist Federation for Social Action (Ardsley, N.Y.).
Midwest Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.
National Assembly for Democratic Rights.
National Committee to Abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee.
National Council of American-Soviet Friendship.
National Lawyers Guild.
Northern California Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.
Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade.
Youth to Abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee.
Yiddisher Kultur Farband.

This is admittedly not a complete list since many Communist organizations operate under cover.

Others are "quickie" committees, organized to whip up propaganda on some current issue dear to the Kremlin heart, then disbanded before there can be any investigation of their activities.

THE ACTIVE ORGANIZATIONS listed above are those on which evidence of recent open operations is readily available and known to government officials keeping track on Communist party affairs in America.

The House Committee Guide also lists 167 organizations which have been cited by state or territorial investigative committees as Communist or Communist fronts. Most of these groups were local in their operations. There is no acurate check on how many of them may be active today.

The list of 147 publications cited as Communist or Communist-front by federal authorities has the same shortcomings as the list of organizations.

Most of these publications went broke and are no longer in business. Many were limited to local distribution.

Communist publications intended for national circulation in the United States are of course topped by The Worker—formorly The Daily Worker — now a semiweekly. Principal periodicals are People's World and Political Affairs.

Reds Double-Cross Reds While the U.S. Watches

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The biggest game of double-cross the world has ever witnessed is going on in Southeast Asia. The Soviet Union is double-crossing her ally—Red China. The Red Chinese are double-crossing the Soviets.

Meanwhile, the United States is playing a crafty game of watching and waiting, and thus far seems to have managed to keep the Communists from achieving their main aim. For Red China's true aim is not merely to capture Laos, but to grab all of Southeast Asia. It may take quite a while to do it, but this is the long-range scheme as it is being unfolded step by step.

The Soviet Union's purpose on the other hand, is actually to prevent the Red Chinese from achieving a mastery of the Southeast Asia area, while ostensibly giving them support.

This means that, for the moment, the idea of a unity of factions in Laos — sometimes called a "coalition" government —is acceptable to the Russians and, for exactly opposite reasons, also to the Red Chinese. The Soviets are confident that by their methods of infiltration, they can control the so-called "neutral" government of Laos, while the Red Chinese think they can do the same through their own techniques. But the real objective of Red China is to get hold of South Viet Nam and Thailand, as well as Laos.

The United States has put up a roadblock against the conquest of Laos by sending Marines in substantial numbers to nearby Thailand and a fleet to adjacent waters to show the Communists that America means business and will even intervene in Laos, if it becomes necessary. It was this move, rather than any feeling of forbearance, which caused Red China and the Soviets to let the "coalition" government emerge in Laos.

Whether the recent activities by the United States have effectively stopped the Red Chinese plan to take over Southeast Asia, or merely caused a temporary interruption, cannot be determined at this time. Unquestionably, each side is watching the other, and if there is any sign of faltering on the part of America, developments can come quickly and decisively.

What seems incredible today is the way the peoples of the West have allowed their own propaganda to become so weak and vacillating in the face of the biggest march of imperialism the present century has witnessed. The Soviet Union already has extended her empire far and wide to cover more territory than the czars of Russia ever hoped to conquer. Red China has moved into neighboring areas, too, and has attacked countries across her border. If the Red Chinese weren't restrained by fears of Western military action, they would not hesitate to make a grab for India and Pakistan as well.

Incidentally, the Soviet Union, though claiming to be neutral, has been sending military supplies from North Viet Nam to Laos, and yet criticizes the United States for sending military advisers to Laos.

The Red Chinese, for the time being, are concentrating their strategy on Southeast Asia. But they are not sure where the Soviets may stand if a crisis comes. It is this, rather than ideological differences, which may have caused talk of estrangement in relations between the two big Communist allies.

The True Imperialists

The true imperialists in the world today, therefore, are the Soviets and the Red Chinese. Yet official American propaganda hesitates to recognize this truth and to characterize it plainly in daily broadcasts.

Senator Thurmond of South Carolina, Democrat, recently has called attention to the timidity of American officials in the phrasing of their public statements about the Communists. A Senate subcommittee has done a very good job in exposing the weakness in American propaganda.

Maybe Radio Free Europe will have to carry on the real burden of the propaganda war. It's a private operation, financed largely by individual Americans. Many so-called "neutral" nations are being fooled by the Soviet and Red Chinese imperialists. They have been listening to the Communist cries of "colonialism" while at the same time shutting their eyes to the continued imperialism of the Soviet Union and Red China.

What has really confused the outside world is the way the Communists have operated in Southeast Asia. They have refrained from a strategy of direct invasion and, as President Kennedy describes it in a report to Congress this week, "have turned to the use of internal subversion, infiltration, and guerrilla warfare." Thus, the President points out that there are 200 combat divisions and more than 4,000 jet aircraft, as well as sizable naval forces, poised in the Far East. But these forces can be swung into action in Southeast Asia whenever the Communists feel the time is ripe and they have enough internal support to warrant a takeover and conquest.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I feel a temptation to sentimental extravagance in thinking of John N. Garner. His honesty and his patriotism, not merely to our geographical country but to our beautiful old ideals, are a treasure which few of us comprehend.

Few of us have been able to visit the Kremlin, but I think of it as a mausoleum where the soul of Russia awaits resurrection, a shrine of something impalpable, spiritual and unspeakably potent. We have nothing that may be compared with it. I have felt a similar emotion in St. Peter's and in St. Paul's in London.

It seems ludicrous to hint that I would sense a spiritual vibration in thinking of this frail, very untidy, lonely old man in the little town of Uvalde, Tex., but he personifies virtues we recklessly repudiated with the advent of Roosevelt. Garner was manly. Roosevelt was an ill-mannered mama's-boy. They mutually understood the difference. And Garner might have become our President in 1933 if Giuseppe Zangara, an insane Italian laborer, had not missed Roosevelt at Bayfront Park, Miami.

Vice President Garner was so modest that he failed to establish in the public mind the contrast between a good American and a frivolous, disloyal, avaricious adventurer with a counterfeit "background" of aristocracy.

Bascom Timmons performed a public service with a book published in 1948 called "Garner of Texas; A Personal History." It did not sell very well. The book claque in New York has more praise for dirty things and for the endless "Inside" stories and commercial reiterations of the oft-told, but only half-told, tale of the Third Reich.

But I find comfort in Timmons' life of John Garner, like an old woman fingering her Bible. Garner's son, Tully, walked into his father's office the day after Garner voted for Woodrow Wilson's War and said, "I am to go, Dad." The Old Man said, "Hell, you are going! I would not vote to send other boys to war if I hadn't known I was sending my own. And one more thing. Your mother and I will want to hear from you, but promise me you'll never ask me a favor. I might be in a position to get it and I don't want to be exposed to temptation."

Garner almost fought Roosevelt on recognition of Russia. The country was against recognation, but Roosevelt and his cult wanted recognition.

Garner said: "If this outfit has kept its word to anyone or done anything in good faith, I have not heard about it. My considered judgment is that the United States will gain nothing and lose a lot."

I have known Timmons as a Texas reporter in Washington since my memory runneth not to the contrary, but you may want stouter credentials. In this case, I offer a facsimile letter from Garner himself, written in Uvalde on Sept. 31, 1947.

"Dear Tim," it said, "I think you are an honest, truthful and patriotic American. For 25 years, I have spoken to you in confidence. You have my permission to use any statement I have made to you in any way you see fit."

In 1931, President Hoover called Garner hurriedly from Uvalde. For the first time, Garner travelled by air and when he stepped from the plane in Washington he pulled from his coat pocket a slip of paper which Mrs. Garner had put there. She had written: "The Lord watches over you and keeps you in perfect safety. His Spirit is guiding, protecting and inspiring you in all your ways."

I have read many books by and about the Roosevelts but I never found any similar expression between Franklin and Eleanor. Nothing like it.

Notwithstanding Garner's counsel, Roosevelt "personally" did recognize Russia on Garner's 65th birthday, Nov. 22, 1933. That was our death warrant, but you will find exultation in the morning papers of the next day by men and women who are still influential among us in Washington and New York.

Garner said: "It's all through and the dishes wiped. I hope it turns out better than I think it will. This outfit wants to pull down our Government."

Garner often walked out of Cabinet meetings because Roosevelt prattled "500 words for every one that he listens to." He thought Henry Wallace had "crazy" ideas, but that Henry Morgenthau had none at all and was "the most servile man I have ever seen, and I mean servile, not loyal."

The Garners lived in three rooms in the Washington Hotel, a converted office building, and took most of their meals in the coffee shop. He was richer than Roosevelt, even then, and the Devil's Advocate must note that both his wife and his son were carried on his official payroll until he became Vice President.

But, Timmons writes, "when a radio sponsor offered him $100,000 a year, he said, 'I'm not worth it as John Garner and any value I have attained as Vice President is not for sale.'"

He rode the street cars until he became Speaker of the House. They rarely accepted an invitation to dinner.

He had $100,000 to invest in 1933 and stocks were very low. He knew how he could double or treble the money, but he bought land and Timmons said that in 1948 Garner had made $200,000 or $300,000 thereby.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

The cost of public assistance and the new medical aid for the aged program in Ulster County was $1,407,886 in 1961, according to a report by the Citizens Expenditure Survey, a tax research organization. This is a decrease of 1.6 per cent compared with 1960's public assistance bill of $1,430,944 which did not include the new medical program.

The report pointed out that the cost of every man, woman and child in the county was $11.45 a decrease of 4.1 per cent from 1960 per capita cost of $11.94. Based on per capita spending Ulster County ranked 45 among New York's 57 counties and New York City. The average per capita bill for counties outside New York City was $14.19.

The number of public assistance recipients for every 1,000 county residents increased 7.3 per cent between 1960 and 1961, the report said. Last year the number of recipients was 2,206, in 1960 it was 2,056.

On a statewide basis, the cost for public assistance continued to increase last year, as did the number of people receiving assistance, the report said.

The Survey pointed out that public assistance costs (including an estimated $19 million increase for the new medical care program) reached $382.5 million in 1961, a 12.8 per cent increase over 1960 and the number of people who received assistance in an average month increased to 556,247, an 8.5 per cent increase. In 1960, the cost for public assistance was $339.1 million with the average monthly number of recipients 512,691.

There are five public assistance programs in New York: old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, aid to the disabled and home relief. Home relief is paid for by state and local funds while the other programs are supported by a combination of federal, state and local money.

The new program, known as medical assistance for the aged, includes aged persons previously receiving medical assistance under old age assistance, aid to the blind, and locally supported hospital care. Federal and state aided, the program was adopted by Congress in 1960 and put into effect by the State Legislature in New York effective April 1, 1961.

Although public assistance makes up the bulk of welfare spending, it does not represent total welfare spending in New York. There are welfare programs for children in foster homes, hospital care for persons not on relief and other programs. When these programs are considered, it brings total welfare spending in New York to $633.8 million in 1961.

LUNAR LADDER

The national debt is currently nudging $300 billion. Such a figure doesn't mean much, even when translated into graphic terms.

One such calculation has it that if you placed three billion $100 bills end to end they would reach from the dome of the Capitol to the moon, with $33 million to spare.

If there were any undeveloped, uncommitted, nonaligned neutral nations on the moon, they might like that idea just fine.

FRAIL FOUNDATIONS

As we watch the impatient surge of the world's underdeveloped peoples toward independence, we in the United States are impatient too.

We want the newly independent to embrace freedom and self-government as we know it.

Yet we dare not forget that the kind of democracy we cherish is rooted in the decisions of an informed voting populace. Such an electorate simply does not exist in many places now trying—or eager to try—independence.

One proof of this unhappy inadequacy is the illiteracy rate—44 per cent of the world's three billion people. The United Nations reports that 97 of the world's 198 nations and territories have more than 50 per cent illiteracy. Some 20 countries show a fantastic 95 to 99 per cent rate.

Free government is said to derive from the "consent of the governed." To what may the world's un-read millions wisely consent.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE TIMOROUS

The great Robert Burns spoke of our times in these two stanzas:

"Wee, sleekit, cow'rin, tim'rous beaste,
O what a panic's in thy breastie!
Thou need na start awa sae hasty,
Wi' bickering brattle!
I wad be laith to rin and chase thee
Wi' murd'ring pattle!

"Still thou art blest, compared wi' me!
The present only toucheth thee:
But och! I backward cast me e'e
On prospects drear!
An' forward, tho' I canna see,
I guess and fear!"

It is the enormous fear of failure that besets our people. They fear war. They fear the bomb. They fear the fall-out. They fear another Depression. They fear the consequences of history.

When a people develops a fear psychosis, there are always rational and irrational factors in the situation. We have been at war since 1914 and war has eaten away our substance. It is impossible to assess the indirect cost of our wars; the direct cost of close to 100 billion dollars year after year is beyond our capacity to sustain. As a result we have lost our gold reserve and our currency is depreciated. This no one can deny. Despite upwards of $100 billion of aid to friend and foe, we still have more enemies than friends and we have not yet learned that friendship cannot be bought.

In the economic field, wars and government controls have produced a mixed economy. Not only is the government engaged in vast enterprises formerly reserved to the private citizen but the controls set up since 1933 and greatly developed since then, in effect, make the government a partner in all basic enterprises. To this must be added that as the principal customer of many industries, departments of the government set policies, determine prices, enforce labor practices, etc.

This is one side of the coin. The other side is equally important:

We have managed since 1933 to go through these wars and economic downs and ups and downs again, without losing a single civil liberty guaranteed by the Constitution. Many Americans believe that they enjoy more rights than the Constitution provides for. If we stick to the bill of Rights, we have a sure guide as to what we may or may not do. For instance, while I have the right to refer to an imaginary alerter of public opinion as a mouse with the mumps, that being a nondescriptive, live and let live expression, I may not say that he is a thief unless I can prove it in a Court of Law. It is possible to call everyone, whom I dislike, Communist, but if challenged I must prove my point. I have the right to like or dislike people individually or collectively, but I may not take such actions against them as to deprive them of their Constitutional Rights.

When the individual is assured his liberties, he lives in a wholesome country. It is difficult to understand why so many curious movements have suddenly appeared in this country and why they have such large followings. For example, although Dick Nixon won in California, the John Birch Society produced a large vote.

Actually, this country is at this moment in a hopeful state. The Cold War is lessening its ugliness. All the Communist countries are suffering from economic disorders and there is little question but that Khrushchev is finding his operations too costly and he does not know how to bail himself out. We have established strength in Berlin and in Southeast Asia. We have gone through a tough stock market debacle, but we were able to survive its damage. We are overproduced and while prices are formed internationally, costs are determined within the United States.

Things can happen because of the psychological factors of fear. There are those who are genuinely frightened of the President's pronounced policies. There are others who project those policies beyond the President's stated intentions. There are others engaged in a legitimate Republican campaign to defeat the Democrats in 1962. And then there are the professional oppositionists who make a career of being against whatever is until they turn about and are for what is.

But fear does not give a country strength. When things go wrong, we must straighten out the situation and fight on. We do not worship a man as the Germans worshipped Hitler. Nor do we hate a man as the Italians, in the end, hated Mussolini or as Khrushchev hates Stalin.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Here's How to Guard Foods' Top Nutrition Values

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

As a nation, we are the best fed people of all times. Nutritional problems frequently are those of overproduction and overeating.

Nevertheless, during periods of unusaul demand, such as the months of pregnancy and the years of childhood growth, efforts must be made to preserve the nutritional values of products we buy and to reduce spoilage and wastage to a minimum.

To assist the housewife toward this end, thus stretching the dollar to the limit of its purchasing power, the AMA council on food and nutrition has issued a series of useful booklets. Much of the information was originally published in their magazine, "Today's Health."

Here are some of the practical suggestions that should have appeal to the prospective mother and to the housewife who is faced thrice daily with the problem of stoking the furnaces of a brood of rapidly growing youngsters.

Store milk and milk products in refrigerator. Certain B vitamin constituents are destroyed by light..

Store frozen foods in freezer at zero degrees F or less (do not freeze after thawing).

Store canned goods in cool, dry area at about 50 degrees F. (root cellar or back refrigerator). Store opened canned foods, juices and leftovers in refrigerator after covering tightly.

Wrap dark green leafy vegetables, broccoli, asparagus, lettuce, etc. in wet cloth and store in humidifier or coldest part of refrigerator (50 degrees F. or below).

In closed container, place beans, tomatoes, cabbage, peppers, etc., in refrigerator.

Place fruit in refrigerator if possible. Refrigerate berries. (Vitamin C is rapidly lost unless protected.)

To prevent withering, store potatoes, carrots, turnips, parsnips, ettc. in cool, dry place. Vitamin C content is highest in small, new, freshly dug tubers such as potatoes.

In trimming vegetables, remember that less attractive outer leaves contain highest concentrations of vitamins and minerals.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The most widely used directory of Communist-front and left wing groups of fellow travelers in the United States is the "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications." It runs 250 pages and sells for 70 cents. It may be ordered from Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

The list was compiled by House Un-American Activities Committee in 1957. A revised edition was issued Dec. 1, 1961. While it is still a valuable reference work, it is already out of date. Most of the organizations listed no longer exist. New organizations formed since the directory was compiled and active today are not listed.

The revised edition lists 818 organizations and 147 publications. It is admitted that this is not a complete list of all the groups that have functioned since the 1920s. But it list the most important that have operated openly or been exposed.

Listings in the guide include only those groups that have been cited by federal, state and territorial agencies and investigating committees. The citations are given in every case. But the listings are not official findings of government agencies or the courts. So the guide must be used with extreme caution.

ONLY 21 OF THE 818 organizations listed in the guide are known to be active today. The list includes:

American Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born.
American-Russian Institute of Southern California.
American-Russian Institute of San Francisco.
Camp Lakeland - Kinderland (New York State)
Citizens Committee for Constitutional Liberties.
Citizens Committee to Preserve American Freedoms.
Emergency Civil Liberties Committee.
Farm Research Organization.
Fund for Social Analysis.
Labor Research Organization.
Los Angeles Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born.
Methodist Federation for Social Action (Ardsley, N.Y.).
Midwest Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.
National Assembly for Democratic Rights.
National Council of American-Soviet Friendship.
National Lawyers Guild.
Northern California Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.
Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade.
Youth to Abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee.
Yiddisher Kultur Farband.

This is admittedly not a complete list since many Communist organizations operate under cover.

Others are "quickie" committees, organized to whip up propaganda on some current issue dear to the Kremlin heart, then disbanded before there can be any investigation of their activities.

THE ACTIVE ORGANIZATIONS listed above are those on which evidence of recent open operations is readily available and known to government officials keeping track on Communist party affairs in America.

The House Committee Guide also lists 167 organizations which have been cited by state or territorial investigative committees as Communist or Communist fronts. Most of these groups were local in their operations. There is no acurate check on how many of them may be active today.

The list of 147 publications cited as Communist or Communist-front by federal authorities has the same shortcomings as the list of organizations.

Most of these publications went broke and are no longer in business. Many were limited to local distribution.

Communist publications intended for national circulation in the United States are of course topped by The Worker—formorly The Daily Worker — now a semiweekly. Principal periodicals are People's World and Political Affairs.

Reds Double-Cross Reds While the U.S. Watches

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The biggest game of double-cross the world has ever witnessed is going on in Southeast Asia. The Soviet Union is double-crossing her ally—Red China. The Red Chinese are double-crossing the Soviets.

Meanwhile, the United States is playing a crafty game of watching and waiting, and thus far seems to have managed to keep the Communists from achieving their main aim. For Red China's true aim is not merely to capture Laos, but to grab all of Southeast Asia. It may take quite a while to do it, but this is the long-range scheme as it is being unfolded step by step.

The Soviet Union's purpose on the other hand, is actually to prevent the Red Chinese from achieving a mastery of the Southeast Asia area, while ostensibly giving them support.

This means that, for the moment, the idea of a unity of factions in Laos — sometimes called a "coalition" government —is acceptable to the Russians and, for exactly opposite reasons, also to the Red Chinese. The Soviets are confident that by their methods of infiltration, they can control the so-called "neutral" government of Laos, while the Red Chinese think they can do the same through their own techniques. But the real objective of Red China is to get hold of South Viet Nam and Thailand, as well as Laos.

The United States has put up a roadblock against the conquest of Laos by sending Marines in substantial numbers to nearby Thailand and a fleet to adjacent waters to show the Communists that America means business and will even intervene in Laos, if it becomes necessary. It was this move, rather than any feeling of forbearance, which caused Red China and the Soviets to let the "coalition" government emerge in Laos.

Whether the recent activities by the United States have effectively stopped the Red Chinese plan to take over Southeast Asia, or merely caused a temporary interruption, cannot be determined at this time. Unquestionably, each side is watching the other, and if there is any sign of faltering on the part of America, developments can come quickly and decisively.

What seems incredible today is the way the peoples of the West have allowed their own propaganda to become so weak and vacillating in the face of the biggest march of imperialism the present century has witnessed. The Soviet Union already has extended her empire far and wide to cover more territory than the czars of Russia ever hoped to conquer. Red China has moved into neighboring areas, too, and has attacked countries across her border. If the Red Chinese weren't restrained by fears of Western military action, they would not hesitate to make a grab for India and Pakistan as well.

Incidentally, the Soviet Union, though claiming to be neutral, has been sending military supplies from North Viet Nam to Laos, and yet criticizes the United States for sending military advisers to Laos.

The Red Chinese, for the time being, are concentrating their strategy on Southeast Asia. But they are not sure where the Soviets may stand if a crisis comes. It is this, rather than ideological differences, which may have caused talk of estrangement in relations between the two big Communist allies.

Dog Training Group Hears AKC Speaker

The fifth annual dinner of the Ulster Dog Training Club held Saturday evening at the Skytop Restaurant was largely attended by members and guests. Dinner chairman, Mary McDonald, was assisted by Eileen Savage.

Guest speaker, Raymond Peat of Springfield, Mass., American Kennel Club licensed obedience judge, was well received. Highlights of his speech were the application and technicalities of AKC obedience rules applying to exhibitors and their dogs. Peat also pointed out that AKC has no stipulation in the rule book that would apply to the handicapped person exhibiting in an AKC point show. He has judged a class where a man exhibited a dog in the novice ring from a wheelchair and won first place in that particular class and went on to gain a Companion Dog Degree in three consecutive shows. Peat has trained and handled several of his own dogs to the highest American and Canadian obedience degrees, and also owns the only living Dachshund with an AKC Utility Dog Tracking Degree.

Donald Savage, club president, presented a gift to Mary McDonald, activities chairman, on behalf of club members in recognition of her dedicated labors for the club. Mr. Savage also presented a trophy to Kathryn Seitz, director of training for having the first obedience trained German Shepherd in the Kingston area. Policemen Break Down Door, Find 111 Dogs, 60 Cats

BOSTON (AP)—Cats, and cats, and cats. Dogs, and dogs, and dogs.

That's what police found in a Hyde Park dwelling when they broke down the door after neighbors complained of offensive odors.

On the ground floor, the officers counted 111 dogs of all sizes, shapes and breeds.

Upstairs, there were some 60 cats, black, calico, large, small—all kinds.

Animal rescue league crews removed the menagerie and police took a 63-year-old widow to Boston State Hospital for mental observation.

Police said the animals were well fed but the house wasn't fit for a dog or cat to live in.

Kennedy Honored

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy received an honorary doctor of laws degree from Manhattan College.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, presided at commencement exercises for 614 graduates at the Roman Catholic institution in the Bronx.

Kingston Area Woman Elected State CP Officer

A Kingston area woman was recently elected corresponding secretary of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of New York State.

Mrs. Martin Oberkirch Jr., Port Ewen, was elected to that office during the association's business session of the 16th annual conference at the Hotel Thayer in West Point.

Holds Post Here

Mrs. Oberkirch is vice president of the Ulster County Palsy Association, campaign chairman in the Town of Esopus and president of the parent group for three years.

Other officers elected at the conference were: Karl D. Warner, Rochester, president; Mrs. Anna Snead Dean, Rock Tavern, executive vice president; Elmer Lux, Buffalo, vice president-functional; Dr. Frances P. Connor, New York City, vice president-program services; Mrs. Martin Eaton, Brooklyn, vice president-affiliation; Gerald Fitzgerald, Albany, vice president-campaign; Harry Fischer, Lido Beach, vice president for metropolitan area district; Walter Douglas, Amsterdam, vice president for capital District; Mrs. Max Furman, Trumansburg, vice president for East Central District; Mrs. Louis C. Preston Jr., Painted Post, vice president for the West Central District; Benjamin Gold, Niagara Falls, vice president for the Western New York District; Benjamin Pakula, Rockland County, vice president for the Hudson Valley District; Harry Gosling, Utica, treasurer, and Mrs. Arthur Schwartz, Valley Stream, recording secretary.

Installed Saturday

The newly elected officers were installed by Assemblyman Daniel Becker of Newburgh at the Saturday evening dinner which concluded the two-day conference. Lieutenant Governor Malcolm A. Wilson was guest of honor at the dinner and addressed the delegates.

The United Cerebral Palsy Association of New York State is a voluntary agency composed of 24 local affiliated associations. The local associations conduct treatment centers and clinics that care for children and adults affiliated with cerebral palsy.

Court of Appeals Upholds Decision

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—It's not that carpet beetles are not vermin, it's just that they ain't necessarily so.

That more or less was the finding Tuesday of the State Court of Appeals, which upheld a lower-court award of $2,000 to Jacob Sincoff of Manhattan.

Sincoff had claimed $7,810 from the Liberty Mutual Fire Insurance Co. for the damage carpet beetles had done to his household furnishings.

The insurance company said the policy specifically excluded damage caused by "vermin."

The high court said that vermin was ambiguous and that a vague exclusion in the policy did not prevent payment of loss.

Dog Training Group Hears AKC Speaker

The fifth annual dinner of the Ulster Dog Training Club held Saturday evening at the Skytop Restaurant was largely attended by members and guests. Dinner chairman, Mary McDonald, was assisted by Eileen Savage.

Guest speaker, Raymond Peat of Springfield, Mass., American Kennel Club licensed obedience judge, was well received. Highlights of his speech were the application and technicalities of AKC obedience rules applying to exhibitors and their dogs. Peat also pointed out that AKC has no stipulation in the rule book that would apply to the handicapped person exhibiting in an AKC point show. He has judged a class where a man exhibited a dog in the novice ring from a wheelchair and won first place in that particular class and went on to gain a Companion Dog Degree in three consecutive shows. Peat has trained and handled several of his own dogs to the highest American and Canadian obedience degrees, and also owns the only living Dachshund with an AKC Utility Dog Tracking Degree.

Donald Savage, club president, presented a gift to Mary McDonald, activities chairman, on behalf of club members in recognition of her dedicated labors for the club. Mr. Savage also presented a trophy to Kathryn Seitz, director of training for having the first obedience trained German Shepherd in the Kingston area. Helen Rogaski, outgoing treasurer, official photographer and assistant trainer of the beginners class was presented the Dog World Magazine's award for her outstanding services to dogs.

Mrs. Seitz presented special awards to club members who have won obedience degrees with their dogs over the past year. They are:

Donald Savage with his poodle, Gerri, an American and Canadian CDX, (Companion Dog Excellent;) Katherine Stoutenberg with her German Shepherd, Erich, a Companion Dog Degree and in addition winning the Dog World Magazine's Award "Dog of Distinction" for achieving a CD degree in three consecutive AKC shows with scores of 195 or better out of a possible perfect score of 200; Walter Wustrau with his German Shepherd, Dutchess; Margaret Sculenberg with her Boston Terrier, Daisey; Ruth Sherman with her Standard Poodle, Jasmine; and Ruth Van Kleeck with her German Shepherd, Dutchess, all winning a CD degree.

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Norman King had a flourishing business—until he won a contract to paint a whiskey distillery.

"That was the beginning of my downfall," he told a bankruptcy court in Inverness.

"Instead of working on the job my men were lying around drunk or playing football."

Master-painter King said he lost 400 pounds ($1,120) on the distillery contract and that put his business on the decline. He went broke with debts of 1,166 pounds ($3,265) against assets of 964 pounds ($2,292).

Rocky Proposes Kennedy Act in Milk Marketing

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller wants President Kennedy to take "prompt action" to maintain orderly marketing in the New York-New Jersey milkshed, in view of a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision.

Rockefeller said Tuesday he had sent a telegram to Kennedy urging him "to initiate such legislative or administrative steps as are necessary..."

The governor did not spell out any proposals.

The Supreme Court outlawed the payments that producers outside the milkshed had been required to make when they shipped milk into the milkshed's market. The payments were designed to prevent the outside dairymen from gaining a competitive advantage over those within the milkshed.

In his telegram, Rockefeller said "prompt action is imperative to preserve the dairy industry, which constitutes an important segment of New York State's economy and the incomes of many farmers of this state."

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey telegraphed Orville L. Freeman, secretary of agriculture, suggesting creation of a special farmers committee to work out a method of keeping the market orderly.

Hughes said he acted after receiving the approval of Rockefeller, Don Wickham, New York State Agriculture Commissioner, and Charles J. Blanford, federal administrator of the New York-New Jersey market.

South Carolina Governor Loses Nomination 2-1

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Olin D. Johnston handed young South Carolina Gov. Ernest F. Hollings a shattering political defeat Tuesday, winning their battle for Senate nomination by a landslide margin of nearly 2-1.

With 1,469 of the state's 1,604 precincts reporting, Johnston had 175,073 votes to 89,487 for Hollings.

Johnston will face Republican W. D. Workman Jr., Columbia newspaper columnist, in the November general elections.

Donald Russell, 55, Spartanburg attorney and former president of the University of South Carolina, ran away from Lt. Gov. Burnet R. Maybank and three others to win the Democratic nomination for governor. The nomination is tatamount to election since the Republicans have no candidate in the November election.

Russell polled 162,801 votes in returns from 1,482 precincts. His four opponents drew a total of 106,868 votes with runner-up Maybank getting 85,514.

The primary contest was the first political test for the 65-year-old Johnston in 12 years.

In congressional races, two incumbents, 6th District Rep. John L. McMillan and 4th District Rep. Robert T. Ashmore won renomination over opposition.

Deaths

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Edward C. Krauss, 78, editorial writer for the Los Angeles Times for 30 years before he retired in 1957, died Tuesday of a heart attack. Krauss joined the Times in 1933 after working for the Toledo (Ohio) Blade and the old New York Herald. He was born in Ottawa, Ohio.

NEW YORK (AP) — Evelyn Preston Baldwin, 64, a onetime organizer for the United Mine Workers and wife of Roger N. Baldwin, founder of the American Civil Liberties Union, died Tuesday. Mrs. Baldwin, who was born in Colorado Springs, Colo., at one time had worked for the British Labor party.

Reporters Vary On Berlin-Views Of East, West

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP)—A Russian newspaperman says West Berlin is being used "as a tool to undermine the East German Republic," but a West German reporter says the divided city is not a threat to Russia.

The disagreement came Tuesday night in a panel discussion opening the third biennial "Operation Crackerbarrel," a civic project for foreign newspapermen.

"The west is tempting the people of the East to leave, and this is dangerous," Gennadi Shiskin of Tass said during the panel talks.

West German newsman Kurt T. Grossman of the Neuer Verwaertz, said that West Berlin was not a threat to Russia, "contrary to Russian belief."

All Berliners want, he said, "is to live in peace."

Easwar Sagar of the Hindu Madras, India, and George Enninful of the Ghana News Agency, Ghana, also took part in the discussion.

Sagar said that once all nations recognize that there are two separate Germanys, the solutions to the entire German picture may be arranged. Enninful said he felt the Germans should decide their own fate in the situation.

A total of 13 foreign newsmen who currently are assigned to cover the United Nations in New York City, are attending the two-day affair designed to give them a closer look at a small American city in action. They are being lodged with local families.

All Work, Boys

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP)—It will have to be strictly business at summer seminars of the American Management Association this year. The lake where some of the nation's business leaders were y[illegible] to splash is dry.

Most of Lake Moraine emptied i[illegible] Chenango River in April when an outlet valve broke. The valve has been repaired but the State Public Works Department says the water level must rise 15 to 20 feet before a cofferdam at an end of the lake can be opened.

The rainfall this summer will not be enough to accomplish this, the department said.

Ways and Means Chairman Poses Tax Cut Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee says he does not support proposals for an across the board tax cut.

The statement Tuesday by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., posed n immediate threat to President Kennedy's announced intention of seeking a tax cut from Congress early next year.

In another development, Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., said today he is considering trying to write a general tax cut this year into the Kennedy administration's tax revision bill now before the Senate Finance Committee.

Mills, who heads the committee that handles all tax legislation in the House, said while testifying before another House committee, "You have not heard me advocating tax reduction this year or next year.

"I have not committed myself to that course of action. I have not said I would be for a reduction in our total revenues while we are spending more than we are taking in."

Kennedy has proposed a tax cut next year as a means of stimulating the economy and reducing unemployment.

Mills told the committee that he favors a broad scale revision of tax laws which the administration is expected to propose as a companion measure with the tax cut. But he made it plain he won't support a measure that might throw the budget for the next fiscal year out of balance, adding to the national debt.

British Composer Dies

LONDON (AP) — Sir Eugene Goossens, 69, British conductor and composer, died today in a Middlesex hospital after a brief illness.

He conducted the Rochester (N.Y.) Philharmonic from 1923 to 1931 and the Cincinnati Symphony from 1931 to 1947. He also had made guest appearances with most other major American orchestras, including the New York Philharmonic and the Philadelphia, Boston and San Francisco symphonies.

Goossens became ill while vacationing in Switzerland. He was flown to London and taken to the hospital Tuesday night.

Reporters Vary On Berlin-Views Of East, West

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP)—A Russian newspaperman says West Berlin is being used "as a tool to undermine the East German Republic," but a West German reporter says the divided city is not a threat to Russia.

The disagreement came Tuesday night in a panel discussion opening the third biennial "Operation Crackerbarrel," a civic project for foreign newspapermen.

"The west is tempting the people of the East to leave, and this is dangerous," Gennadi Shiskin of Tass said during the panel talks.

West German newsman Kurt T. Grossman of the Neuer Verwaertz, said that West Berlin was not a threat to Russia, "contrary to Russian belief."

All Berliners want, he said, "is to live in peace."

Easwar Sagar of the Hindu Madras, India, and George Enninful of the Ghana News Agency, Ghana, also took part in the discussion.

Sagar said that once all nations recognize that there are two separate Germanys, the solutions to the entire German picture may be arranged. Enninful said he felt the Germans should decide their own fate in the situation.

A total of 13 foreign newsmen who currently are assigned to cover the United Nations in New York City, are attending the two-day affair designed to give them a closer look at a small American city in action. They are being lodged with local families.

All Work, Boys

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP)—It will have to be strictly business at summer seminars of the American Management Association this year. The lake where some of the nation's business leaders were [illegible] is dry.

Most of Lake Moraine emptied [illegible] Chenango River in April when an outlet valve broke. The valve has been repaired but the State Public Works Department says the water level must rise 15 to 20 feet before a cofferdam at an end of the lake can be opened.

The rainfall this summer will not be enough to accomplish this, the department said.

Ways and Means Chairman Poses Tax Cut Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee says he does not support proposals for an across the board tax cut.

The statement Tuesday by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., posed n immediate threat to President Kennedy's announced intention of seeking a tax cut from Congress early next year.

In another development, Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., said today he is considering trying to write a general tax cut this year into the Kennedy administration's tax revision bill now before the Senate Finance Committee.

Mills, who heads the committee that handles all tax legislation in the House, said while testifying before another House committee, "You have not heard me advocating tax reduction this year or next year.

"I have not committed myself to that course of action. I have not said I would be for a reduction in our total revenues while we are spending more than we are taking in."

Kennedy has proposed a tax cut next year as a means of stimulating the economy and reducing unemployment.

Mills told the committee that he favors a broad scale revision of tax laws which the administration is expected to propose as a companion measure with the tax cut. But he made it plain he won't support a measure that might throw the budget for the next fiscal year out of balance, adding to the national debt.

British Composer Dies

LONDON (AP) — Sir Eugene Goossens, 69, British conductor and composer, died today in a Middlesex hospital after a brief illness.

He conducted the Rochester (N.Y.) Philharmonic from 1923 to 1931 and the Cincinnati Symphony from 1931 to 1947. He also had made guest appearances with most other major American orchestras, including the New York Philharmonic and the Philadelphia, Boston and San Francisco symphonies.

Goossens became ill while vacationing in Switzerland. He was flown to London and taken to the hospital Tuesday night.

Defends $1,953,000 Take

Quits Firm After Admitting 'Unauthorized' Withdrawals

NEW YORK (AP) — The E.L. Bruce Co., manufacturer of hardwood flooring, has announced that Edward M. Gilbert resigned as president and director after admitting "unauthorized withdrawals from the corporation in the amount of $1,953,000."

E. L. Bruce Jr., chairman of the company, said Gilbert had disclosed the withdrawals to the directors at a meeting Tuesday.

Bruce said they had taken place from May 28 to June 6. May 28 was the Monday on which the stock market experienced its worst decline since 1929.

In a statement issued later, Gilbert defended his actions and said he had made the disclosures voluntarily.

"The actions I have taken were directed to the protection of an acquisition program on behalf of the corporation, and in my judgment were in the best interests of the corporation and its stockholders," Gilbert said.

"I adhere to that judgment, confident in the belief that it was and is correct," he added.

Gilbert, 38, said he had resigned "to permit the board to have a free hand to take such action with respect to those matters as it deemed advisable."

Bruce's statement said the company had retained special counsel to submit the facts of the case to the Securities and Exchange Commission and the American Stock Exchange, where the company's stock is traded.

Bruce said the company is covered by a surety bond of $750,000. He added that the company's prospects are bright and that sales are 30 per cent higher than last year.

Bruce was the most active stock on the exchange Tuesday, dropping 3¼ points to the year's low of 15⅜ on volume of 39,000 shares. Its high for the year was 37⅝.

The company's 1961 sales totaled $42 million.

Gilbert became president of the Bruce company last September upon its merger with Empire National Corp., of which he was an officer.

The company has its headquarters in New York and plants in Memphis and Nashville, Tenn.; Little Rock, Ark.; Bruce, Laurel and Columbus, Miss.; Cairo, Ill.; Vredenburg, Ala., and Center, Tex.

Bids State Only Sell Liquor to Own Under 21ers

SUFFERN, N.Y. (AP) — New Jersey and Connecticut pleas for a boost in New York State's legal age to buy intoxicants ran into local opposition at a public hearing here.

The neighboring states want New York to raise its legal drinking age from 18 to 21 to conform with their own.

12 Oppose Changes

There was no Connecticut spokesman among the 21 persons who testified at the hearing, one in a series of five being held by the Joint Legislative Committee for the Study of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law.

Of the 21 who testified, 12 opposed any change in the law, seven favored raising the age and two were neutral.

One man — Rockland County Dist. Atty. Morton Silberman — proposed that no change be made in the law but that sales of intoxicants to persons under 21 be restricted to New York residents and that they be required to carry identification cards.

Both New Jersey and Connecticut have contended that their teen-agers come to New York for alcoholic beverages, creating law enforcement problems and causing traffic accidents.

Frank J. Cuccio, assistant prosecutor for Bergen County, N.J., told the hearing that "since September 1961 there have been in Bergen County nine deaths of teen-agers, in which drinking in New York State was involved."

For Uniform Law

"If a uniform law would save one life, it's worth it," he said.

Mayor James P. Rice of Suffern said New Jersey newspapers had created 'a false impression" about the situation.

"From reading the reports you would think that youngsters driving here from New Jersey to buy liquor had made Suffern a sin city," he said.

Suffern is only a few miles from the New Jersey border.

Rice said his visits to local taverns made in his capacity as police commissioner revealed nothing more than "young people enjoying pizza and a few beers."

Lt. Eugene Olaff of the New Jersey State Police said a survey in early April found 3,205 teen-agers returning to New Jersey from New York. Of these, he said, 1,743 admitted they had been drinking.

In response to a question, he said that none was under the influence of alcohol to the point that an arrest could be made.

Peace Move May Not Last

Clause on Unanimous Agreement May Ruin Pact by Three on Laos

TOKYO (AP)—To the optimist, agreement to establish a neutral coalition government in Laos paves the way for unity and peace in that tiny jungle kingdom.

The leaders of the three rival factions finally got together. They decided on a government headed by neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and a Cabinet ostensibly dominated by his middle-of-the road faction.

Pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong and right-winger Gen. Phoumi Nosavan agreed to become deputy premiers, on an equal footing.

Looks Like Obstacle

But the troika clause the three leaders wrote into their pact promises to become a formidable obstacle to smooth operation of the Laotian government. The trio must agree unanimously on all decisions affecting the key ministries of defense, interior—controlling the police—and foreign affairs.

Statements after the agreement was reached indicate this will take some doing.

Tough, stubborn Gen. Phoumi gave in and agreed to the coalition only after extreme pressure from the United States.

Not Friendly

Souphanouvong's statement consisted mainly of an attack on the United States.

Phoumi is almost certain to tangle with Foreign Minister Quinim Pholsena and Interior Minister Pheng Phongsavan, close associates of Souvanna, who himself took the defense ministry.

Phoumi, the strongman in Prince Boun Oum's Vientiane government, during previous negotiations insisted on retaining the key defense and interior posts. He said he surrendered because it was the "only solution." That doesn't mean he likes the arrangement.

Held for Truck Theft

Accused of the theft of a truck from an Ellenville parking lot, Donroy Nelson, 30, of New York City, was apprehended today by State police at Bridgeville, Sullivan County, and turned over to Ellenville police for prosecution. Police Chief Abe Rand said Nelson was accused of taking the truck owned by Howard-Michael Corp., Ellenville, from a parking lot at 95 Center Street, that village. Chief Rand said the truck was reported missing at 4 a. m. and teletype alarms were sent out. Police notified area troopers and later State police arrested Nelson at Bridgeville. Nelson will be arraigned before Police Justice Frank Decker, Ellenville, on a first degree grand larceny charge involving automobile theft.

Nominate Lewis For NY Chamber, Voting in Fall

Howard A. Lewis of 12 West Chestnut Street, a director of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, was nominated for the board of directors of the Empire State Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night.

The action was taken at the regular directors' meeting of the local Chamber in the Governor Clinton Hotel at which president Sam Pepper presided.

Lewis served as a director of the State Chamber for the past two years and consented to be nominated to succeed himself. The voting on nominations will be on a state-wide basis and takes place this fall.

Record on Roll

A record number of over 300 paid-up memberships, mostly renewals, were reported for the fiscal year which started May 1. It was also decided to publish a classified membership directory as a direct membership service during the summer.

President Pepper reported that the prompt payment of membership dues will also be enforced in line with the by-laws as amended recently. On July 1 memberships not paid will be considered delinquent, 60 days after the due date of May 1. Only memberships paid up by August 1 will be included in the classified directory.

In making this announcement President Pepper said it is important that the total amount of funds available for the fiscal year, which started May 1, be known by July 1 to enable the executive committee to budget available funds to industrial promotion and other committee activities. "We now have the funds to cover basic overhead expenses," Pepper said, "and all additional receipts will be alloted to promotional activities."

The Chamber directors also authorized the appointment of six persons to represent the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce on the board of directors of the Miss New York State Pageant. This action is a direct endorsement of the State Pageant as a local project and will help make it a permanent annual event as long as it is adequately supported.

Chamber Manager Albert Kurdt was also authorized to attend the annual meeting of the New York Chamber of Commerce Executives at Big Moose, June 24-27. Kurdt will complete his one-year term as president of the organization at this meeting.

It was also decided to cancel the regular meetings of the board of directors for July and August. Normal functions will be carried on by the executive committee, however, special meetings will be called if the demand warrants.

Schick Is Speaker For Ulster Kiwanis

At one of the best attended meetings of this season John Schick, local attorney, spoke to membership of Ulster Kiwanis.

A delegation from the Kingston Club was on hand to hear a talk on the subject of wills.

Coast Hunt . . .

At 9:30 and thereafter every hour on the hour during periodic checks, nothing was found amiss.

Then at 7:15 in the morning, at the regular showup, the three didn't get up. Guards prodded what appeared to be their sleeping forms and found dummies—"very realistic, plaster, paint and hair heads and pillow bodies."

Digging for Weeks

It was found that the trio, apparently for weeks, had been digging at plaster and cement four inches thick with bits of spoons. Their painstaking effort loosened a metal cover leading to a ventilation shaft through each cell wall.

The 8-by-12 inch openings connected the cells with a service shaft a yard wide.

From there it was 30 feet up a pipe to an air conditioner. This was dismantled, steel bars somehow torn aside and access gained to the mess hall roof.

A 50-foot-long drain pipe led to the ground, about 100 yards from the water on the San Francisco side of the island.

From this point, Warden Blackwell said, it was anybody's guess what the three desperate men did.

If they struck out for San Francisco, they had a mile and a quarter to swim or drift, with cold currents against them. On the northern side of the island it was 1¾ miles to Angel Island State Park. From there it was another 1¾ miles to the Marin County shore. To the east from Alcatraz lay the Navy's Treasure Island two miles away.

Farm Worker Given 15 Days for Assault

A 20-year-old Newburgh farm worker was sentenced Tuesday to 15 days in the Ulster County jail after pleading guilty before Town of Lloyd Justice of the Peace Philip W. Schunk to a reduced charge of assault third degree.

James Burks, of 2 Hudson Street, Newburgh, was arrested June 2 on a second degree assault charge, but was permitted to plead to the lesser charge. He was accused of cutting Samuel Whitted, 24, of Marlboro, on the night of June 1 during a fight on a Marlboro farm.

Whitted was taken to Vassar hospital where eight sutures were taken in a cut on his left leg.

Ties With Estes No More Than Customer, Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maynard C. Wheeler, president of Commercial Solvents Corp., said today his company's relationship with Billie Sol Estes "was that of customer and supplier—and no more."

Testifying before a House Government Operations subcommittee investigating the Estes case, Wheeler took issue with testimony given by Frank Cain, a finance company lawyer, before a Texas court in inquiry.

False and Defamatory

"Most of Cain's testimony is false and defamatory," Wheeler said.

Cain, a Dallas lawyer representing Pacific Finance Co., had testified that Estes had told him, "They want to put me into business in Brazil." He said Estes was referring to Commercial Solvents Corp.

The chemical firm which Wheeler heads had financed Estes' dealings in anhydrous ammonia—a part of a many-sided business enterprise that collapsed when Estes was indicted for fraud last April. To secure his borrowings, Estes signed over to Commercial Solvents the payments he was to receive from the government for surplus grain storage.

Denies Brazil Talk

Wheeler denied that he had said anything about establishing a business for Estes in Brazil, or had offered to help him with secret deposits in a Swiss bank.

Explaining how Commercial Solvents persuaded Estes to sign over payments for surplus grain storage, Wheeler said:

"The customer wanted credit and CSC obtained from Estes indicates how prudent the corporation was in demanding security as a condition of continuing business relations."

In addition to his huge dealings in surplus grain storage and cotton allotment transfers, Estes built up a flimsy pyramid in the liquid fertilizer business, trying to corner the market in West Texas by cutting prices below cost.

The fertilizer was anhydrous ammonia, use of which has become a way of life for farmers in sausage-shaped 1,000-gallon tanks, mounted on wheels for easy movement.

$7 Million Not Enough

Estes bought his fertilizer from Commercial Solvents, assigning the proceeds from his government grain storage contracts as payment. The New York firm got more than $7 million in these government payments, but it was not enough to square the account.

The bankrupt Estes still owes Commercial Solvents $5.7 million.

To get operating cash, Estes worked out a scheme of discounting mortgages on the fertilizer tanks, but most of the tanks did not exist. This led to his indictment on fraud charges.

Commercial Solvents was named in a civil antitrust suit filed against Estes by the state of Texas, on the ground that its extension of millions of dollars in credit to Estes enabled him to run competitors out of business and corner the market by selling below cost.

One of the oddest byproducts of the Estes case came into the news again Tuesday.

It was disclosed that Mark K. Jones, 51-year-old agriculture department secretary, has asked Secretary Orville L. Freeman to clear her name and pay her restitution.

Miss Jones was hauled out of the department building and placed in a mental ward for observation for 12 days after she got into a squabble with department employes who were guarding a room where some files on Estes were stored.

Her only connection with the Estes case was that she worked for N. Battle Hales, a longtime department employe who publicly accused his superiors of showing favoritism to Estes.

Hales was shifted to another job and barred access to his old office, where the files were. Miss Jones ran into her trouble when she tried to get into Hales' old office to get a routine paper signed.

Safe Is Stolen

Authorities throughout the area today were looking for a safe, stolen sometime during the night from the office of A. and R. Motors, Route 209, a half mile east of Ellenville. State Police Investigator Charles Teelon said the building was entered by prying a rear door. The cash register was pried open and rifled of between $35 and $40. The safe, which contained office papers and records, was taken by the intruders. A small amount of cash was also in the safe, authorities said.

St. Remy Voters Favor $5,000 For Fire Items

A $5,000 appropriation for the purchase of emergency equipment and sirens was approved by the voters of the St. Remy Fire District Tuesday night at the St. Remy and Union Center polls.

With 231 persons voting, the bond issue was granted by a vote of 184-43. Of those persons voting, four votes were voided.

"Due to the wonderful and tireless efforts of the St. Remy firemen, this turnout was possible," a spokesman for the fire district said.

Henry Dowers, representing the St. Remy fire commissioners, said he thanked all the voters for their support of the bond issue.

Actions Continue In Supreme Court

Two negligence and nuisance actions were being continued in Supreme Court today before Justice William Deckelman and a jury. The actions are brought by Isadore Levine and another against the County of Ulster. It is alleged the county maintained the Cape Road, Town of Wawarsing, in an improper manner back in 1958 in the vicinity of the former Festival Grounds. Involved is maintenance of certain culverts in the area.

It is alleged this improper maintenance of the highway caused plaintiff's damage. They operate a scrap yard on Cape Road.

Two Women Are Sought for Try At Swindle Game

Mrs. Clara Kipp, of 365 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, told authorities Monday, she was shopping in S. S. Kresge's store in that city, when a woman said she had just found a package with $12,000.

The unidentified woman told Mrs. Kipp, police said, she would share the $12,000 if she would put up some "good faith" money. A second woman approached and offered to put up some money if she would be allowed to share in the $12,000.

Martin said the two women remained with Mrs. Kipp about two hours trying to persuade her to put up "good faith" money, but Mrs. Kipp declined.

The two women left and police were notified.

Detective Sergeant James Murphy and Detectives Jack Benton and Edward McLaughlin investigated.

Paltz Native, Wife Die Together; Both Despondent

Word has been received here of the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Deyo Schoonmaker, both 74, of Springfield, N. J., on June 11.

According to reports from Springfield, the elderly couple died in a double suicide. They had both been despondent and in failing health, it was reported.

Mr. Schoonmaker, a descendant of early Huguenot settlers, was born in New Paltz, the son of Edmund and Catherine J. S. Deyo Schoonmaker. He graduated from New Paltz Normal School in the class of 1908. His early teaching position was at the Scranton, Pa., Oral School where he met his wife, the former Nellie Rothermel Brunner of Lebanon, Pa.

Mr. Schoonmaker also taught at Hyde Park, Dutchess County; Asbury Park, Union and Springfield, N. J. In later years he engaged in truck farming and the greenhouse business from which he retired a few years ago.

Burial in New Paltz

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Peterson of Springfield, N. J.; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Also surviving are Mr. Schoonmaker's sister, Mrs. Mildred Trautwein of New Paltz and Mrs. Schoonmaker's brother, George Reilly Brunner of Long Island.

Funeral services will be held Thursday 8 p. m. at the Smith and Smith Funeral Home, 415 Morris Avenue, Springfield, N. J. Burial will take place Friday 1 p. m. at the Lloyd Cemetery, Old New Paltz Road, Town of Lloyd.

Grand Jury Will Hear Peck Story Of Firing Rifle

Preliminary hearing of an assault charge against Allen Peck, 16, of 35 East Strand, was waived in City Court today and the case is to go to a grand jury.

Peck was charged June 1 with having discharged a .22 calibre rifle from a window of his home during a reported fight with his older brother, Robert, who was on the street below. Police were told that Robert had asked Allen to continue the fight outside after it had been stopped inside by their mother. Kenneth Peck, their father, and Robert had argued earlier, police said.

Attorney Richard Griggs appeared for Peck and Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr., for the district attorney's office.

City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman imposed sentence on Fred Wood, 24, of Highland, who was booked recently on three charges. He was given the choice of paying a $100 fine or spending 20 days in jail on the charge that he lacked automobile insurance, $25 or five days for driving with no license and the same for lack of registration. The judge said the jail sentences were to be served concurrently. The fines were not immediately paid.

Life Savings Returned

DETROIT (AP) — Aziz Zarou has his life savings back today.

They had gone for a ride on the fender of a car and fallen off into a downtown gutter.

Zarou went to police headquarter's with a list of serial numbers of 4 bonds. Police returned 41 bonds to him.

"Maybe I don't count so good," said Zarou who explained he had left the bonds on a car fender while he dug a coin for parking out of his pocket.

Model Capsule Chuted

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A full-scale model of the Mercury space capsule used by America's astronauts was successfully parachuted into Trinity Bay here Tuesday.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration manned space craft center crews directed the operation, designed to improve the parachute system of the capsule.

The new capsule will use retro rockets instead of a parachute to lessen the impact.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank Dr. Bight, Dr. Weigert, all the wonderful nurses, also my relatives, friends and neighbors for all the gifts, cards and attention given me during my stay at the Benedictine Hospital.

A very grateful person,
MRS. JENNIE MAE OSTERHOUDT

Tired of Tipsy Grooms

HAWORTH, England (AP) — The Rev. Charles Manchester threatened today to stop the wedding the next time a tipsy bridegroom comes lurching up his aisle.

"At least half the bridegrooms I marry smell like a brewery," the Church of England parson complained in his parish magazine.

"If I had a couple of whiskies or a few beers as a stiffener before taking the service, the bride and bridegroom would take a dim view of it.

"What I want to do is to get rid of that saying: 'Something old, something new, something bottled and something brewed.'"

DIED

CALLAHAN — Martin, suddenly at Country Lane, Town of Ulster, Wednesday, June 13, 1962, infant son of Daniel J. Jr. and June Lowe Callahan; dear brother of Susan and Daniel Callahan; beloved grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Callahan Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lowe; nephew of Michael, Vincent and Mary Callahan and Mrs. Raymond Radel Jr., all of Kingston.

Peace Move May Not Last

Clause on Unanimous Agreement May Ruin Pact by Three on Laos

TOKYO (AP)—To the optimist, agreement to establish a neutral coalition government in Laos paves the way for unity and peace in that tiny jungle kingdom.

The leaders of the three rival factions finally got together. They decided on a government headed by neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and a Cabinet ostensibly dominated by his middle-of-the road faction.

Looks Like Obstacle

But the troika clause the three leaders wrote into their pact promises to become a formidable obstacle to smooth operation of the Laotian government. The trio must agree unanimously on all decisions affecting the key ministries of defense, interior—controlling the police—and foreign affairs.

Statements after the agreement was reached indicate this will take some doing.

Not Friendly

Souphanouvong's statement consisted mainly of an attack on the United States.

Phoumi is almost certain to tangle with Foreign Minister Quinim Pholsena and Interior Minister Pheng Phongsavan, close associates of Souvanna, who himself took the defense ministry.

Phoumi, the strongman in Prince Boun Oum's Vientiane government, during previous negotiations insisted on retaining the key defense and interior posts. He said he surrendered because it was the "only solution." That doesn't mean he likes the arrangement.

Held for Truck Theft

Accused of the theft of a truck from an Ellenville parking lot, Donroy Nelson, 30, of New York City, was apprehended today by State police at Bridgeville, Sullivan County, and turned over to Ellenville police for prosecution. Police Chief Abe Rand said Nelson was accused of taking the truck owned by Howard-Michael Corp., Ellenville, from a parking lot at 95 Center Street, that village. Chief Rand said the truck was reported missing at 4 a. m. and teletype alarms were sent out. Police notified area troopers and later State police arrested Nelson at Bridgeville. Nelson will be arraigned before Police Justice Frank Decker, Ellenville, on a first degree grand larceny charge involving automobile theft.

Nominate Lewis For NY Chamber, Voting in Fall

Howard A. Lewis of 12 West Chestnut Street, a director of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, was nominated for the board of directors of the Empire State Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night.

The action was taken at the regular directors' meeting of the local Chamber in the Governor Clinton Hotel at which president Sam Pepper presided.

Lewis served as a director of the State Chamber for the past two years and consented to be nominated to succeed himself. The voting on nominations will be on a state-wide basis and takes place this fall.

Record on Roll

A record number of over 300 paid-up memberships, mostly renewals, were reported for the fiscal year which started May 1. It was also decided to publish a classified membership directory as a direct membership service during the summer.

President Pepper reported that the prompt payment of membership dues will also be enforced in line with the by-laws as amended recently. On July 1 memberships not paid will be considered delinquent, 60 days after the due date of May 1. Only memberships paid up by August 1 will be included in the classified directory.

In making this announcement President Pepper said it is important that the total amount of funds available for the fiscal year, which started May 1, be known by July 1 to enable the executive committee to budget available funds to industrial promotion and other committee activities. "We now have the funds to cover basic overhead eypenses," Pepper said, "and all additional receipts will be alloted to promotional activities."

The Chamber directors also authorized the appointment of six persons to represent the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce on the board of directors of the Miss New York State Pageant. This action is a direct endorsement of the State Pageant as a local project and will help make it a permanent annual event as long as it is adequately supported.

Chamber Manager Albert Kurdt was also authorized to attend the annual meeting of the New York Chamber of Commerce Executives at Big Moose, June 24-27. Kurdt will complete his one-year term as president of the organization at this meeting.

It was also decided to cancel the regular meetings of the board of directors for July and August. Normal functions will be carried on by the executive committee, however, special meetings will be called if the demand warrants.

Schick Is Speaker For Ulster Kiwanis

At one of the best attended meetings of this season John Schick, local attorney, spoke to membership of Ulster Kiwanis.

A delegation from the Kingston Club was on hand to hear a talk on the subject of wills.

Coast Hunt . . .

At 9:30 and thereafter every hour on the hour during periodic checks, nothing was found amiss.

Then at 7:15 in the morning, at the regular showup, the three didn't get up. Guards prodded what appeared to be their sleeping forms and found dummies—"very realistic, plaster, paint and hair heads and pillow bodies."

Digging for Weeks

It was found that the trio, apparently for weeks, had been digging at plaster and cement four inches thick with bits of spoons. Their painstaking effort loosened a metal cover leading to a ventilation shaft through each cell wall.

The 8-by-12 inch openings connected the cells with a service shaft a yard wide.

From there it was 30 feet up a pipe to an air conditioner. This was dismantled, steel bars somehow torn aside and access gained to the mess hall roof.

A 50-foot-long drain pipe led to the ground, about 100 yards from the water on the San Francisco side of the island.

From this point, Warden Blackwell said, it was anybody's guess what the three desperate men did.

If they struck out for San Francisco, they had a mile and a quarter to swim or drift, with cold currents against them. On the northern side of the island it was 1¾ miles to Angel Island State Park. From there it was another 1¾ miles to the Marin County shore. To the east from Alcatraz lay the Navy's Treasure Island two miles away.

Farm Worker Given 15 Days for Assault

A 20-year-old Newburgh farm worker was sentenced Tuesday to 15 days in the Ulster County jail after pleading guilty before Town of Lloyd Justice of the Peace Philip W. Schunk to a reduced charge of assault third degree.

James Burks, of 2 Hudson Street, Newburgh, was arrested June 2 on a second degree assault charge, but was permitted to plead to the lesser charge. He was accused of cutting Samuel Whitted, 24, of Marlboro, on the night of June 1 during a fight on a Marlboro farm.

Whitted was taken to Vassar hospital where eight sutures were taken in a cut on his left leg.

Ties With Estes No More Than Customer, Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maynard C. Wheeler, president of Commercial Solvents Corp., said today his company's relationship with Billie Sol Estes "was that of customer and supplier—and no more."

Testifying before a House Government Operations subcommittee investigating the Estes case, Wheeler took issue with testimony given by Frank Cain, a finance company lawyer, before a Texas court in inquiry.

False and Defamatory

"Most of Cain's testimony is false and defamatory," Wheeler said.

Cain, a Dallas lawyer representing Pacific Finance Co., had testified that Estes had told him, "They want to put me into business in Brazil." He said Estes was referring to Commercial Solvents Corp.

The chemical firm which Wheeler heads had financed Estes' dealings in anhydrous ammonia—a part of a many-sided business enterprise that collapsed when Estes was indicted for fraud last April. To secure his borrowings, Estes signed over to Commercial Solvents the payments he was to receive from the government for surplus grain storage.

Denies Brazil Talk

Wheeler denied that he had said anything about establishing a business for Estes in Brazil, or had offered to help him with secret deposits in a Swiss bank.

Explaining how Commercial Solvents persuaded Estes to sign over payments for surplus grain storage, Wheeler said:

"The customer wanted credit and CSC obtained from Estes indicates how prudent the corporation was in demanding security as a condition of continuing business relations."

In addition to his huge dealings in surplus grain storage and cotton allotment transfers, Estes built up a flimsy pyramid in the liquid fertilizer business, trying to corner the market in West Texas by cutting prices below cost.

The fertilizer was anhydrous ammonia, use of which has become a way of life for farmers in sausage-shaped 1,000-gallon tanks, mounted on wheels for easy movement.

$7 Million Not Enough

Estes bought his fertilizer from Commercial Solvents, assigning the proceeds from his government grain storage contracts as payment. The New York firm got more than $7 million in these government payments, but it was not enough to square the account.

The bankrupt Estes still owes Commercial Solvents $5.7 million.

To get operating cash, Estes worked out a scheme of discounting mortgages on the fertilizer tanks, but most of the tanks did not exist. This led to his indictment on fraud charges.

Commercial Solvents was named in a civil antitrust suit filed against Estes by the state of Texas, on the ground that its extension of millions of dollars in credit to Estes enabled him to run competitors out of business and corner the market by selling below cost.

One of the oddest byproducts of the Estes case came into the news again Tuesday.

It was disclosed that Mark K. Jones, 51-year-old agriculture department secretary, has asked Secretary Orville L. Freeman to clear her name and pay her restitution.

Miss Jones was hauled out of the department building and placed in a mental ward for observation for 12 days after she got into a squabble with department employes who were guarding a room where some files on Estes were stored.

Her only connection with the Estes case was that she worked for N. Battle Hales, a longtime department employe who publicly accused his superiors of showing favoritism to Estes.

Hales was shifted to another job and barred access to his old office, where the files were. Miss Jones ran into her trouble when she tried to get into Hales' old office to get a routine paper signed.

Safe Is Stolen

Authorities throughout the area today were looking for a safe, stolen sometime during the night from the office of A. and R. Motors, Route 209, a half mile east of Ellenville. State Police Investigator Charles Teelon said the building was entered by prying a rear door. The cash register was pried open and rifled of between $35 and $40. The safe, which contained office papers and records, was taken by the intruders. A small amount of cash was also in the safe, authorities said.

St. Remy Voters Favor $5,000 For Fire Items

A $5,000 appropriation for the purchase of emergency equipment and sirens was approved by the voters of the St. Remy Fire District Tuesday night at the St. Remy and Union Center polls.

With 231 persons voting, the bond issue was granted by a vote of 184-43. Of those persons voting, four votes were voided.

"Due to the wonderful and tireless efforts of the St. Remy firemen, this turnout was possible," a spokesman for the fire district said.

Henry Dowers, representing the St. Remy fire commissioners, said he thanked all the voters for their support of the bond issue.

Actions Continue In Supreme Court

Two negligence and nuisance actions were being continued in Supreme Court today before Justice William Deckelman and a jury. The actions are brought by Isadore Levine and another against the County of Ulster. It is alleged the county maintained the Cape Road, Town of Wawarsing, in an improper manner back in 1958 in the vicinity of the former Festival Grounds. Involved is maintenance of certain culverts in the area.

It is alleged this improper maintenance of the highway caused plaintiff's damage. They operate a scrap yard on Cape Road.

Two Women Are Sought for Try At Swindle Game

Mrs. Clara Kipp, of 365 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, told authorities Monday, she was shopping in S. S. Kresge's store in that city, when a woman said she had just found a package with $12,000.

The unidentified woman told Mrs. Kipp, police said, she would share the $12,000 if she would put up some "good faith" money. A second woman approached and offered to put up some money if she would be allowed to share in the $12,000.

Martin said the two women remained with Mrs. Kipp about two hours trying to persuade her to put up "good faith" money, but Mrs. Kipp declined.

The two women left and police were notified.

Detective Sergeant James Murphy and Detectives Jack Benton and Edward McLaughlin investigated.

Paltz Native, Wife Die Together; Both Despondent

Word has been received here of the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Deyo Schoonmaker, both 74, of Springfield, N. J., on June 11.

According to reports from Springfield, the elderly couple died in a double suicide. They had both been despondent and in failing health, it was reported.

Mr. Schoonmaker, a descendant of early Huguenot settlers, was born in New Paltz, the son of Edmund and Catherine J. S. Deyo Schoonmaker. He graduated from New Paltz Normal School in the class of 1908. His early teaching position was at the Scranton, Pa., Oral School where he met his wife, the former Nellie Rothermel Brunner of Lebanon, Pa.

Mr. Schoonmaker also taught at Hyde Park, Dutchess County; Asbury Park, Union and Springfield, N. J. In later years he engaged in truck farming and the greenhouse business from which he retired a few years ago.

Burial in New Paltz

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Peterson of Springfield, N. J.; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Also surviving are Mr. Schoonmaker's sister, Mrs. Mildred Trautwein of New Paltz and Mrs. Schoonmaker's brother, George Reilly Brunner of Long Island.

Funeral services will be held Thursday 8 p. m. at the Smith and Smith Funeral Home, 415 Morris Avenue, Springfield, N. J. Burial will take place Friday 1 p. m. at the Lloyd Cemetery, Old New Paltz Road, Town of Lloyd.

Grand Jury Will Hear Peck Story Of Firing Rifle

Preliminary hearing of an assault charge against Allen Peck, 16, of 35 East Strand, was waived in City Court today and the case is to go to a grand jury.

Peck was charged June 1 with having discharged a .22 calibre rifle from a window of his home during a reported fight with his older brother, Robert, who was on the street below. Police were told that Robert had asked Allen to continue the fight outside after it had been stopped inside by their mother. Kenneth Peck, their father, and Robert had argued earlier, police said.

Attorney Richard Griggs appeared for Peck and Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr., for the district attorney's office.

City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman imposed sentence on Fred Wood, 24, of Highland, who was booked recently on three charges. He was given the choice of paying a $100 fine or spending 20 days in jail on the charge that he lacked automobile insurance, $25 or five days for driving with no license and the same for lack of registration. The judge said the jail sentences were to be served concurrently. The fines were not immediately paid.

Life Savings Returned

DETROIT (AP) — Aziz Zarou has his life savings back today.

They had gone for a ride on the fender of a car and fallen off into a downtown gutter.

Zarou went to police headquarter's with a list of serial numbers of 4 bonds. Police returned 41 bonds to him.

"Maybe I don't count so good," said Zarou who explained he had left the bonds on a car fender while he dug a coin for parking out of his pocket.

Model Capsule Chuted

National Aeronautics and Space Administration manned space craft center crews directed the operation, designed to improve the parachute system of the capsule.

The new capsule will use retro rockets instead of a parachute to lessen the impact.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank Dr. Bight, Dr. Weigert, all the wonderful nurses, also my relatives, friends and neighbors for all the gifts, cards and attention given me during my stay at the Benedictine Hospital.

A very grateful person,
MRS. JENNIE MAE OSTERHOUDT

Tired of Tipsy Grooms

HAWORTH, England (AP) — The Rev. Charles Manchester threatened today to stop the wedding the next time a tipsy bridegroom comes lurching up his aisle.

"At least half the bridegrooms I marry smell like a brewery," the Church of England parson complained in his parish magazine.

"If I had a couple of whiskies or a few beers as a stiffener before taking the service, the bride and bridegroom would take a dim view of it.

"What I want to do is to get rid of that saying: 'Something old, something new, something bottled and something brewed.'"

Moratorium Is Urged on Most Rail Mergers

WASHINGTON (AP) —Railroad labor spokesmen urged Congress today to pass legislation that would temporarily declare a moratorium on most major railroad mergers.

G. E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, said the national interest is endangered by what he termed "the present unrestrained rush toward monopoly control of the railroad industry."

Some Desirable

He told the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee in his prepared testimony that railroad labor recognizes that some consolidations may be desirable.

Leighty also said he wanted to stress that "our opposition to the present railroad merger movement does not rest solely upon our legitimate interest in protecting the employes who would be adversely affected."

He said, however, that if consolidations now planned are effected, an estimated 200,000 jobs, or roughly 25 per cent of the present railroad work force, would be eliminated ultimately.

But Leighty, who also is president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, said labor's opposition to the merger movement rests upon much broader grounds.

He referred, among other things, to the preservation of competition, the reduction or elimination of service to the public, and the effect on economic growth and the national defense capacity of the nation's transportation system.

Bill Provides Time

The subcommittee is considering a bill of chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and others to prohibit Interstate Commerce Commission approval, before 1964, of any merger involving a railroad with more than $200 million in assets if the ICC finds it might lessen competition or tend toward a monopoly.

It would not apply to railroads in bankruptcy, trusteeship or receivership.

Kefauver said the legislation was designed to provide Congress, the administration, and the ICC with time to investigate the overall impact of proposed railroad mergers and to develop new criteria for their approval.

Chest Survey

able to get to prior locations in Kingston may visit either of the units on Friday. The units will be at Cornell Hose, Abeel Street, and Excelsior Hose, Hurley Avenue, near Washington Avenue.

Friday Is Last Day

The survey, co-sponsored by the New York State and Ulster County Department of Health; the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital and the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc., will conclude with the Friday visits in Kingston.

In addition to the volunteers listed Tuesday who served Monday at Rosendale during the X-ray survey were Mrs. Gerald Creedon, Mrs. Patrick Donneley, Mrs. William Curran, Miss Linda Crookston, Miss Diana Murray, Mrs. Warren Larabee, Mrs. Fred Fiedler, Mrs. Albert Sperath, Mrs. Nicholas Christodolus, Mrs. Cyril Tegeler, Mrs. Norman Chansky, Mrs. Michael Doria, Mrs. Isabelle Struber, Mrs. John Nielsen, Everett Glass and Aaron Gray.

The public is advised of plenty of free parking in Dietz Stadium lot, adjacent to Excelsior Hose.

All residents not yet X-rayed in the county-wide survey were urged today by Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, medical director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, to note that there are four locations in the last two days, Thursday and Friday, remaining to have this quick and easy chest checkup.

Dr. Schwartz said, "It is advisable for all adults to have a periodic X-ray. This survey makes it easy, quick and convenient to have it done. In addition to TB, other respiratory diseases and indications of certain heart ailments are also detectable."

Other Volunteers

Volunteer leaders serving in Marbletown were appointed by Supervisor Roy J. Webber. Mrs. Virgil Crisman and John Baumgarten organized the canvass and the workers signed up over 800 residents. Sixteen volunteer registrars served throughout Tuesday.

Woodstock area volunteer canvassers were organized by Mrs. James Mulligan, leader of the Teen-age Club. Registrars serving on Tuesday were recruited by Mrs. Edmund Tomaselli, chairman, public health committee, and Mrs. Joseph Toldridge Jr. of the Woodstock Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary.

The survey coordinator, Miss Hazel M. Steed, made these observations today: "In Woodstock, as in every other instance in the survey where the unit has been placed at a fire station, the company's equipment has been of much interest. Woodstock's chief, George Haythorne, proudly displayed their new and gleaming white truck—in spite of the afternoon rain—and even allowed some young folks to get into the seat of an older model at the station."

Supervisors Are To Meet Thursday

A meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors will be held Thursday at 8 p. m.

Among the matters on the agenda is the appointment of a trustee for the Ulster County Community College. It is expected Dr. Inez Sartorius of Accord will be reappointed. She was one of the original trustees named by the board for the one year term.

In connection with the Community College it is also expected the board of supervisors will make available a sum not to exceed $10,000 for preliminary expenses.

The trustees have held several meetings and if the college is to become a functional institution by 1963, it will be necessary to secure a president who will be able to sit in on the early organization problems, discuss matters such as courses to be offered staff and other matters preliminary to opening of the college.

There is also necessary secretarial costs and other expenses incident to planning by the trustees, and, when a president of the college is selected funds will be required to meet the salary of such official.

It is expected the board of supervisors will make available such a fund at the meeting Thursday.

Saugerties Girl Is Injured in Driverless Auto

A Saugerties girl was injured, and another child escaped injury late Tuesday, when a driverless car in which they were riding rolled a block down Elm Street hill, Saugerties, and crashed into the rear of a parked automobile.

Saugerties police said Lorraine Bradford, of 84 Partition Street, that village, received a laceration of the forehead and was treated by a nearby physician.

Patrolman Gordon Keeley reported Edward Bradford, father of the injured girl had put two children in the car and as he went to get a third child, one of the two in the vehicle apparently released the emergency brake.

The Bradford 1956 car rolled down Elm Street hill and struck a 1960 parked sedan owned by Bernard M. Rinaldi, owner of the Rinaldi Food Market.

Police said the entire front of the Bradford car was demolished and the entire rear of the Rinaldi sedan was heavily damaged.

Germantown Man Fatally Injured As Truck Upsets

A 57-year-old Columbia County man was injured fatally Tuesday afternoon when a pickup truck he was driving went out of control and overturned on Route 10 between Livington and West Taghkanic.

State police said Joseph Titz, a Germantown farmer, was Columbia's third highway fatality of 1962.

Columbia County Coroner Robert H. Near Jr., of Philmont, gave a verdict of accidental death due to a fractured neck.

Trooper James Arre of Copake, said Titz was driving a truck he had borrowed from Adam Reuter, a neighbor farmer, transporting four calves, when the load shifted and the truck went out of control.

One calf was seriously injured and had to be destroyed by Trooper Arre.

Titz had been a resident of Germantown the last seven years. He is survived by his wife in Germantown, and a son and daughter, both of New York City.

Tuition Rates Up

Members of the Red Hook Central School District Board of Education have increased tuition rates for non-resident students in the secondary grades by $160 and $40 in the elementary level. H. William Kessler, board clerk, said the new rates set as the result of a State Aid formula adjustment which reduced financial assistance to the district are $140 for elementary pupils and $360 for secondary students.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—A turbulent stock market, resisting a selling drive that came within an ace of driving it to new 1962 lows, seesawed with prices mixed early this afternoon.

Reflecting a recovery of steep losses in early trading, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .30 to 215.50, with industrials up .70, rails off .20 and utilities up .10.

Once more, brokers said, it was a question of prices being driven low enough to appear as "bargains" to traders and investors.

But brokers said they expected another selling drive before the day ended.

Within the first half hour, prices were battered down to within a hair's breadth of the May 28 closing low, based on unofficial computations of the Dow Jones average at a large brokerage house. Technicians there said the market held and rallied above that level.

Most of the early losses were fractional.

As prices recovered, IBM erased a loss and was up to a net gain of more than 3. AT&T erased its loss, then moved between a slight gain and small loss. Ford cut its loss to a fraction. Du Pont converted its decline to a gain of nearly a point.

Reductions of

how much of a cut he will recommend.

Rockefeller said he had no objections to tax relief at the time of a budget deficit and the chief consideration should be whether tax relief would be a stimulus to the economy.

Faster tax write-offs on plants and equipment of business and industry would be more effective than income-tax cuts in stimulating the economy, the governor said.

New Vote Set

$109,964 Slashed From School Fund By Wappingers

Members of the Wappingers Central School District Board of Education will again present a proposed budget to the voters July 12. At a hearing Monday night, the board presented a revised budget $109,964 less than the twice-defeated $4,412,298 budget.

The larget cut was in the capital outlay item. The sum of $49,544 was slashed from ground improvements, replacement of light poles at the Main building, elimination of alterations to buildings.

Opponents of the budget have urged the school board to replace some of the monies slashed from the budget. Taxpayers said they opposed cutting items for the purchase of instructional supplies and textbooks.

Flag Is Banner

communist idea of amalgamation. A string of pearls has appealing radiance, because the pearls are artfully placed together, according to size. This is cooperation which attains value and beauty. To smash them into powder exemplifies amalgamation, marking the full destruction of individuality and winsome beauty.

"Flag Day should find us nourishing the hope that intelligence will over pass violence. We witness a world-wide ring of riots. Let us remember that man is a manifestation of light. Ignorance is the night of the mind. We are being harmed by benighted men. No matter how many dismalties are detailed in the news, all history tells us to hope. It is profane to say that our world situation is hopeless. Let us say that it is mysterious, but never proclaim that it is hopeless. For in this manner you rebuke the Divine Creator. Man is not yet man. This is only the childhood of humanity. Let us resolve to keep the upward reach.

May Our Spirits Be Lifted

"There are times when we become weary and discouraged. May our spirits be lifted by observing that the valiant men at Valley Forge were blue with cold as they left red stains in white snow. Their sustained valor was expressed in color as they left abiding footprints in history. True, indeed they have made Valley Forge a shrine. Let us reward their memory by lifting high our Stars and Stripes. A breeze will unfurl our flag. It can be waved only by eager hands moved by faithful hearts.

"We are opposed by a relentless enemy, a militant form of evil. They have revived the practice of slavery in our time. The American people must keep stars in their eyes or they will have stripes on their backs."

Burglary Case Continues Today

Continued in County Court before Judge Raymond J. Mino today was the burglary and unlawful entry charge against John, also known as Bernard Ferraro, who stands charged by the grand jury with being connected with the entrance to the J. B. Back cigar factory on Wilbur Avenue. The factory was entered Jan. 7, 1961. It charged Ferraro acted as "lookout" for the men who entered the premises.

Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt appears for the prosecution and Hubert Richter appears for defendant.

Prosecution rested its case Tuesday afternoon and a recess was taken until today when defense attorney did not have a witness available. The case was resumed today.

Market in New Test of Levels Hit on May 28

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market trading was heavy and prices narrowly lower today as the market began testing whether it can keep above the low levels hit on "Black Monday," May 28.

Opening sales included a few large blocks, but not so many as to indicate heavy liquidation similar to that which marked trading late in May.

American Telephone was off $1.12 to $104 and Ford lost $1.63 to $80.63, while most other key issues lost fractions.

Brokers watched trading anxiously, looking for signs of resistance — buyers coming in at new lower prices—at or above the levels of last month's nosedive, the worst since 1929.

Lacking such buying support, they said, a further slump may result.

The market suffered its third worst loss of the current sag Tuesday. An estimated $6.8 billion was erased from the quoted value of the stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market was too delicately balanced to resist statements and developments which investors considered disturbing, some Wall Street sources said.

They mentioned President Kennedy's remarks at the Yale University commencement exercises which were interpreted in some financial circles as meaning he wouldn't back down from his economic ideas in the face of disapproval by business men.

They also referred to the statement by Federal Budget Director David E. Bell in a New York speech that the administration would change its spending and tax policies this year if the economy falls into a serious lag.

All through the recent market decline Kennedy and his advisers have attributed it to what they called investors' realization that stock prices had climbed too far and a belief that inflation's effect on the economy had abated.

U. S. Snooping Planned Then

Shoe May Be on Other Foot When Reds Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—With Russia expected to resume atmospheric nuclear testing soon, American experts reportedly are preparing to do a little snooping of their own.

The Russians have four instrument ships posted around Christmas and Johnston Islands in the Pacific to gather information about the American test series which began April 25 and now has reached about the midway point. There is every reason to believe the Russians have collected considerable data in the weeks their ships have been there.

Could Come Anytime

Although neither of the great nuclear powers says anything publicly about its own snooping operations, each has kept close check on what the other has been doing in nuclear test blasts over the years of the atomic weapons race.

The new Soviet series could come at any time in view of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's recent declaration that the American experiments have "forced us to renew our tests."

The Russians normally test in remote regions or deep in the heart of the Soviet Union.

So far as is known, the United States does not have the kind of instrument ships being used by the Soviets to spy on U.S. tests in the Pacific.

Grandstand Seat

But it is believed U.S. nuclear submarines—which have proved their ability to operate in the Arctic even in winter—may have had a grandstand seat for the last Russian tests.

The most modern American subs carry advanced radar gear and supersensitive underwater listening equipment.

This radar can spot cloud formations—and that could include atomic and hydrogen mushroom clouds—from as much as 200 miles away.

Sound-detecting devices can pick up shock waves, of the sort a nuclear blast might send through water.

A watching sub might mark the precise time of a nuclear explosion—a factor important in later analysis of the airborne debris drifting across the world.

Much of the air sampling in the wake of Russian tests is done in the Alaskan areas, which lie in the path of the radioactive debris moving with prevailing winds.

18th in Pacific

American aircraft fly into these air masses, then open nose ports which trap atomic particles flowing inside. These particles are brought back to laboratories and are subjected to microscopic, chemical and spectrochemical analysis.

All this tells American scientists what materials went into the bomb, warhead or device and how efficient it was.

The 18th nuclear device of the current U.S. Pacific series was detonated Tuesday following an aerial drop near Christmas Island. The Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said it was in the intermediate range, meaning it had an explosive force of between 20,000 and 1 million tons of TNT.

Judge Indicted

Tax Count No. 2 Blow This Month

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—El Paso County Judge Woodrow Bean was indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday for failing to file income tax returns.

Bean, defeated June 2 in a runoff for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large, acknowledged during the campaign that he had not reported his income to the government. He said amounts withheld from his salary more than covered what he owed.

Asserting the income tax was unconstitutional, Bean said April 30 he had been unable to get federal authorities to file a test case.

The 44-year-old judge declined comment on indictments charging willful failure to file returns for 1956 through 1960 on total income of $53,296.58.

If convicted, Bean could receive one year in prison and $10,000 on each of five counts.

William E. Fowler, the revenue service, said April 26, in answer to queries, that his office had no record of Bean's filing an income tax return for 10 years.

8th Arrest Made

Quinlan said. Previously arrested was Raymond H. Stanton, 48, of 54 Jefferson Street, Poughkeepsie, who authorities say admitted 150 burglaries in the three counties which netted more than a half million dollars.

Stanton is held in $50,000 bail pending grand jury action.

Other Arrests

Also arrested on third degree burglary charges, accused of participating with Stanton in one burglary were Stanton's son, Raymond, 22, of 7 Montgomery Street, Poughkeepsie, and Frederick Marks, 54, of Sodom Road, Town of Clinton.

Others arrested on charges of receiving stolen goods were Vernon O. Baker, 51, Clintondale Road, Highland; Alfred E. Cooper, 35, of Chapel Hill Road, Town of Lloyd; Edward Von Haag, owner of the Churchvue Antique Shop, Freedom Plains, and his wife, Anna.

Cooper was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie Jr., Town of Esopus, and released on $2,500 bail to await grand jury action.

The Von Haags were released by Town of LaGrange Justice of the Peace John Neilson in $5,000 bail each.

Three in Jail

The Stantons and Marks are in Dutchess County jail in lieu of bail.

Sheriff Quinlan said today that more than $100,000 in loot allegedly stolen by the elder Stanton had been recovered by Dutchess and Ulster County sheriff's deputies.

Storage Room Needed

Quinlan told The Freeman that so much loot has been gathered up by investigators that "we are debating where we are going to keep it." He said it might be necessary to rent a building to keep the loot secured until it is eventually returned to the rightful owners after the case is concluded.

The sheriff complimented the Ulster County sheriff's staff and other police agencies who have cooperated with Dutchess authorities in the investigation which began about six mouths ago, when numerous burglaries were reported.

Ulster County Investigator Arthur Brown has been working with Sheriff Quinlan and his deputies the last five or six months, Quinlan said.

Laos Agreement

needed to remove their land from the cold war.

Declaring this could be the pivotal event "in the cause of strengthening peace in Southeast Asia," Khrushchev told Kennedy that the results in Laos "strengthen the conviction that success in solving other international problems which now divide states and create tension can be achieved on the same road as well."

Depends on Going Along

U.S. policymakers were well aware that the extent to which the cooperative venture succeeds in Laos depends on how far the Communists, who hold the stronger military position there, choose to go alon with it. Washington has been unwilling to commit forces directly in the small, distant, landlocked country, although Kennedy has stationed U.S. troops in neighboring Thailand.

W. Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, said that American troops in Thailand would not be withdrawn just because the Laos coalition has been formed. He said the U.S. military deployment is aimed at bolstering Western strength in all non-Communist Southeast Asian countries.

Important Step

As for the withdrawal of U.S. military advisers from Laos, Harriman said this would be done simultaneously with th pullout of non-Laotian Communist forces. U.S. strategists say a most important step in the Laos settlement is the proposed withdrawal of outside forces, estimated to include up to 10,000 North Vietnamese Reds.

Speaking in a television interview —ABC—News Final— Harriman said Khrushchev joined in supporting a coalition government for Laos partly because of a desire to check Red Chinese expansion southward.

Learning That Market Fluctuates Is Tough

Q—"I am 56 years old, debt free, blessed with good health, and have paid for and completely furnished three homes for my family. I have savings of $9,000 at 4 per cent interest compounded semiannually, $13,000 at 4¼ per cent quarterly, and my husband's pension of $350 per month. Why some people will jump into the market and then get panicky when the prices decline is beyond me. I think now is the time to buy a good stock for income. Any advice for me?" E. E.

—Let me congratulate you on the wise manner in which you have obviously managed your affairs. In all my years of dealing with investors, I have found that the toughest lesson for everyone to learn is that the stock market is never an one-way street. Stocks always fluctuate, and all too often, they fluctuate the wrong way. In your case, I suggest that you take a small part of your savings and buy 100 shares or Maytag (NYSE), a high-grade appliance maker which sells to yield well over 5 per cent.

Q—"I have two stocks which are acting badly—Allis-Chalmers and Diamond Alkalai. I'm a moderately conservative investor What do you advise?" R. M.

A—I consider your first stock Allis-Chalmers as an issue which investors generally should avoid. The anti-trust investigations pared share prices almost 50 per cent in 1960 and, following a brief run-up last year, the slide continued. Unless another dividend cut occurs—which is possible—I'd say that Allis-Chalmers has nearly bottomed out at current levels. I feel it will take a long time for the issue to regain any sizable market following and would shift my capital to an issue like Munsingwear where the dividend is liberal and well covered.

I regard your second stock Diamond Alkalai as a much sounder situation. Future appreciation will probably be slow, but over a period of time I think the shares will work out fairly well for you.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Reservoir Charge Lists Activities

The annual strawberry festival of the West Hurley Church will be held Tuesday, 5:30 p. m. at the church. Cafeteria style, ham, turkey and roast beef will be featured dishes. Strawberry shortcake will be available either with meals or beverages.

Vacation church school enrollment closed with a record 62 pupils, according to registrar Maurice Rowe. The primary class which has 29 pupils equals last year's entire number. Other classes include kindergarten, junior and junior high. The only such program in the area served by the Ashokan, Glenford and West Hurley Churches, classes begins June 25 at the West Hurley Church.

Sunday's services will feature The Great Story of Acts, by the Rev. W. H. Hunter, telling the drama of the early church. Services are, Ashokan, 9:30 a. m.; West Hurley, 11 a. m., with nursery; Glenford, 12:30 p. m.

Sunday schools are held through junior high at Ashokan at 10:45 a. m.; through adult classes at West Hurley, 9:30 a. m., and Glenford, 11:30 a. m.

Ashokan's Official Board meets Monday.

Gun Discharges

The rifle discharged as Officer Barringer grabbed it. It had been fired at least three times before that, police said.

"I think I aged a bit in that brief experience," Officer Short said today. The rifle was aimed directly at him when Mayr warned all to stay back.

City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman today put the case over to Thursday to permit Mayr time to obtain counsel. Bail was not fixed this morning.

Police received a report at 7:26 p. m. that a man was discharging a rifle on Abeel Street.

Detectives Albert Hutton, Harold DeGraff, William Slover and Gurnsey Burger, along with the patrolmen were dispatched to the area.

Officer Short said the car in which he rode was driven around a block after Mayr was seen on a porch. It was first reported that shots were fired near 50 Abeel Street, and upon arrival of the officers Mayr walked over Abeel Street toward the bridge.

Had to Take Cover

Short and Coffey, the report said, were "forced to take cover," when Mayr shouted to them to get back or he would shoot to kill. They took cover behind a car. Barringer and Turck were in an area where they apparently had not been seen by Mayr, and Barringer moved up behind him at the bridge entrance and grappled the gun as quickly as possible.

Mayr did not say what bothered him, the officers said, but he indicated he had "personal problems."

Has Record

Mayr has a police record of some length mostly for such minor charges as public intoxication and disorderly conduct.

He was charged with disorderly conduct on Feb. 27, 1955 after a call to the Rondout Creek Bridge. A report to the police then indicated that a man had been climbing on the superstructure of the span.

The arrest Tuesday on the first degree assault charge was by Officer Short, and that for the firing of the rifle was by Officer Barringer.

Auburn-haired Pat Lynn Hackett, a singer, and blonde Patty Joyce, who described herself as an exotic dancer, testified they had fought employer pressures to serve as B-girls. Both are from Philadelphia.

Police Inspector Frank Rizzo of Philadelphia, testified Miss Joyce hadn't even told half the story of B-girls' missions to fleece "visiting firemen." He said the Philadelphia police in two years have closed clip joints by systematically raiding and harassing them.

Rizzo testified angrily that this was achieved despite harassment of his men by club owners' lawyers, the Philadelphia branch of the American Civil Liberties Union, some frustrating efforts to lift offending clubs' liquor licenses, criticism from the courts, and less than enthusiastic support from the Philadelphia citizenry.

Reds Happy, West Cautious

The communist bloc hailed the Laotian agreement as a victory for the Pathet Lao and a step toward peace in unsettled Southeast Asia. The West took a cautious approach.

The U.S. State Department said the Laotian agreement still leaves "a lot of big, fat question marks." Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the resumption of U.S. economic aid to Laos, cut off to pressure the rightists into the coalition, would depend on whether the new government succeeds in making Laos truly neutral and independent.

Other U.S. allies looked upon the new Laotian government with less than enthusiasm.

Going to Batavia

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—Ira M. Gates, 34, city manager of Bristol, Pa., will become city administrator of Batavia on July 9, City Council President Ronald L. Martin announced today.

Gates will succeed C. Richard Foote in the $10,000 a year job. Foote becomes city manager in Wheaton, Ill., next month.

Gates is a former executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Economy League and also served as assistant finance officer for Mt. Lebanon, Pa., township.

Moratorium Is Urged on Most Rail Mergers

WASHINGTON (AP) —Railroad labor spokesmen urged Congress today to pass legislation that would temporarily declare a moratorium on most major railroad mergers.

G. E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, said the national interest is endangered by what he termed "the present unrestrained rush toward monopoly control of the railroad industry."

Some Desirable

He told the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee in his prepared testimony that railroad labor recognizes that some consolidations may be desirable.

Leighty also said he wanted to stress that "our opposition to the present railroad merger movement does not rest solely upon our legitimate interest in protecting the employes who would be adversely affected."

He said, however, that if consolidations now planned are effected, an estimated 200,000 jobs, or roughly 25 per cent of the present railroad work force, would be eliminated ultimately.

But Leighty, who also is president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, said labor's opposition to the merger movement rests upon much broader grounds.

He referred, among other things, to the preservation of competition, the reduction or elimination of service to the public, and the effect on economic growth and the national defense capacity of the nation's transportation system.

Bill Provides Time

The subcommittee is considering a bill of chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and others to prohibit Interstate Commerce Commission approval, before 1964, of any merger involving a railroad with more than $200 million in assets if the ICC finds it might lessen competition or tend toward a monopoly.

It would not apply to railroads in bankruptcy, trusteeship or receivership.

Kefauver said the legislation was designed to provide Congress, the administration, and the ICC with time to investigate the overall impact of proposed railroad mergers and to develop new criteria for their approval.

Chest Survey

able to get to prior locations in Kingston may visit either of the units on Friday. The units will be at Cornell Hose, Abeel Street, and Excelsior Hose, Hurley Avenue, near Washington Avenue.

Friday Is Last Day

The survey, co-sponsored by the New York State and Ulster County Department of Health; the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital and the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc., will conclude with the Friday visits in Kingston.

In addition to the volunteers listed Tuesday who served Monday at Rosendale during the X-ray survey were Mrs. Gerald Creedon, Mrs. Patrick Donneley, Mrs. William Curran, Miss Linda Crookston, Miss Diana Murray, Mrs. Warren Larabee, Mrs. Fred Fiedler, Mrs. Albert Sperath, Mrs. Nicholas Christodolus, Mrs. Cyril Tegeler, Mrs. Norman Chansky, Mrs. Michael Doria, Mrs. Isabelle Struber, Mrs. John Nielsen, Everett Glass and Aaron Gray.

The public is advised of plenty of free parking in Dietz Stadium lot, adjacent to Excelsior Hose.

All residents not yet X-rayed in the county-wide survey were urged today by Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, medical director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, to note that there are four locations in the last two days, Thursday and Friday, remaining to have this quick and easy chest checkup.

Dr. Schwartz said, "It is advisable for all adults to have a periodic X-ray. This survey makes it easy, quick and convenient to have it done. In addition to TB, other respiratory diseases and indications of certain heart ailments are also detectable."

Other Volunteers

Volunteer leaders serving in Marbletown were appointed by Supervisor Roy J. Webber. Mrs. Virgil Crisman and John Baumgarten organized the canvass and the workers signed up over 800 residents. Sixteen volunteer registrars served throughout Tuesday.

Woodstock area volunteer canvassers were organized by Mrs. James Mulligan, leader of the Teen-age Club. Registrars serving on Tuesday were recruited by Mrs. Edmund Tomacelli, chairman, public health committee, and Mrs. Joseph Holdridge Jr. of the Woodstock Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary.

The survey coordinator, Miss Hazel M. Steed, made these observations today: "In Woodstock, as in every other instance in the survey where the unit has been placed at a fire station, the company's equipment has been of much interest. Woodstock's chief, George Haythorne, proudly displayed their new and gleaming white truck—in spite of the afternoon rain—and even allowed some young folks to get into the seat of an older model at the station."

Supervisors Are To Meet Thursday

A meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors will be held Thursday at 8 p. m.

Among the matters on the agenda is the appointment of a trustee for the Ulster County Community College. It is expected Dr. Inez Sartorius of Accord will be reappointed. She was one of the original trustees named by the board for the one year term.

In connection with the Community College it is also expected the board of supervisors will make available a sum not to exceed $10,000 for preliminary expenses.

The trustees have held several meetings and if the college is to become a functional institution by 1963, it will be necessary to secure a president who will be able to sit in on the early organization problems, discuss matters such as courses to be offered staff and other matters preliminary to opening of the college.

There is also necessary secretarial costs and other expenses incident to planning by the trustees, and, when a president of the college is selected funds will be required to meet the salary of such official.

It is expected the board of supervisors will make available such a fund at the meeting Thursday.

Saugerties Girl Is Injured in Driverless Auto

A Saugerties girl was injured, and another child escaped injury late Tuesday, when a driverless car in which they were riding rolled a block down Elm Street hill, Saugerties, and crashed into the rear of a parked automobile.

Saugerties police said Lorraine Bradford, of 84 Partition Street, that village, received a laceration of the forehead and was treated by a nearby physician.

Patrolman Gordon Keeley reported Edward Bradford, father of the injured girl had put two children in the car and as he went to get a third child, one of the two in the vehicle apparently released the emergency brake.

The Bradford 1956 car rolled down Elm Street hill and struck a 1960 parked sedan owned by Bernard M. Rinaldi, owner of the Rinaldi Food Market.

Police said the entire front of the Bradford car was demolished and the entire rear of the Rinaldi sedan was heavily damaged.

Germantown Man Fatally Injured As Truck Upsets

A 57-year-old Columbia County man was injured fatally Tuesday afternoon when a pickup truck he was driving went out of control and overturned on Route 10 between Livingston and West Taghkanic.

State police said Joseph Titz, a Germantown farmer, was Columbia's third highway fatality of 1962.

Columbia County Coroner Robert H. Near Jr., of Philmont, gave a verdict of accidental death due to a fractured neck.

Trooper James Arre of Copake, said Titz was driving a truck he had borrowed from Adam Reuter, a neighbor farmer, transporting four calves, when the load shifted and the truck went out of control.

One calf was seriously injured and had to be destroyed by Trooper Arre.

Titz had been a resident of Germantown the last seven years. He is survived by his wife in Germantown, and a son and daughter, both of New York City.

Tuition Rates Up

Members of the Red Hook Central School District Board of Education have increased tuition rates for non-resident students in the secondary grades by $160 and $40 in the elementary level. H. William Kessler, board clerk, said the new rates set as the result of a State Aid formula adjustment which reduced financial assistance to the district are $140 for elementary pupils and $360 for secondary students.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—A turbulent stock market, resisting a selling drive that came within an ace of driving it to new 1962 lows, seesawed with prices mixed early this afternoon.

Reflecting a recovery of steep losses in early trading, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .30 to 215.50, with industrials up .70, rails off .20 and utilities up .10.

Once more, brokers said, it was a question of prices being driven low enough to appear as "bargains" to traders and investors.

But brokers said they expected another selling drive before the day ended.

Within the first half hour, prices were battered down to within a hair's breadth of the May 28 closing low, based on unofficial computations of the Dow Jones average at a large brokerage house. Technicians there said the market held and rallied above that level.

Most of the early losses were fractional.

As prices recovered, IBM erased a loss and was up to a net gain of more than 3. AT&T erased its loss, then moved between a slight gain and small loss. Ford cut its loss to a fraction. Du Pont converted its decline to a gain of nearly a point.

Reductions of

how much of a cut he will recommend.

Rockefeller said he had no objections to tax relief at the time of a budget deficit and the chief consideration should be whether tax relief would be a stimulus to the economy.

Faster tax write-offs on plants and equipment of business and industry would be more effective than income-tax cuts in stimulating the economy, the governor said.

$109,964 Slashed From School Fund By Wappingers

Members of the Wappingers Central School District Board of Education will again present a proposed budget to the voters July 12. At a hearing Monday night, the board presented a revised budget $109,964 less than the twice-defeated $4,412,298 budget.

The larget cut was in the capital outlay item. The sum of $49,544 was slashed from ground improvements, replacement of light poles at the Main building, elimination of alterations to buildings.

Opponents of the budget have urged the school board to replace some of the monies slashed from the budget. Taxpayers said they opposed cutting items for the purchase of instructional supplies and textbooks.

Flag Is Banner

communist idea of amalgamation. A string of pearls has appealing radiance, because the pearls are artfully placed together, according to size. This is cooperation which attains value and beauty. To smash them into powder exemplifies amalgamation, marking the full destruction of individuality and winsome beauty.

"Flag Day should find us nourishing the hope that intelligence will over pass violence. We witness a world-wide ring of riots. Let us remember that man is a manifestation of light. Ignorance is the night of the mind. We are being harmed by benighted men. No matter how many dismalties are detailed in the news, all history tells us to hope. It is profane to say that our world situation is hopeless. Let us say that it is mysterious, but never proclaim that it is hopeless. For in this manner you rebuke the Divine Creator. Man is not yet man. This is only the childhood of humanity. Let us resolve to keep the upward reach.

May Our Spirits Be Lifted

"There are times when we become weary and discouraged. May our spirits be lifted by observing that the valiant men at Valley Forge were blue with cold as they left red stains in white snow. Their sustained valor was expressed in color as they left abiding footprints in history. True, indeed they have made Valley Forge a shrine. Let us reward their memory by lifting high our Stars and Stripes. A breeze will unfurl our flag. It can be waved only by eager hands moved by faithful hearts.

"We are opposed by a relentless enemy, a militant form of evil. They have revived the practice of slavery in our time. The American people must keep stars in their eyes or they will have stripes on their backs."

Burglary Case Continues Today

Continued in County Court before Judge Raymond J. Mino today was the burglary and unlawful entry charge against John, also known as Bernard Ferraro, who stands charged by the grand jury with being connected with the entrance to the J. B. Back cigar factory on Wilbur Avenue. The factory was entered Jan. 7, 1961. It charged Ferraro acted as "lookout" for the men who entered the premises.

Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt appears for the prosecution and Hubert Richter appears for defendant.

Prosecution rested its case Tuesday afternoon and a recess was taken until today when defense attorney did not have a witness available. The case was resumed today.

Market in New Test of Levels Hit on May 28

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market trading was heavy and prices narrowly lower today as the market began testing whether it can keep above the low levels hit on "Black Monday," May 28.

Opening sales included a few large blocks, but not so many as to indicate heavy liquidation similar to that which marked trading late in May.

American Telephone was off $1.12 to $104 and Ford lost $1.63 to $80.63, while most other key issues lost fractions.

Brokers watched trading anxiously, looking for signs of resistance — buyers coming in at new lower prices—at or above the levels of last month's nosedive, the worst since 1929.

Lacking such buying support, they said, a further slump may result.

The market suffered its third worst loss of the current sag Tuesday. An estimated $6.8 billion was erased from the quoted value of the stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market was too delicately balanced to resist statements and developments which investors considered disturbing, some Wall Street sources said.

They mentioned President Kennedy's remarks at the Yale University commencement exercises which were interpreted in some financial circles as meaning he wouldn't back down from his economic ideas in the face of disapproval by business men.

They also referred to the statement by Federal Budget Director David E. Bell in a New York speech that the administration would change its spending and tax policies this year if the economy falls into a serious lag.

All through the recent market decline Kennedy and his advisers have attributed it to what they called investors' realization that stock prices had climbed too far and a belief that inflation's effect on the economy had abated.

U. S. Snooping Planned Then

Shoe May Be on Other Foot When Reds Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—With Russia expected to resume atmospheric nuclear testing soon, American experts reportedly are preparing to do a little snooping of their own.

The Russians have four instrument ships posted around Christmas and Johnston Islands in the Pacific to gather information about the American test series which began April 25 and now has reached about the midway point. There is every reason to believe the Russians have collected considerable data in the weeks their ships have been there.

Could Come Anytime

Although neither of the great nuclear powers says anything publicly about its own snooping operations, each has kept close check on what the other has been doing in nuclear test blasts over the years of the atomic weapons race.

The new Soviet series could come at any time in view of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's recent declaration that the American experiments have "forced us to renew our tests."

The Russians normally test in remote regions or deep in the heart of the Soviet Union.

So far as is known, the United States does not have the kind of instrument ships being used by the Soviets to spy on U.S. tests in the Pacific.

Grandstand Seat

But it is believed U.S. nuclear submarines—which have proved their ability to operate in the Arctic even in winter—may have had a grandstand seat for the last Russian tests.

The most modern American subs carry advanced radar gear and supersensitive underwater listening equipment.

This radar can spot cloud formations—and that could include atomic and hydrogen mushroom clouds—from as much as 200 miles away.

Sound-detecting devices can pick up shock waves, of the sort a nuclear blast might send through water.

A watching sub might mark the precise time of a nuclear explosion—a factor important in later analysis of the airborne debris drifting across the world.

Much of the air sampling in the wake of Russian tests is done in the Alaskan areas, which lie in the path of the radioactive debris moving with prevailing winds.

18th in Pacific

American aircraft fly into these air masses, then open nose ports which trap atomic particles flowing inside. These particles are brought back to laboratories and are subjected to microscopic, chemical and spectrochemical analysis.

All this tells American scientists what materials went into the bomb, warhead or device and how efficient it was.

The 18th nuclear device of the current U.S. Pacific series was detonated Tuesday following an aerial drop near Christmas Island. The Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said it was in the intermediate range, meaning it had an explosive force of between 20,000 and 1 million tons of TNT.

Judge Indicted

Tax Count No. 2 Blow This Month

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—El Paso County Judge Woodrow Bean was indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday for failing to file income tax returns.

Bean, defeated June 2 in a runoff for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large, acknowledged during the campaign that he had not reported his income to the government. He said amounts withheld from his salary more than covered what he owed.

Asserting the income tax was unconstitutional, Bean said April 30 he had been unable to get federal authorities to file a test case.

The 44-year-old judge declined comment on indictments charging willful failure to file returns for 1956 through 1960 on total income of $53,296.58.

If convicted, Bean could receive one year in prison and $10,000 on each of five counts.

William E. Fowler, the revenue service, said April 26, in answer to queries, that his office had no record of Bean's filing an income tax return for 10 years.

8th Arrest Made

Quinlan said. Previously arrested was Raymond H. Stanton, 48, of 54 Jefferson Street, Poughkeepsie, who authorities say admitted 150 burglaries in the three counties which netted more than a half million dollars.

Stanton is held in $50,000 bail pending grand jury action.

Other Arrests

Also arrested on third degree burglary charges, accused of participating with Stanton in one burglary were Stanton's son, Raymond, 22, of 7 Montgomery Street, Poughkeepsie, and Frederick Marks, 54, of Sodom Road, Town of Clinton.

Others arrested on charges of receiving stolen goods were Vernon O. Baker, 51, Clintondale Road, Highland; Alfred E. Cooper, 35, of Chapel Hill Road, Town of Lloyd; Edward Von Haag, owner of the Churchvue Antique Shop, Freedom Plains, and his wife, Anna.

Cooper was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie Jr., Town of Esopus, and released on $2,500 bail to await grand jury action.

The Von Haags were released by Town of LaGrange Justice of the Peace John Neilson in $5,000 bail each.

Three in Jail

The Stantons and Marks are in Dutchess County jail in lieu of bail.

Sheriff Quinlan said today that more than $100,000 in loot allegedly stolen by the elder Stanton had been recovered by Dutchess and Ulster County sheriff's deputies.

Storage Room Needed

Quinlan told The Freeman that so much loot has been gathered up by investigators that "we are debating where we are going to keep it." He said it might be necessary to rent a building to keep the loot secured until it is eventually returned to the rightful owners after the case is concluded.

The sheriff complimented the Ulster County sheriff's staff and other police agencies who have cooperated with Dutchess authorities in the investigation which began about six mouths ago, when numerous burglaries were reported.

Ulster County Investigator Arthur Brown has been working with Sheriff Quinlan and his deputies the last five or six months, Quinlan said.

Laos Agreement

needed to remove their land from the cold war.

Declaring this could be the pivotal event "in the cause of strengthening peace in Southeast Asia," Khrushchev told Kennedy that the results in Laos "strengthen the conviction that success in solving other international problems which now divide states and create tension can be achieved on the same road as well."

Depends on Going Along

U.S. policymakers were well aware that the extent to which the cooperative venture succeeds in Laos depends on how far the Communists, who hold the stronger military position there, choose to go alon with it. Washington has been unwilling to commit forces directly in the small, distant, landlocked country, although Kennedy has stationed U.S. troops in neighboring Thailand.

W. Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, said that American troops in Thailand would not be withdrawn just because the Laos coalition has been formed. He said the U.S. military deployment is aimed at bolstering Western strength in all non-Communist Southeast Asian countries.

Important Step

As for the withdrawal of U.S. military advisers from Laos, Harriman said this would be done simultaneously with th pullout of non-Laotian Communist forces. U.S. strategists say a most important step in the Laos settlement is the proposed withdrawal of outside forces, estimated to include up to 10,000 North Vietnamese Reds.

Speaking in a television interview —ABC—News Final— Harriman said Khrushchev joined in supporting a coalition government for Laos partly because of a desire to check Red Chinese expansion southward.

Learning That Market Fluctuates Is Tough

Q—"I am 56 years old, debt free, blessed with good health, and have paid for and completely furnished three homes for my family. I have savings of $9,000 at 4 per cent interest compounded semiannually, $13,000 at 4¼ per cent quarterly, and my husband's pension of $350 per month. Why some people will jump into the market and then get panicky when the prices decline is beyond me. I think now is the time to buy a good stock for income. Any advice for me?" E. E.

—Let me congratulate you on the wise manner in which you have obviously managed your affairs. In all my years of dealing with investors, I have found that the toughest lesson for everyone to learn is that the stock market is never an one-way street. Stocks always fluctuate, and all too often, they fluctuate the wrong way. In your case, I suggest that you take a small part of your savings and buy 100 shares or Maytag (NYSE), a high-grade appliance maker which sells to yield well over 5 per cent.

Q—"I have two stocks which are acting badly—Allis-Chalmers and Diamond Alkalai. I'm a moderately conservative investor What do you advise?" R. M.

A—I consider your first stock Allis-Chalmers as an issue which investors generally should avoid. The anti-trust investigations pared share prices almost 50 per cent in 1960 and, following a brief run-up last year, the slide continued. Unless another dividend cut occurs—which is possible—I'd say that Allis-Chalmers has nearly bottomed out at current levels. I feel it will take a long time for the issue to regain any sizable market following and would shift my capital to an issue like Munsingwear where the dividend is liberal and well covered.

I regard your second stock Diamond Alkalai as a much sounder situation. Future appreciation will probably be slow, but over a period of time I think the shares will work out fairly well for you.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Rifleman . . .

Gun Discharges

The rifle discharged as Officer Barringer grabbed it. It had been fired at least three times before that, police said.

"I think I aged a bit in that brief experience," Officer Short said today. The rifle was aimed directly at him when Mayr warned all to stay back.

City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman today put the case over to Thursday to permit Mayr time to obtain counsel. Bail was not fixed this morning.

Police received a report at 7:26 p. m. that a man was discharging a rifle on Abeel Street.

Detectives Albert Hutton, Harold DeGraff, William Slover and Gurnsey Burger, along with the patrolmen were dispatched to the area.

Officer Short said the car in which he rode was driven around a block after Mayr was seen on a porch. It was first reported that shots were fired near 50 Abeel Street, and upon arrival of the officers Mayr walked over Abeel Street toward the bridge.

Had to Take Cover

Short and Coffey, the report said, were "forced to take cover," when Mayr shouted to them to get back or he would shoot to kill. They took cover behind a car. Barringer and Turck were in an area where they apparently had not been seen by Mayr, and Barringer moved up behind him at the bridge entrance and grappled the gun as quickly as possible.

Mayr did not say what bothered him, the officers said, but he indicated he had "personal problems."

Has Record

Mayr has a police record of some length mostly for such minor charges as public intoxication and disorderly conduct.

He was charged with disorderly conduct on Feb. 27, 1955 after a call to the Rondout Creek Bridge. A report to the police then indicated that a man had been climbing on the superstructure of the span.

The arrest Tuesday on the first degree assault charge was by Officer Short, and that for the firing of the rifle was by Officer Barringer.

Auburn-haired Pat Lynn Hackett, a singer, and blonde Patty Joyce, who described herself as an exotic dancer, testified they had fought employer pressures to serve as B-girls. Both are from Philadelphia.

Police Inspector Frank Rizzo of Philadelphia, testified Miss Joyce hadn't even told half the story of B-girls' missions to fleece "visiting firemen." He said the Philadelphia police in two years have closed clip joints by systematically raiding and harassing them.

Rizzo testified angrily that this was achieved despite harassment of his men by club owners' lawyers, the Philadelphia branch of the American Civil Liberties Union, some frustrating efforts to lift offending clubs' liquor licenses, criticism from the courts, and less than enthusiastic support from the Philadelphia citizenry.

Reds Happy, West Cautious

The communist bloc hailed the Laotian agreement as a victory for the Pathet Lao and a step toward peace in unsettled Southeast Asia. The West took a cautious approach.

The U.S. State Department said the Laotian agreement still leaves "a lot of big, fat question marks." Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the resumption of U.S. economic aid to Laos, cut off to pressure the rightists into the coalition, would depend on whether the new government succeeds in making Laos truly neutral and independent.

Other U.S. allies looked upon the new Laotian government with less than enthusiasm.

Mary Stuart Says:

Trick in Serial Acting Is to Be Real to Viewers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—For the past 11 years, actress Mary Stuart has been learning 15 pages of dialogue a day five days a week, rehearsing all morning and acting for 15 minutes—live—in CBS' mid-day serial, "Search for Tomorrow."

As Mrs. Arthur Tate, wife, mother and solid citizen, she has suffered mightily—even gone on trial for murder (the normal lot of any soap-opera heroine).

In exchange, Miss Stuart receives a big, regular salary check and is constantly showered with home-made aprons and pot-holders from affectionate viewers.

But the professional life of the performer in the day-time serial, despite many advantages, does not have quite the status and professional chic of the prime-time actors. Therefore, Miss Stuart was especially gratified when, last month, she was nominated as one of the five candidates for a television "Emmy" in the category for best actress in a series.

She didn't win the statue—Shirley Booth did—but the recognition was immensely satisfying.

Miss Stuart, a native of Florida and in private life a wife and mother of two children aged 6 and 5, says that the trick in serial acting is to be real.

"These programs are difficult to write and to act," she reflected. "You must be the woman next door to the audience. And because they can see you—their imagination is not called into play—you can't get into the sophisticated type of thing you could do in radio."

Mort Sahl certainly achieved a slow start on his stint as this week's "Tonight Show" host.

Sahl's usual patter — that odd combination of introspective psychiatric jargon and swipes at politicians and world leaders—does not come off too well in a setting for conversation.

On Monday night, the program was almost completely turned over to extremely stuffy and single-minded men—a magazine publisher and a movie producer—interested only in plugging their products.

Recommended tonight: "Mystery Theatre," NBC, 9-10—first of a series of thrillers which will be Perry Como's summer replacement, this called "Close Pursuit" with Jan Sterling and Beverly Garland; Steel Hour, CBS, 10-11 — "You Can't Escape," live drama with Mark ("Cain's Hundred") Richman and Alice Ghostley.

Don't Take Fawns Home, State Says

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Those little fawns abounding in New York State forests make appealing pets but don't take one home, says the State Conservation Department.

"A full-grown buck in the fall of the year that has lost its instinctive fear of man is a dangerous and unpredictable animal," C. W. Severinghaus, the department's supervising wildlife biologist says.

Furthermore, it's a violation of the conservation law to possess a deer or any other protected wild animal.

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—For the past 11 years, actress Mary Stuart has been learning 15 pages of dialogue a day five days a week, rehearsing all morning and acting for 15 minutes—live—in CBS' mid-day serial, "Search for Tomorrow."

As Mrs. Arthur Tate, wife, mother and solid citizen, she has suffered mightily—even gone on trial for murder (the normal lot of any soap-opera heroine).

In exchange, Miss Stuart receives a big, regular salary check and is constantly showered with home-made aprons and pot-holders from affectionate viewers.

But the professional life of the performer in the day-time serial, despite many advantages, does not have quite the status and professional chic of the prime-time actors. Therefore, Miss Stuart was especially gratified when, last month, she was nominated as one of the five candidates for a television "Emmy" in the category for best actress in a series.

She didn't win the statue—Shirley Booth did—but the recognition was immensely satisfying.

Miss Stuart, a native of Florida and in private life a wife and mother of two children aged 6 and 5, says that the trick in serial acting is to be real.

"These programs are difficult to write and to act," she reflected. "You must be the woman next door to the audience. And because they can see you—their imagination is not called into play—you can't get into the sophisticated type of thing you could do in radio."

Mort Sahl certainly achieved a slow start on his stint as this week's "Tonight Show" host.

Sahl's usual patter — that odd combination of introspective psychiatric jargon and swipes at politicians and world leaders—does not come off too well in a setting for conversation.

On Monday night, the program was almost completely turned over to extremely stuffy and single-minded men—a magazine publisher and a movie producer—interested only in plugging their products.

Recommended tonight: "Mystery Theatre," NBC, 9-10—first of a series of thrillers which will be Perry Como's summer replacement, this called "Close Pursuit" with Jan Sterling and Beverly Garland; Steel Hour, CBS, 10-11 — "You Can't Escape," live drama with Mark ("Cain's Hundred") Richman and Alice Ghostley.

Germantown Man Killed

LIVINGSTON, N.Y. (AP) — Joseph Titz, 57, of Germantown, was killed Tuesday when the pickup truck he was driving left a road near this Columbia County community and overturned.

Don't Take Fawns Home, State Says

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Those little fawns abounding in New York State forests make appealing pets but don't take one home, says the State Conservation Department.

"A full-grown buck in the fall of the year that has lost its instinctive fear of man is a dangerous and unpredictable animal," C. W. Severinghaus, the department's supervising wildlife biologist says.

Furthermore, it's a violation of the conservation law to possess a deer or any other protected wild animal.

Executive Dies; No Love Affair, Secretary Claims

NEW YORK (AP)—Taylor S. Gay, $90,000-a-year oil company executive, has died of a bullet wound inflicted by the strict and protective brother of his spinster secretary whom he had been dating.

"This was no love affair," moaned the secretary, Mary Mullooly, 42, who has walked with a limp since childhood. "The most I ever did was kiss him on occasion."

"Our relationship was only a platonic friendship," she said when word came that Gay, 55, had died Tuesday at Beekman-Downtown Hospital 20 hours after he was shot.

Gay's wife, Berta, 45, from whom he had been legally separated for five years, said just before he died: "They tell me that there's not very much to hope but I'm praying for him. As for his relationship with Miss Mullooly, there is no relationship.

"Taylor Gay isn't that kind of man. He's always been a very chivalrous man. So he took a girl out to dinner—is that so terrible?"

Miss Mullooly's brother James —41 years old, 6 feet 4 and 260 pounds—has been quoted by police as saying: "The man needed killing. I took it upon myself. I'm a religious man. I didn't like the idea of a married man going around with my sister."

Miss Mullooly told newsmen about her life with her father who was a strict disciplinarian and with her brother who took over after the father died.

Gay, a vice president of the Phillips Petroleum Co. and head of its New York operations, was on the operating table at the hospital for five hours but doctors were unable to remove the .25-caliber bullet from his stomach. He was given 43 pints of blood.

His wife and their daughter, Georgeanne, 19, who live in Manhasset on Long Island, were at the hospital when he died.

Buried in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The remains of explorer George Rogers Clark, who died in 1818, aer in Cave Hill Cemetery at Louisville.

Clark originally was buried at Locust Grove near Louisville, but citizens moved his remains 51 years after his death. They opened and closed nine graves before locating that of the colonel. Identity was made from military buttons and the fact that the remains had only one leg.

Pennsylvania Men Killed in Crash

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—Two men were killed early today when the automobile in which they were riding left an Oswego County road five miles east of here and overturned.

They were Daniel J. McCort Jr., 21, of Verona, Pa., and Dennis L. Lasko, 20, of Sarver, Pa. Both were thrown from the car.

Coin Club Show

Bibical Coins Show Thrift of Jewish People

(The following is another in a series of articles on coins to be displayed at the Mid-Hudson Numismatic Coin Jamboree Saturday and Sunday at the Hotel Stuyvesant. Among coins of the Bible to be displayed is a fine example of the "widow's mite.")

The Jews, as a race were generally poor, thus they learned thrift and to aid those of their own religion who were destitute. One historical proof is that the Jews never minded gold coinage. Any gold used was probably of Greek, Seleucid (Syrian), Roman or Persian coinage.

In Matthew 2:11—"And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his Mother, and fell down and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense and myrrh."

This gold was probably Roman coinage such as Aureus of Julius Caesar or Augustus Caesar. An Aureus was worth 20 Denarii.

Herod I (the Great) 37-4 B. C. was ruler of Galilee at 25 (63 B. C.), given Coele-Syria in 46 B. C. and after the death of Julius Caesar in 44 B. C., Antony and Octavian (later Augustus) decreed him king of Judea. In 28 B. C., supporting Augustus, he was also given rule over Trachonitis, Auranitis and Batanea. Although Herod I had a total of 10 wives and was known to be guilty of at least 20 murders, he built Judea into a relatively rich kingdom. The Romans allowed him to issue coins. He was the first to use only Greek inscriptions on Jewish coinage, such as his lepton (a bronze coin).

In St. Mark 12:42 "and there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a farthing." This was probably a lepton of one of the first four Procurators of Judea (6-26 A.D.), Coponius (6-9 A.D.), Marcus Ambibulus (9-12 A.D.), Annius Rufus (12-15 A.D.), or Valerius Gratus (15-26 A. D.). These rulers, appointed by Caesar were followed by Pontius Pilate. Pilate also minted leptons, the first in 26 A.D., the last in 36 A.D., just before he was removed from office because of complaints by the Samaritan. A lepton was the smallest coin in use in Judea.

Herod Antipas (4 B.C.-40 A.D.), son of Herod the Great was ruler when, St. Mark 12:13-12-17 — "and Jesus answering said unto them, Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's." He was speaking here of a lepton of Herod Antipas.

When Judas betrayed Jesus, Matthew 26:15 — "and said unto them, what will ye give me, and I will deliver him unto you? Any they convenanted with him for thirty pieces of silver," the silver was of non-Jewish origin. They were Shekels of Tyre, Tetradachm of Philadephus or Tetradrachm of Ptolemy, or a combination of these.

Representative coins of each of these incidents and periods are held by collectors in the Kingston area. Several will be on display during the Mid-Hudson Numismatic Coin Jamboree, Saturday and Sunday at the Stuyvesant Hotel, Kingston.

The Mid-Hudson Numismatic Club meets the first and third Thursday of each month in the basement of the Saugerties Savings Bank at 8 p. m. Visitors may attend.

Court Clears Way For Trial of 5 In Resnick Death

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — An Arizona Supreme Court appeal out of the way, the trial of five men in the murder of Sam L. Resnick is to open Thursday.

The high court cleared the way for its start by ruling Tuesday that 19-year-old Clemmie Jackson must stand trial with four of his friends on a charge of first-degree murder.

The five, all Phoenix area Negroes, are accused in the March 1 strangulation of Resnick, a 61-year-old retired jeweler from Albany, N.Y.

They claim he hired them to kill him because he was suffering from incurable cancer.

Officers said Clemmie Jackson did not take part in the slaying, but set up the crime.

Accused as the killers are Jackson's 21-year-old brother, R. E. Jackson; John Henry Lewis Jones, 21; Ernest Spurlock, 20, and Jessie Tillis, 19.

Attorneys for Clemmie Jackson had asked the high court to free him from the first-degree charge because he had not taken part in the killing.

State Capitol Is Full of Glamor Inside and Out

By GERRY McLAUGHLIN

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—From its famed million-dollar staircase to its east and west parks, the state's massive Capitol is exuding new glamor of late.

The beauty treatment for the stone structure built in the late 1800s began about two years ago and promises to continue.

To view some of the new touches, a visitor should begin near the top, above the million-ollar staircase. That is where workers wiped away the black paint from the dome-shaped skylight and sprayed it with gold paint.

The black paint had remained long after blackouts ended with the Japanese surrender in World War II.

Bright Outside Too

Outside the building, too, the accent is on brightness. Floodlights illuminate the Capitol at night. In the daytime, the park's new circular flower garden offers a riot of floral color.

Contractors created the garden for about $2,500, placing it a few yards from the bottom of the long, granite steps.

Woekmen cleared away dead and falling trees and replaced them with 70 sturdy, London plane trees. Officials say that, if the new trees thrive, others will be planted next year, between the Capitol and the towering State Office Building.

And there are other ideas for beautifying the west side of the Capitol, according to General Cortland Van Rensselaer Schuyler, head of the Office of General Services.

Under consideration are proposals for a flower garden and a reflecting pool with two small fountains. The pool and fountains would be lighted at night.

Seats for Visitors

For the present, the state has added 36 new benches to the Capitol park to allow visitors to enjoy the available beauty.

Inside the Capitol, the corridors offer other new attractions.

About 30 co-eds and a few male students from the State University College of Education now lead visiting groups on tours through the building.

"They use their teacher training to good advantage," says one official. "their talks to visitors are judicious mixture of architectural lore and facts about the day-to-day workings of government."

Inevitably, an occasional male wolf joins the crowd. And he usually wants more than the regular quota of information.

But the answer concerning the girls and the historic treasures is the same:

You can look, brother, but that's all.

3 Groups Name New Officers At Conference

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — New slates of officers have been chosen by the State Health Officers' Association, the State Academy of Preventative Medicine, and the State Conference of County, City and District Health Officers.

They were named Tuesday at the 58th Annual State Health Conference.

Academy of Preventative Medicine—President, Dr. William R. Donovan of White Plains, succeeding Dr. Marvin Amdur of Buffalo; president-elect, Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham of Albany; vice president, Dr. Milton Tully of Hornell; secretary-treasurer, Dr. Walter Levy of Albany.

County, City and District Health Officers — Chairman, Dr. Milton Tully of Hornell, succeeding Dr. George James of New York City; chairman-elect, Dr. Joseph Rudmin of Peru; secretary-treasurer, Dr. Robert Whelan of Albany.

The three-day conference concluded today.

A MALL FOR ALL—Scheduled for completion in September, 1962, is a nine-block-long pedestrian mall in the heart of Pomona, Calif., shown in architect's drawing above. It's part of a 10-year renaissance of the city and the surrounding Pomona Valley area. Cars, banned from the mall, will be handled in off-street parking lots. New buildings and shops will line the mall, which will be decorated with trees and five fountain pools. Financing is almost entirely from private sources. Pomona expects a half-million population by 1980.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Walter F. Geroldsek, of 127 Emerson Street, this city, a collector and dealer in rare old prints, maps, books, especially of this section showed me several interesting items. He has a Kingston and Rondout Directory of 1858 which he uses for his own research, which has been mentioned several times here. He has The Home County Magazine of February, 1924, which has articles and illustrations of the Mary Powell. He had several other copies and each issue seems to cover a different subject. I have never seen this magazine before. He thought they came out for a while in the 1920's. He has many old maps and pictures of this locality and it is surprising in what good condition they are.

I received a letter dated May 18, 1962 from Alan G. Eisen of Ruder and Finn of New York City which reads in part: "I have enjoyed reading your column in the Daily Freeman. From what I can find out around town, you seem to be the semi-official historian. As public relations people for Electrol, Inc., of 85 Grand Street, Kingston, we are most interested in finding out all we can —about the apparently ancient building in which the company is presently housed."

Mr. Eisen continues, "We know, for instance, that the Emerson Motor Car was manufactured there a long time ago. Subsequent to that, a John K. Lenke established the Apollo Magneto Co. which manufactured heavy duty magnetos and an early version of the variable pitch airplane propellor." He further writes that he understood that Mr. Lenke sublet some of the Grand Street space to L. Barth and Son, a New York manufacturer of hotel equipment. Electrol itself, he felt, was founded during World War II in the same building.

It was his understanding that the building was in use prior to the Emerson Motor Car period and wanted to know if I could find anything about the building and its prior occupants. I found in a write-up of prominent men and women of 1892 that the Peckham Motor Truck and Wheel Co. was at Ten Broeck Avenue and Grand Street. In 1902 I found Edgar Peckham lived at the Huntington and was connected with the plant which manufactured Peckham's Patent non-oscillating Motor Trucks, Peckham's Patent Interchangeable motor wheels, Peckham's patent fibrous Steel Motor Axles, with a general office at No. 45 Broadway, New York City, and works at Kingston, New York. The company was formed in 1889.

According to the Kingston Freeman and Journal of Tuesday, May 31, 1910, it was a big day for the officers and capitalists interested in the new W. A. Wood Automobile Manufacturing Co., came here because of the opening of the new automobile works in the Peckham plant and they expected Kingston to become a center for a gigantic industry, with many other factories making accessories settling around it. "Officers of the W. A. Wood Manufacturing Co. were well pleased with Kingston. Its commanding situation and nearness to New York and Albany, and the fact that they came to Kingston without any bonus is the highest recommendation Kingston can receive."

They brought models, one of a high grade touring car, also a truck. A model was used to bring some of the directors of the company to Kingston, and although it had only a temporary body, it developed a speed of 72 miles an hour without effort." They also said, Mr. Halford, Mr. Donaldson and the driver came to Kingston in the large four ton truck, and were delighted at the ease and speed with which it ran between New York and Rhinecliff. Perhaps readers can add to this information.

Bank Falls Short On Merger Votes

LAKE GEORGE, N.Y. (AP)—The First Natonal Bank of Lake George was unable to muster the necessary two-thirds vote of its stockholders for a merger with the State Bank of Albany.

The vote Tuesday was 1,632 in favor to 141 opposed. A two-thirds majority is 2,000.

Many stockholders did not vote.

Under the proposal, shareholders of the Lake George bank would receive 2⅝ shares of the capital stocks of the Albany bank for each of their shares.

Stockholders of the Albany bank had not voted on the proposed merger.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Business and government are joining forces to seek ways to halt the outflow of gold from the U.S. Treasury.

But even as they are trying to find a common cause after many weeks of bickering on other problems, foreign traders in the metal were expressing skepticism by raising the price of gold again on the London free market.

The price Tuesday morning jumped to $35.1⅛ an ounce, compared with $35.09⅞ Friday and $35.08⅞ a week ago. The U.S. Treasury's official price is $35 plus about eight cents in charges.

Buyers Not Named

The premium gold now commands in the free market reflects outsiders' judgment of the difficulty of the task the U.S. government and a group of top businessmen face in seeking to strengthen the dollar and halt the gold outflow.

Buyers of gold in London were not named. But since the U.S. Treasury and the Federal Reserve System have been working closely with foreign central banks in recent months to stabilize the price of gold, and build bulwarks against any run on the non-Communist world's principal currencies, much of the gold buying presumably is by speculators or other traders than the central banks themselves.

The London free market handles newly mined gold as well as any metal which the banks may wish to sell or buy at any particular time, and any metal which hoarders may want to unload or acquire.

Traced to Uneasiness

The steady rise in recent days of the dollar price for gold in London has been variously attributed to foreign uneasiness about the state of the U.S. economy after the stock market break, or fears of prolonged Treasury deficits which they feel might mean more inflation with a corresponding weakening of the marketplace value of the dollar, or belief that American attempts to solve its balance of payments deficit will be unavailing or only partially successful.

It is this deficit which the businessmen group is studying. It is headed by Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel chairman, and includes such leaders as Henry C. Alexander, chairman of Morgan Guaranty Trust, New York, who favors freeing the dollar from gold reserves altogether; Crawford H. Greenewalt, Du Pont president; and Thomas J. Watson Jr., president of International Business Machines.

The gold problem stems from the balance of payments deficit. For several years the United States has been spending more dollars abroad for imports, foreign aid, military bases, travel and private investments than it has been getting back by sale of its exports and by returns on its foreign investments.

Crippling Run Unlikely

As these surplus dollars build up in foreign central banks, some are being turned into the U.S. Treasury for gold. The reserve is now at a 22-year low of $16.4 billion. Dollar reserves of foreigners and their investments in U.S. resources and companies come to more than that. Theoretically American gold reserves face this potential threat, although practical measures make any really crippling run on Ft. Knox all but impossible.

The balance of payments deficit continues, however, although this year running below last year's drain of $2.5 billion, and deficits in previous years as high as $4 billion.

Girl Drowns in Pool

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—A five-year-old girl drowned Tuesday night when she fell into a neighbor's swimming pool while reaching for a plastic ball floating on the water.

The girl, Cindy Bracey, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bracey.

Shell dealers suggest
15 ways to make your car last longer

Shell scientists dedicate their working lives to the care and feeding of automobiles.

They can offer dozens of tips on prolonging the life of what is probably your second biggest investment. Here are some useful samples:

1. Learn to read tail pipe smoke signals. Blue smoke means too much oil is getting into the combustion chambers. Your piston rings may be worn.

Black smoke is an indication of too much gasoline in the air-fuel mixture. Your carburetor may need an adjustment.

White smoke is mostly water vapor. Don't worry about it.

2. Check wheel alignment at least twice a year. An out-of-line wheel can increase tire wear as much as 50 percent. Also, keep your wheels balanced. An unbalanced wheel pounds the tire against the pavement, wearing the tread unevenly.

3. Rotate tires every 6,000 miles. Be sure to include your spare. This helps tires wear evenly, last longer. Your Shell dealer can take care of this for you.

4. Avoid high speeds and save your tires. High speeds increase tire wear drastically —by as much as 80% over normal wear.

5. Use your engine to save your brake linings. Try to avoid hard, sudden braking. When you see you'll have to slow down, take your foot off the accelerator early and let the engine's compression do some of the job.

6. Warm up slowly. Racing an engine to warm it up ages it fast. A short warm-up at moderate speed is good for your car even in summer. But never race your cold engine to warm up. It may damage critical working parts before lubrication can be fully established.

7. Have your engine's spark timing set to proper specifications. Spark timing determines whether your plugs fire at the right instant. With incorrect timing, you can lose power and mileage. Also, your car may knock. And chronic knocking can damage your engine.

8. Use a gasoline that controls knock. If your engine persists in knocking, you may need a gasoline with more anti-knock components, for a higher octane rating.

Super Shell contains all of the anti-knock ingredients required to help your car deliver knock-free performance.

9. Have your oil checked whenever you fill up with gasoline. Oil does not wear out. But it can be lost through leaks or burning. And it does get dirty. Worse yet, oil can become contaminated by combustion by-products—including acid.

Suggestion: use new Shell X-100® Premium Motor Oil. It fights engine acid and four other troubles that can shorten engine life.

10. Change your oil filter element regularly. The filter is designed to catch and hold foreign particles so they can't get into your engine. Replacing the filter element at regular intervals helps your engine last longer.

11. Have your car's cooling system checked in spring and fall. Cooling system rust inhibitors can wear out. Rust, corrosion and sediment may then start to form. In the spring, let your Shell dealer inspect your entire cooling system. When he drains and refills, he'll add a special Cooling System Protector.

In the fall, you get a free cooling system inspection when you have Shellzone anti-freeze put in by your Shell dealer.

12. Get a lubrication job regularly. Dirt and moisture can work into chassis joints and bushings, causing friction and wear. Grease can also eventually pound out, leaving the parts unprotected.

Shellubrication at regular intervals helps protect those vital parts.

13. Keep door and body panel drain holes clear to foil rust. There are little drain holes at the bottom of body panels and doors. They can get clogged so that the panels actually hold water. Result: Rust forms more easily, can eat through the metal. Make sure drain holes are clear.

14. "Bandage" minor scratches in your car's finish. Until you can have the scratches refinished, keep rust from forming with a coat of touch-up paint or a strip of cellulose tape.

15. Let your Shell dealer help your car last longer. Your car may have cost you thousands of dollars. Treat it carefully. Feed it well. Let your Shell dealer help you on both counts. You will save money —and increase your driving pleasure, too.

State Capitol Is Full of Glamor Inside and Out

By GERRY McLAUGHLIN

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—From its famed million-dollar staircase to its east and west parks, the state's massive Capitol is exuding new glamor of late.

The beauty treatment for the stone structure built in the late 1800s began about two years ago and promises to continue.

To view some of the new touches, a visitor should begin near the top, above the million-dollar staircase. That is where workers wiped away the black paint from the dome-shaped skylight and sprayed it with gold paint.

The black paint had remained long after blackouts ended with the Japanese surrender in World War II.

Bright Outside Too

Outside the building, too, the accent is on brightness. Floodlights illuminate the Capitol at night. In the daytime, the park's new circular flower garden offers a riot of floral color.

Contractors created the garden for about $2,500, placing it a few yards from the bottom of the long, granite steps.

Workmen cleared away dead and falling trees and replaced them with 70 sturdy, London plane trees. Officials say that, if the new trees thrive, others will be planted next year, between the Capitol and the towering State Office Building.

And there are other ideas for beautifying the west side of the Capitol, according to General Cortland Van Rensselaer Schuyler, head of the Office of General Services.

Under consideration are proposals for a flower garden and a reflecting pool with two small fountains. The pool and fountains would be lighted at night.

Seats for Visitors

For the present, the state has added 36 new benches to the Capitol park to allow visitors to enjoy the available beauty.

Inside the Capitol, the corridors offer other new attractions.

About 30 co-eds and a few male students from the State University College of Education now lead visiting groups on tours through the building.

"They use their teacher training to good advantage," says one official. "their talks to visitors are judicious mixture of architectural lore and facts about the day-to-day workings of government."

Inevitably, an occasional male wolf joins the crowd. And he usually wants more than the regular quota of information.

But the answer concerning the girls and the historic treasures is the same:

You can look, brother, but that's all.

3 Groups Name New Officers At Conference

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — New slates of officers have been chosen by the State Health Officers' Association, the State Academy of Preventative Medicine, and the State Conference of County, City and District Health Officers.

They were named Tuesday at the 58th Annual State Health Conference.

Academy of Preventative Medicine—President, Dr. William R. Donovan of White Plains, succeeding Dr. Marvin Amdur of Buffalo; president-elect, Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham of Albany; vice president, Dr. Milton Tully of Hornell; secretary-treasurer, Dr. Walter Levy of Albany.

County, City and District Health Officers — Chairman, Dr. Milton Tully of Hornell, succeeding Dr. George James of New York City; chairman-elect, Dr. Joseph Rudmin of Peru; secretary-treasurer, Dr. Robert Whelan of Albany.

The three-day conference concluded today.

A MALL FOR ALL—Scheduled for completion in September, 1962, is a nine-block-long pedestrian mall in the heart of Pomona, Calif., shown in architect's drawing above. It's part of a 10-year renaissance of the city and the surrounding Pomona Valley area. Cars, banned from the mall, will be handled in off-street parking lots. New buildings and shops will line the mall, which will be decorated with trees and five fountain pools. Financing is almost entirely from private sources. Pomona expects a half-million population by 1980.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Walter F. Geroldsek, of 127 Emerson Street, this city, a collector and dealer in rare old prints, maps, books, especially of this section showed me several interesting items. He has a Kingston and Rondout Directory of 1858 which he uses for his own research, which has been mentioned several times here. He has The Home County Magazine of February, 1924, which has articles and illustrations of the Mary Powell. He had several other copies and each issue seems to cover a different subject. I have never seen this magazine before. He thought they came out for a while in the 1920's. He has many old maps and pictures of this locality and it is surprising in what good condition they are.

I received a letter dated May 18, 1962 from Alan G. Eisen of Ruder and Finn of New York City which reads in part: "I have enjoyed reading your column in the Daily Freeman. From what I can find out around town, you seem to be the semi-official historian. As public relations people for Electrol, Inc., of 85 Grand Street, Kingston, we are most interested in finding out all we can —about the apparently ancient building in which the company is presently housed."

Mr. Eisen continues, "We know, for instance, that the Emerson Motor Car was manufactured there a long time ago. Subsequent to that, a John K. Lenke established the Apollo Magneto Co. which manufactured heavy duty magnetos and an early version of the variable pitch airplane propellor." He further writes that he understood that Mr. Lenke sublet some of the Grand Street space to L. Barth and Son, a New York manufacturer of hotel equipment. Electrol itself, he felt, was founded during World War II in the same building.

It was his understanding that the building was in use prior to the Emerson Motor Car period and wanted to know if I could find anything about the building and its prior occupants. I found in a write-up of prominent men and women of 1892 that the Peckham Motor Truck and Wheel Co. was at Ten Broeck Avenue and Grand Street. In 1902 I found Edgar Peckham lived at the Huntington and was connected with the plant which manufactured Peckham's Patent non-oscillating Motor Trucks, Peckham's Patent Interchangeable motor wheels, Peckham's patent fibrous Steel Motor Axles, with a general office at No. 45 Broadway, New York City, and works at Kingston, New York. The company was formed in 1889.

According to the Kingston Freeman and Journal of Tuesday, May 31, 1910, it was a big day for the officers and capitalists interested in the new W. A. Wood Automobile Manufacturing Co., came here because of the opening of the new automobile works in the Peckham plant and they expected Kingston to become a center for a gigantic industry, with many other factories making accessories settling around it. "Officers of the W. A. Wood Manufacturing Co. were well pleased with Kingston. Its commanding situation and nearness to New York and Albany, and the fact that they came to Kingston without any bonus is the highest recommendation Kingston can receive."

They brought models, one of a high grade touring car, also a truck. A model was used to bring some of the directors of the company to Kingston, and although it had only a temporary body, it developed a speed of 72 miles an hour without effort." They also said, Mr. Halford, Mr. Donaldson and the driver came to Kingston in the large four ton truck, and were delighted at the ease and speed with which it ran between New York and Rhinecliff. Perhaps readers can add to this information.

Bank Falls Short On Merger Votes

LAKE GEORGE, N.Y. (AP)—The First Natonal Bank of Lake George was unable to muster the necessary two-thirds vote of its stockholders for a merger with the State Bank of Albany.

The vote Tuesday was 1,632 in favor to 141 opposed. A two-thirds majority is 2,000.

Many stockholders did not vote.

Under the proposal, shareholders of the Lake George bank would receive 2⅝ shares of the capital stocks of the Albany bank for each of their shares.

Stockholders of the Albany bank had not voted on the proposed merger.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Business and government are joining forces to seek ways to halt the outflow of gold from the U.S. Treasury.

But even as they are trying to find a common cause after many weeks of bickering on other problems, foreign traders in the metal were expressing skepticism by raising the price of gold again on the London free market.

The price Tuesday morning jumped to $35.1⅛ an ounce, compared with $35.09⅞ Friday and $35.08⅞ a week ago. The U.S. Treasury's official price is $35 plus about eight cents in charges.

Buyers Not Named

The premium gold now commands in the free market reflects outsiders' judgment of the difficulty of the task the U.S. government and a group of top businessmen face in seeking to strengthen the dollar and halt the gold outflow.

Buyers of gold in London were not named. But since the U.S. Treasury and the Federal Reserve System have been working closely with foreign central banks in recent months to stabilize the price of gold, and build bulwarks against any run on the non-Communist world's principal currencies, much of the gold buying presumably is by speculators or other traders than the central banks themselves.

The London free market handles newly mined gold as well as any metal which the banks may wish to sell or buy at any particular time, and any metal which hoarders may want to unload or acquire.

Traced to Uneasiness

The steady rise in recent days of the dollar price for gold in London has been variously attributed to foreign uneasiness about the state of the U.S. economy after the stock market break, or fears of prolonged Treasury deficits which they feel might mean more inflation with a corresponding weakening of the marketplace value of the dollar, or belief that American attempts to solve its balance of payments deficit will be unavailing or only partially successful.

It is this deficit which the businessmen group is studying. It is headed by Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel chairman, and includes such leaders as Henry C. Alexander, chairman of Morgan Guaranty Trust, New York, who favors freeing the dollar from gold reserves altogether; Crawford H. Greenewalt, Du Pont president; and Thomas J. Watson Jr., president of International Business Machines.

The gold problem stems from the balance of payments deficit. For several years the United States has been spending more dollars abroad for imports, foreign aid, military bases, travel and private investments than it has been getting back by sale of its exports and by returns on its foreign investments.

Crippling Run Unlikely

As these surplus dollars build up in foreign central banks, some are being turned into the U.S. Treasury for gold. The reserve is now at a 22-year low of $16.4 billion. Dollar reserves of foreigners and their investments in U.S. resources and companies come to more than that. Theoretically American gold reserves face this potential threat, although practical measures make any really crippling run on Ft. Knox all but impossible.

The balance of payments deficit continues, however, although this year running below last year's drain of $2.5 billion, and deficits in previous years as high as $4 billion.

Shell dealers suggest
15 ways to make
your car last longer

Shell scientists dedicate their working lives to the care and feeding of automobiles.

They can offer dozens of tips on prolonging the life of what is probably your second biggest investment. Here are some useful samples:

1. Learn to read tail pipe smoke signals. Blue smoke means too much oil is getting into the combustion chambers. Your piston rings may be worn.

Black smoke is an indication of too much gasoline in the air-fuel mixture. Your carburetor may need an adjustment.

White smoke is mostly water vapor. Don't worry about it.

2. Check wheel alignment at least twice a year. An out-of-line wheel can increase tire wear as much as 50 percent. Also, keep your wheels balanced. An unbalanced wheel pounds the tire against the pavement, wearing the tread unevenly.

3. Rotate tires every 6,000 miles. Be sure to include your spare. This helps tires wear evenly, last longer. Your Shell dealer can take care of this for you.

4. Avoid high speeds and save your tires. High speeds increase tire wear drastically —by as much as 80% over normal wear.

5. Use your engine to save your brake linings. Try to avoid hard, sudden braking. When you see you'll have to slow down, take your foot off the accelerator early and let the engine's compression do some of the job.

6. Warm up slowly. Racing an engine to warm it up ages it fast. A short warm-up at moderate speed is good for your car even in summer. But never race your cold engine to warm up. It may damage critical working parts before lubrication can be fully established.

7. Have your engine's spark timing set to proper specifications. Spark timing determines whether your plugs fire at the right instant. With incorrect timing, you can lose power and mileage. Also, your car may knock. And chronic knocking can damage your engine.

8. Use a gasoline that controls knock. If your engine persists in knocking, you may need a gasoline with more anti-knock components, for a higher octane rating.

Super Shell contains all of the anti-knock ingredients required to help your car deliver knock-free performance.

9. Have your oil checked whenever you fill up with gasoline. Oil does not wear out. But it can be lost through leaks or burning. And it does get dirty. Worse yet, oil can become contaminated by combustion by-products—including acid.

Suggestion: use new Shell X-100® Premium Motor Oil. It fights engine acid and four other troubles that can shorten engine life.

10. Change your oil filter element regularly. The filter is designed to catch and hold foreign particles so they can't get into your engine. Replacing the filter element at regular intervals helps your engine last longer.

11. Have your car's cooling system checked in spring and fall. Cooling system rust inhibitors can wear out. Rust, corrosion and sediment may then start to form. In the spring, let your Shell dealer inspect your entire cooling system. When he drains and refills, he'll add a special Cooling System Protector.

In the fall, you get a free cooling system inspection when you have Shellzone anti-freeze put in by your Shell dealer.

12. Get a lubrication job regularly. Dirt and moisture can work into chassis joints and bushings, causing friction and wear. Grease can also eventually pound out, leaving the parts unprotected.

Shellubrication at regular intervals helps protect those vital parts.

13. Keep door and body panel drain holes clear to foil rust. There are little drain holes at the bottom of body panels and doors. They can get clogged so that the panels actually hold water. Result: Rust forms more easily, can eat through the metal. Make sure drain holes are clear.

14. "Bandage" minor scratches in your car's finish. Until you can have the scratches refinished, keep rust from forming with a coat of touch-up paint or a strip of cellulose tape.

15. Let your Shell dealer help your car last longer. Your car may have cost you thousands of dollars. Treat it carefully. Feed it well. Let your Shell dealer help you on both counts. You will save money —and increase your driving pleasure, too.

MM Firing Could Mean Tough Days For Film Stars

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Future historians may mark the firing of Marilyn Monroe as the turning point in the studios' relations with stars.

Offhand you might think that any studio that would fire Marilyn could be considered out of its corporate mind. But that happened last week when the famed blonde was handed a pink slip and a half-million-dollar suit for stalling "Something's Got to Give."

May Wind Up in Courts

Marilyn said she had been ill. The studio claimed her illness wasn't physical and it could no longer afford her phobia against punctuality.

The merits of each case remain to be thrashed out, perhaps in the courts. But trend-seekers may be able to draw this conclusion: the already-ailing movie industry cannot afford temperament any more.

Perhaps in other times 20th Century-Fox might have tried to ease Marilyn through the filming; it did so in "Let's Make Love."

But on another continent a movie titled "Cleopatra" was grinding out the company's dwindling millions. Faced with temperamental stars at two ends of its operation, something had to give.

Stars have been fired before. Distressed with Judy Garland's tardiness and tantrums, MGM summarily dismissed her from "Annie Get Your Gun." Betty Hutton got the job.

Such stern treatment of stars has disappeared in the past decade. The reasons are simple: all stars became free-lancers, independent of studio control. With studios failing to develop new talent, the established stars were more and more in demand and were given free rein.

This matter of giving stars free rein has hit some studios where it hurts — right in the profit column.

Some Have Been Bombs

The studios now can pause and wonder: "Are some stars worth all the trouble?

Some observers say stars are not that important. They point out that "The Last Sunset" with Kirk Douglas and Rock Hudson was a bomb. "The Misfits" with Monroe, Gable, Clift, etc., was also a dud. Names don't always sell.

On the other hand, some stars can be unique. No one could play Cleopatra better than Liz Taylor. No one is a more convincing sex-pot than Marilyn Monroe.

But faced with using unique stars and inviting bankruptcy, the studios may be forced to get along without them.

South ruffed in dummy and Silodor mentions that South did go into a really long huddle before playing to the next trick.

You can see that South was thinking about taking a first round trump finese and some really great player on one of his best days might actually have made this play.

Not this South. He finally decided that he would really look silly if West were to show up with the queen so South rose with a high spade and the hand went down.

Note that if West had shifted to either red suit South would have had a second trump in dummy and been able to take the finesse on the second round.

Rec Committee Will Assume Operation of Youth Center

In response to a special request, the following statement is printed verbatim as submitted to this column:

"The Woodstock Recreaiton Committee at its meeting on June 5 decided to formally accept all responsibility for the Woodstock Youth Center. Mrs. (Sara) Mulligan pressed for this decision on the grounds that a youth center is a town project and under our existing town-appointed, town-supported committees, the Recreation Committee was morally committed to embrace this teenage group and to help it function in the best possible manner.

"Having accepted an active role, the Recreation Committee announced that the Youth Center will open on October 1, and that they are now accepting applications from all persons interested in the position of director of the center. All applicants are asked to send a resume of qualifications to the Woodstock Recreation Committee, Town Hall, Woodstock, N. Y."

Bazaar Proceeds Make Possible Fire Projects

Noting with pride the many successful projects for protection of the citizens of Woodstock made possible by bazaars of the past, Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 points out that it is again nearing time for the annual bazaar. It will be a two-day affair, as usual, on June 29-30 at Andy Lee Memorial Field.

Past bazaars of Company No. 1 have been highly successful, thanks to the wonderful cooperation of the public. The company would like to realize this cooperation again this year to carry out its many worthwhile projects.

There are many projects that are necessary to make a volunteer fire company an efficient company that can give the public the best of service and protection whenever an emergency arises. The annual bazaar is the chief financial support of Fire Company No. 1's many projects.

One of the No. 1 projects was a Fire Call Number System. A map committee was formed to carry out this project. The members of committee spent many hours of their own time and money traveling to fire companies in other surrounding counties that had the fire number system to acquire valuable information and guidance. As a result of the various visits a good, basic plan was formulated in Woodstock.

Eliminates Errors

The purpose of the fire call number system is to eliminate errors in the reporting of emergencies by the public and the locating of such emergencies by the firemen. Each house would be assigned a fire call number to be used when reporting an emergency to the fire company. Master maps hanging in the fire house have every house in the fire district with the fire call number assigned to each house. There is also a card file system to correspond with the maps and numbers. This allows the firemen to respond to the emergency without loss of time.

Due to the formation of the new postal district in Woodstock, and the unavailability of the proper maps, there was a serious loss of time in getting this project underway. At this time, the map committee is ready to start assigning the Fire Call numbers to all of the houses outside of the Carrier Delivery Service of the Woodstock post office. Houses with street number addresses in the Carrier Zone will use their street and house number when reporting an emergency.

The real work on this project is about to begin and it is all accomplished by the volunteer firemen. There is also cost involved in the undertaking of this project and the many other projects carried out by Woodstock Fire Company No. 1, which has but one purpose in mind—how to give the public the most efficient service in time of any emergency.

That's why the annual bazaar of June 29-30 is of vital importance and merits the support of the public.

Onteora Faculty Heaps Honors on Mary B. Owens

Faculty members of the Onteora central building and the Bennett building at Boiceville recently presented Miss Mary B. Owens with a retirement gift expressing their sentiments and wishing Miss Owens many happy retirement years. The faculty gift to Miss Owens was a beautiful set of luggage and also a gift of money.

An informal retirement ceremony was also held for Miss Owens on Teacher Recognition Day, May 15, as part of a faculty reception held by the Board of Education and Onteora P-TA at the central building. Miss Owens was presented with a lifetime membership pin in the Onteora Teachers Association by Robert Washburn, president of the association, as a gift from the organization. He commended Miss Owens on her 44 years in the teaching profession, 31 of which were spent in what is now the Onteora district.

Mrs. Marie Kleine, retiring member of the Board of Education, also thanked Miss Owens for her many years of devoted service to the school and to her students.

In a letter to Miss Owens, in which he regretfully accepted her resignation, District Principal Dr. George R. Sullivan stated: "You are known to your fellow teachers as a wonderful, dependable teacher, not only because of your rapport with students but with other faculty members as well. I want you to know that I, for one, join with your fellow teachers in commending you for this service and wishing you many happy retirement years."

Methodists Set Rummage Sale

The Sacrament of Baptism was administered to James Gordon Logan last Sunday in the Overlook Methodist Church in Woodstock. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Logan of White Street, Woodstock.

New members were also received into the fellowship of the church. The following transferred their church membership to Overlook: Mr. and Mrs. Zeke Craig; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Friday, and their son, Robert Jr.; and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Goodrich.

The sermon topic for this Sunday is "Faith and Fathers." The text for the sermon is from Jeremiah 31:29. The worship hour is at 10 a. m. during the summer months. Sunday school is at 9 and 10 a. m. The 10 a. m. Sunday school hour is for beginners and kindergarten children, the earlier hour is for all above the kindergarten classes. A nursery is available during the worship service.

The MYF of the church will have its annual rummage sale this Saturday, June 16, from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. Clothes, old toys, books, records, games, and some baked goods will be on sale. The sale will be held in the church parking lot unless it rains, in which case the sale will be held in the church hall. The funds received from the items sold will be used in part for the Camping Fund for the MYFers. If anyone has rummage they would like to contribute please call Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Newman, or leave the rummage in the church hall. You may obtain the key to the church hall by calling at the parsonage at 122 Tinker Street.

Christian Science As Man's Preserver

How spiritual understanding of God brings freedom from weariness and fatigue will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in Woodstock.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" will include this verse from Isaiah (40): "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

The Golden Text is from Psalm 81: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."

Barbara Carlson Highest Scorer In Pony Project

Barbara Carlson posted the highest score in the second phase of the Woodstock Pony Club's Stable Inspection project which has just been completed. Nina Wilson and Kim Chalmers tied for honorable mention.

All three girls are from Woodstock. There are six more phases to be completed before the final winner will be decided.

On Sunday, June 16, at 12:30 noon, the Pony Club will hold a mounted rally on the grounds of the Woodstock Riding Club.

Charles Ashley, District Commissioner, has announced that Mrs. Paul Le Paige of Woodstock will head the Woodstock Pony Club drive to raise money. The funds will be used to obtain films and other educational material to help the Pony Club in its aim to produce a well-informed horseman or woman on a comfortable and happy pony. All donations are tax deductible.

Persons interested in making donations are asked to make all checks payable to the Woodstock Pony Club. Further information can be obtained by contacting Mrs. Paul LePaige of Woodstock or Charles Ashley of Kingston.

Earle Winslow of Woodstock is having a show of paintings at the Cochrane Studio and Art Gallery in Noroton Heights, Conn. The show opened June 2 and will run through June 30. This is Winslow's twelfth one-man show.

Christ Lutheran Plans Special Service Sunday

A special service led by the children and young adults of the Church School of Christ Lutheran Church, Woodstock, will be held Sunday, June 17, at 9:45 a. m.

Miss Julie Holumzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Holumzer of Woodstock, will lead the devotions and Kenneth Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peterson of Lake Hill, will lead in the reading of the Psalm selection. The children of the nursery department will offer a musical selection under the direction of the director, Mrs. Ronald Gray of West Hurley. Parents and friends are invited to attend this special service to become better acquainted with the staff and the program of the Church School.

A special offering will be received at this service, as well as at the church service at 11 a. m. These gifts are to be used to strengthen the financial base for the soon-to-be emerging Lutheran Church in America, comprising 3,200,000 members from four national Lutheran bodies, including the United Lutheran Church in America, of which Christ Lutheran in Woodstock is a member. Pastor Norman C. Krapf will preach on the topic: "The Meaning of the Merger."

At 3 p. m., the young people of the church, including the Confirmation classes of 1961 and 1962, will meet at the church. A filmstrip dealing with the youth program of the Lutheran Church will be shown and plans for the future will be formulated. Following the program, a period of recreation and refreshments will complete the day's activities.

Churchwomen Slate Meeting on June 20

The Churchwomen of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church of Woodstock will hold their June meeting on Wednesday, June 20, at the church. This is an especially important meeting as final plans for the church bazaar to be held July 14th will be presented, and all women of the parish are requested to be present.

Hold Baptism

On June 11, James Velde Heroyuki Uyeki, infant son of the Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Uyeki received the Sacrament of Holy Baptism from the Rev. Canon Edward N. West, Canon Sacrist of the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, New York, at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church in Woodstock.

The baby's sponsors were the Rev. Samuel W. Ishibashi of Piermont, N. Y., Garnett Biesel of Chicago and Miss Jean Dunstan Fay of Washington, D. C.

The baby's father is the vicar of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church.

Spanish women are said to use olive oil regularly on eyelashes to make them long and glossy.

DAVID L. PALMER, JR.

God and Country Award Presented To Troop 10 Boy

David L. Palmer Jr., a member of the Episcopal Church of Christ the King, in the Rondout Valley, and a Boy Scout of Troop 10, sponsored by Ulster Hose Co. No. 5, Town of Ulster, was honored Sunday, at services in his church.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Waltman of 75 Lucas Avenue, Kingston.

The Rev. David W. Arnold, priest in charge, bestowed upon David, the "God and Country" religious award.

The "God and Country" award, is the honor, presented to boy scouts, who have exemplified themselves, by living up to the scout oath and law, while being fervently reverend in their religious duties.

The qualified scout must have attained the rank of at least first class, and have worked for a year with his pastor on religious matters.

Success Story

LYNNFIELD, Mass. (AP) — John R. Zappala of Wakefield was a waiter at the Ship's Haven Restaurant six years ago.

He now heads a corporation that recently purchased the place for more than $250,000. Zappala is considered an expert in restaurant operation.

Summation Starts In Keogh Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—The government today begins summing up its case against a State Supreme Court justice, a former chief assistant U.S. attorney and a labor racketeer whom it charges with attempting to fix a federal court case.

The former federal attorney, Elliott Kahaner, was depicted by his defense attorney Tuesday as an honest man who is the victim of character assassins out to save their own necks.

In a 4-hour summation, defense attorney William M. Kleinman told a federal court jury:

"When devlish conspirators and thieves band together to save their own filthy skins, they are ready to crucify anybody."

Kahaner is on trial with State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh and labor racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo on charges of obstructing federal justice. If convicted, they could be sentenced to five years in prison.

Kahaner and Keogh are accused by the government of accepting a payoff of $35,000 to try to obtain leniency for Sanford Moore in a federal bankruptcy fraud case last year. Corallo is charged with helping raise the money.

Only one U.S. president was ever defeated for re-election and later won a second term: Grover Cleveland.

Hold Baptism

On June 11, James Velde Heroyuki Uyeki, infant son of the Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Uyeki received the Sacrament of Holy Baptism from the Rev. Canon Edward N. West, Canon Sacrist of the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, New York, at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church in Woodstock.

The baby's sponsors were the Rev. Samuel W. Ishibashi of Piermont, N. Y., Garnett Biesel of Chicago and Miss Jean Dunstan Fay of Washington, D. C.

The baby's father is the vicar of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church.

Spanish women are said to use olive oil regularly on eyelashes to make them long and glossy.

DAVID L. PALMER, JR.

God and Country Award Presented To Troop 10 Boy

David L. Palmer Jr., a member of the Episcopal Church of Christ the King, in the Rondout Valley, and a Boy Scout of Troop 10, sponsored by Ulster Hose Co. No. 5, Town of Ulster, was honored Sunday, at services in his church.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Waltman of 75 Lucas Avenue, Kingston.

The Rev. David W. Arnold, priest in charge, bestowed upon David, the "God and Country" religious award.

The "God and Country" award, is the honor, presented to boy scouts, who have exemplified themselves, by living up to the scout oath and law, while being fervently reverend in their religious duties.

The qualified scout must have attained the rank of at least first class, and have worked for a year with his pastor on religious matters.

Success Story

LYNNFIELD, Mass. (AP) — John R. Zappala of Wakefield was a waiter at the Ship's Haven Restaurant six years ago.

He now heads a corporation that recently purchased the place for more than $250,000. Zappala is considered an expert in restaurant operation.

Summation Starts In Keogh Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—The government today begins summing up its case against a State Supreme Court justice, a former chief assistant U.S. attorney and a labor racketeer whom it charges with attempting to fix a federal court case.

The former federal attorney, Elliott Kahaner, was depicted by his defense attorney Tuesday as an honest man who is the victim of character assassins out to save their own necks.

In a 4-hour summation, defense attorney William M. Kleinman told a federal court jury:

"When devlish conspirators and thieves band together to save their own filthy skins, they are ready to crucify anybody."

Kahaner is on trial with State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh and labor racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo on charges of obstructing federal justice. If convicted, they could be sentenced to five years in prison.

Kahaner and Keogh are accused by the government of accepting a payoff of $35,000 to try to obtain leniency for Sanford Moore in a federal bankruptcy fraud case last year. Corallo is charged with helping raise the money.

Only one U.S. president was ever defeated for re-election and later won a second term: Grover Cleveland.

DANCING WITH STRANGER AT RECEPTION

Q: My husband and I were invited to a golden wedding anniversary reception in honor of the parents of friends of ours. The reception was held at the country club and there was dancing. One of the male guests, who was a stranger to me, came over and asked me to dance and I accepted My husband was very perturbed over this and thinks I should have declined and that I was wrong to dance with a stranger. I claim that as it was a private party and we were all friends of the guests of honor, it was entirely proper to dance with him and in fact, it would have been very rude to refuse. May I have your opinion, please?

A: Unless the reception was a very large one, the rule that "the roof of a friend serves as an introduction," would indeed have made your dancing with the stranger entirely proper.

Introducing Her Remarried Mother

Q: My mother recently remarried and I am puzzled as to the correct way to introduce her. Our names are now different and I say, as I used to, "Mother, this is Jane Doe," then the friend will quite naturally suppose that my mother's name is the same as mine and call her by my name. Will you please tell me how to make this clear when introducing her?

A: Say, "My mother" (pause) and then add, "Mrs. Whatever-her-name."

Inviting Mother, Father and Daughter

Q: When addressing a wedding invitation to a man and wife and their unmarried daughter, is it proper to address the envelope to Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Daughter?

A: Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Daughter is not correct. If the daughter is grown, her name should be written as Miss Mary Smith underneath that of her parents. If she is very young, her name is included on the inside envelope.

When and how to introduce people seems to puzzle many. The new Emily Post Institute booket entitled "Introductions," gives helpful information on this subject. Exchanging Vows at St. Joseph's Church Were Marilyn Odell, Fernando Valderrama

MR. AND MRS. FERNANDO P. VALDERRAMA

Miss Marilyn Jean Odell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Augustine of 214 Hasbrouck Avenue, this city, exchanged marriage vows with Fernando Piney Valderrama of 10 Linderman Avenue, this city, on May 26 at 1 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church, Kingston. Officiating was the Rev. William Williams, assistant pastor.

The bridegroom is the son of Fernando Piney of 10 Linderman Avenue, this city, and Mrs. Amparo Valderrama of Cuba.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace and silk organza gown styled with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt accented with floral appliques. Her silk veil was shirred to a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Carol Augustine, the bride's sister, was the maid of honor. She wore a pink nylon dress styled with bouffant skirt, fitted bodice and worn with a lace jacket. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bridegroom's brother, Antonio Piney of Kingston, served as best man.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School with the class of 1959. She is employed at J. B. Back and Company, Wilbur. Her husband, who attended schools in Cuba, was employed by J. B. Back and Company and is now serving with the U. S. Army. He is stationed in Leonard Wood, Mo.

For her wedding trip to New York City, Mrs. Valderrama wore a pink dress with matching jacket and white accessories.

McCullough-Rittie Wedding Is Announced; Ceremony Takes Place at St. Coleman's

MR. AND MRS. FRANK D. RITTIE

Nuptial vows were exchanged on May 27 at St. Colman's Church, East Kingston by Mary Ann McCullough and Frank Daniel Rittie of East Kingston. Officiating was the Rev. Edmond Radford, pastor. Theodore Riccobono was organist and Martin Kelly, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCullough of East Kingston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rittie of East Kingston.

The church was decorated with vases of white gladioli and pompons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of embroidered Belgian lace over taffeta designed with a scalloped Sabrina neckline, fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a full skirt of cascading lace ruffles. A bouffant veil of French silk illusion was gathered to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a prayer book with white cymbidium orchids.

The bride's maid of honor was Joanne Castiglione, a cousin, and resident of Kingston. She wore a light pink gown with fitted bodice and full skirt in ballerina length. She carried a cascade of white daisies with pink majestic daisies.

Linda Guido, the bridegroom's cousin, and Julia Chick of Kingston were attendants. They wore light green gowns and carried cascades of pink daisies.

The flower girl was Judith Modeen of Port Ewen and the child ring bearer was Brian Rittie, the bridegroom's brother. Miss Modeen wore a ballerina length gown of light pink and carried a basket of pink and white daisies.

The bridegroom's cousin, Anthony Gallo of Kingston, was best man. Ushering were Thomas McCullough, the bride's brother, and Ronald Rittie, the bridegroom's brother.

A reception was given at The Capri for approximately 150 guests.

The bride and bridegroom are graduates of Kingston High School. Mrs. Rittie is employed by the Ulster County Infirmary and her husband is an employe of Pilgram Furniture Company.

They reside at 77 Pearl Street in Kingston.

Port Ewen Group Installs Officers At Final Meeting

The Port Ewen Parent-Teacher Association held its final meeting of the school year last week in the school auditorium.

John O'Leary, a guidance director from the Myron J. Michael School explained the program at the junior high school level. He said that there are four different groupings but that they are flexible and students whose abilities change may enter another group. O'Leary also said that the most difficult adjustment for those entering seventh grade is the changing of classrooms and teachers but that most students make the adjustment in two or three weeks.

Business meeting and installation of officers was held following the address.

The P-TA recently donated $30 to the school for the purchase of library books and contributed $25 toward the sixth grade trip to New York City. Members were requested to assist in contacting parents who might be interested in helping with Cub Pack 26.

Officers installed were Mrs. Helen Oberkirch, president of P-TA Council; Mrs. Rudy Firmbach, president; Mrs. Thomas Farrell, vice president; Miss Marie Sasso, treasurer; Mrs. William Rook, recording secretary and Mrs. William Webster, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. William Granitto will again serve as chairman of the ways and means committee. Mrs. Farrell, Miss Elaine Schwartz and Mrs. Harry Hults will be delegates to the P-TA Council with Robert Corcoran, alternate. Mrs. Oberkirch will be representative to the board of education.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Frederick Kirk and committee.

Dental Clinic Series Slated for 18th, 19th

Dr. E. Franklin Hall, commissioner of health of Ulster County, announces a series of dental clinics for pre-school children, ages four and five, which will be conducted at the Ulster Hose Co., No. 5, Albany Avenue Extension on Monday and Tuesday, June 18 and 19.

Children participating in these clinics will have their teeth inspected and cleaned and will have an opportunity to participate in the program of decay prevention.

The children will be able to see dental equipment and have a chance to learn and understand the importance of dental health. In this way, they will become interested and look forward to future visits to the dentist.

Appointments for those interested may be made by calling the Ulster County Health Department, 15 Main Street.

Whitman-Focht Wedding Announced Here; Couple Plan to Reside in Nyack, New York

On June 2 at 2 p. m. in the Bloomingdale Reformed Church, wedding vows were exchanged by Evelyn Dorothy Whitman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin O. Whitman of Hurley, and John Doster Focht, son of Doster Focht of Belvedere, N. J. Officiating was the Rev. Joseph E. Carlin, former pastor of the Bloomingdale Reformed Church, now retired. Gilbert Ciccio was the organist.

White gladioli, daisies and mums decorated the church for the occasion.

Mr. Whitman gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white organza posed over taffeta and fashioned with a fitted bodice, abbreviated sleeves and bouffant floor length skirt in petal style. Her shoulder length veil was held in place by an arrangement of fresh phaleanopsis orchids and white satin leaves. She carried a bouquet of white butterfly roses and ivy in cascade style.

Miss Lynne Whitman of Hurley was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a street length chiffon dress. It was a pink floral print on a white background. She carried a cascade of pale pink carnations and ivy.

Louis Focht of Philadelphia, Pa., was the best man. Ushers were Wilbur Whitman of Kingston and Sanford Whitman of Creek Locks, both brothers of the bride.

SOCIAL

Approximately 100 guests were entertained at a reception given in the Nieuw Dorp, Hurley.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School, class of 1959 and attended Nyack Missionary College. Her husband, an alumnus of Colgate University and the University of Michigan, is now attending Nyack Missionary College.

For her wedding trip to Virginia, the bride wore a white sleeveless sheath of cotton with white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Focht will reside in Nyack when they return.

Anna Berg, Gerard Jones Exchange Vows At St. Joseph's Church in Kingston

Miss Anna Berg, Kingston resident, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Berg of Karlsruhe, Germany, wed Airman Gerard Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones of Kingston on June 2 at a double ring ceremony in St. Joseph's Church, this city. Officiating was the Rev. William Williams, assistant pastor.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty was the organist and Robert Gallo, soloist.

Vases of white gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

Henry O'Bryan Sr., the bridegroom's grandfather, gave the bride in marriage. She wore a gown of white organdy styled with a fitted bodice, short sleeves and a circlet neckline. The full skirt was floor length and featured an applique of embroidered Swiss motifs. The chapel length veil was secured to a princess crown of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations with blue tulle.

Andrea Jones, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor in a gown of pale blue organza posed over matching taffeta styled with a fitted bodice, short sleeves and a scooped neckline. The full skirt was floor length and she wore a single rose headpiece with a circular tulle veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of carnations.

Best man was the bridegroom's uncle, Michael Kemlage of High Falls. Ushers were Robert Barnhart, cousin of the bridegroom, and Ernie Gerhrer of Kingston.

A wedding reception was given at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bride was educated in Germany. Her husband, who attended Kingston High School, is now serving with the U. S. Air Force and is stationed in Puerto Rico.

For her wedding trip to Washington, D. C., the bride wore a beige print dress with white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones will make Kingston their home.

Gala Display Is Planned for 4th Fireworks Event

The July 4th fireworks display will once again be held at Cantine Field this year. The improved display sponsored by the Saugerties National Bank and Trust Company will feature many beautiful ground pieces, an expanded air show and a fabulous finale. Fireworks chairman Wayne Cluck has planned the gala display for exactly 9 p. m.

The July 4th parade has reached its planning climax. The judges are in the process of being secured by Richard Messina. Joseph Hawkins and John Marks are assisting parade chairman Robert McNary on the more than 100 unit parade which will kick off at 10 a. m.

Some of the attractions in this years parade are, the famed locomotive from the 40 and 8 of Port Ewen, an antique bicycle and several antique automobiles. In addition to the many beautiful floats that have been entered, a special children's attraction will be entered by the Saugerties Lions Club. There has been an increased response from organizations entering floats depicting the parade theme Acts of Freedom, however, any organization not contacted but desiring to enter a float, car, or marching unit may call Robert McNary.

Council Founder Is Named to State Post

The Saugerties Council, Columbiettes, 4536, has received a report from its delegates to the New York State Convention held over the past weekend that Loretta Ahl, organizer of the local council and now a member of the Kingston council, was elected New York State treasurer for the coming year. Congratulations have been extended to her by the Saugerties Council.

Other officers elected on the New York State slate were Mrs. Evelyn Volpe, state president; Mrs. Kay Noonan, secretary; Mrs. Adeline Russell, state advocate; Mrs. Loretta LeFevre, inner guard; Mrs. Marie Goodwin, outer guard.

The regular meeting of the Saugerties Council will be held tonight 8:30. All members are requested to attend as this may be the last meeting until the fall.

Strawberry Festival

West Camp Auxiliary of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Route 9W, West Camp will hold its annual lawn social and strawberry festival Thursday beginning at 5:30 p. m. on the church grounds.

In the event of rain the social will be held in the parish hall. The menu will include a complete picnic supper, homemade salads, strawberry shortcake and ice cream. No reservations are necessary. The social will continue until all are served.

Methodist Notes

The spring assembly for Methodists Men will be held Friday through Sunday, at the Knollwood School for the Deaf at White Plains. Attending from the Saugerties Methodist Church will be the lay leader, William Waldele, and Donald A. Leard.

The Kingston District picnic for minister and wives and families will be held at Sunny Hill Farm, Freehold Friday, 10 a. m. There will be swimmig, boating, and other recreation.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service will have a picnic lunch at the home of Mrs. George Wilde, Old Kings Highway, Saturday, 12:30 p. m. Mrs. George Hildebrandt has charge of the program on the theme, Fun from Latin America, and Miss Isabel Myer has devotions. Hostesses are Mrs. James Thompson, Mrs. George Sawutz, and Mrs. William Brown.

New members will be received into the church at the 11 a. m. service Sunday. There will be a reception for the new members and all who have been received into the church fellowship since last June at the parsonage, 40 Finger Street Sunday evening 7 p. m. All commission chairmen and presidents of organizations are urged to be present.

Vacation Bible school will be held June 25-July 6 with classes for nursery through teenagers held daily from 9:30-11:30 a. m. The theme this year is My Bible and I. There will be songs, games, stories, and crafts for all ages. Parents may register children now.

Area Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Silas T. Beatty of 128 Market Street went to New York last Thursday where they met their son and family, Dr. and Mrs. Silas R. Beatty and children Carol and Stephen of Radford, Va. On Friday they saw their granddaughter, Carol, and Miss Patty Phillips sail for Paris where they will visit with relatives for the summer. Dr. and Mrs. Beatty and Stephen returned to Saugerties where Mr. and Mrs. Loren Beatty of Stratford, Conn. joined the family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert DuBois of 28 Russell Street for a family reunion. Dr. and Mrs. Beatty returned to Virginia Sunday and Stephen has remained here with his grandparents for a vacation.

Ruth Wyman was welcomed as the newest member of Brownie Troop 5 at the Tuesday meeting held at the home of their leader, Mrs. James Shier. This brings the total membership to 19. Mrs. Paul Rafferty, assistant leader announced that the troop will take a trip to the Catskill Game farm June 30.

Dog Show Set For July Fourth

As part of the Saugerties Jaycees 4th of July field day events, a dog show will be held at Cantine Field. Any child may enter his pet.

Entries will be accepted at the field from 11:30 a. m. on for the best trained, best groomed, best thoroughbred, best all around dog. Awards will be given for these classes and also for the dog with the longest ears, longest tail, the largest dog, and the smallest dog.

Following the dog show, an exhibition on dog obedience and dog training will be given by the Ulster County Dog Training Club. Anyone desiring further information should contact Carol Duffy, Saugerties.

Events Scheduled

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet on Monday 8 p. m. at the Stonewall Hotel for its regular monthly meeting. A special program of movies of past 4th of July parades will be shown by Kenneth Magyar. All men between the ages of 21 and 35 may attend.

The last story hour of the season will be presented to the five to seven year old children at the Saugerties Public Library this Saturday beginning at 10:30 a. m. The Jayncees, who sponsor the weekly program through the school months, have planned a Father's Day program for this session.

No Cotter Pin on 707 Rudder

Oversight May Have Killed 95

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mechanic's oversight, a tiny cotter pin and a bolt less than an inch long could have been the ingredients of disaster in the New York crash of a jet airliner, the Federal Aviation Agency says.

Others Are Warned

Ninety-five people were killed when the American Airlines Boeing 707 plunged into Jamaica Bay on March 1, seconds after taking off from Idlewild Airport.

The FAA said the bolt, part of a complex rudder mechanism, may have slipped out of place when a nut securing it fell off—for lack of the little cotter pin.

The agency wired airlines and other organizations that fly 707 jets Tuesday, warning them of the potential danger spot. One such warning went to the Military Air Transport Service, which operates the Boeing jets used by President Kennedy and other government leaders.

George C. Prill, director of the FAA flight standards service, said the New York crash "could have been the result of an installation mistake by one man on one aircraft."

Still Investigating

"We do not see this as a possible explanation for any other 707 crash about which we have any information," he said. "But it would not be the first time that an airplane crashed because a mechanic left a cotter pin out of a bolt.

"You cannot say this is it—we can never prove it happened even though it could have happened."

Prill said the Civil Aeronautics Board still is investigating the New York crash and will make the final decision on the probable cause.

Dr. and Mrs. Beatty and Stephen returned to Saugerties where Mr. and Mrs. Loren Beatty of Stratford, Conn. joined the family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert DuBois of 28 Russell Street for a family reunion. Dr. and Mrs. Beatty returned to Virginia Sunday and Stephen has remained here with his grandparents for a vacation.

Ruth Wyman was welcomed as the newest member of Brownie Troop 5 at the Tuesday meeting held at the home of their leader, Mrs. James Shier. This brings the total membership to 19. Mrs. Paul Rafferty, assistant leader announced that the troop will take a trip to the Catskill Game farm June 30.

Dog Show Set For July Fourth

As part of the Saugerties Jaycees 4th of July field day events, a dog show will be held at Cantine Field. Any child may enter his pet.

Entries will be accepted at the field from 11:30 a. m. on for the best trained, best groomed, best thoroughbred, best all around dog. Awards will be given for these classes and also for the dog with the longest ears, longest tail, the largest dog, and the smallest dog.

Following the dog show, an exhibition on dog obedience and dog training will be given by the Ulster County Dog Training Club. Anyone desiring further information should contact Carol Duffy, Saugerties.

Events Scheduled

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet on Monday 8 p. m. at the Stonewall Hotel for its regular monthly meeting. A special program of movies of past 4th of July parades will be shown by Kenneth Magyar. All men between the ages of 21 and 35 may attend.

The last story hour of the season will be presented to the five to seven year old children at the Saugerties Public Library this Saturday beginning at 10:30 a. m. The Jayncees, who sponsor the weekly program through the school months, have planned a Father's Day program for this session.

NOW HEAR THIS—When the Asian Games begin in Djakarta, Indonesia, visitors will see signs like this in the city parks and elsewhere in the country put up especially for them. The list seems to cover most kinds of behavior.

No Cotter Pin on 707 Rudder

Oversight May Have Killed 95

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mechanic's oversight, a tiny cotter pin and a bolt less than an inch long could have been the ingredients of disaster in the New York crash of a jet airliner, the Federal Aviation Agency says.

Others Are Warned

Ninety-five people were killed when the American Airlines Boeing 707 plunged into Jamaica Bay on March 1, seconds after taking off from Idlewild Airport.

The FAA said the bolt, part of a complex rudder mechanism, may have slipped out of place when a nut securing it fell off—for lack of the little cotter pin.

The agency wired airlines and other organizations that fly 707 jets Tuesday, warning them of the potential danger spot. One such warning went to the Military Air Transport Service, which operates the Boeing jets used by President Kennedy and other government leaders.

George C. Prill, director of the FAA flight standards service, said the New York crash "could have been the result of an installation mistake by one man on one aircraft."

Still Investigating

"We do not see this as a possible explanation for any other 707 crash about which we have any information," he said. "But it would not be the first time that an airplane crashed because a mechanic left a cotter pin out of a bolt.

"You cannot say this is it—we can never prove it happened even though it could have happened."

Prill said the Civil Aeronautics Board still is investigating the New York crash and will make the final decision on the probable cause.

Caution Parents Of Children on Operating Boats

With the boating season in full swing, parents should make sure their youngsters have fulfilled the legal requirements to operate a motor boat alone on New York State waters.

Conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm urges parents who bring their children along on a boating cruise or waterfront vacation to bear in mind the State's Navigation Law.

Dr. Wilm pointed out that the Navigation Law prohibits youngsters under 10 years of age from solo operation of a motor boat. It also requires that youngsters between the ages of 10 and 14 must earn a safety certificate through a state-sponsored Young Boatman's Safety Course before they may operate a motor boat alone.

Under the Navigation Law, a person 14 years or older must accompany young boat operators under 10 years of age or those, between 10 and 14 years, who have not earned the safety certificate. There are no restrictions with regard to motor boat operation by a person over the age of 14.

"For your own safety and the safety of others," Commissioner Wilm said, "a boat owner should make sure a youngster is legally authorized to operate a motor boat before giving the child permission to use his boat."

Violation of New York State Navigation Law provisions in regard to the operation of motor boats by youngsters is an offense punishable by a fine not to exceed $100.

Birds, Bees Are Ahead of Man in Guidance Systems

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bird and bee navigation secrets, balloons for scientists, and a space jaywalker are topics in science news:

Bird and Bee Secrets

Humans have made great progress in developing guidance systems for space vehicles, but "it will take 100 years for electronics to catch up with the sophisticated guidance and sensory systems of the birds and the bees," says John L. Burns, former president of Radio Corporation of America.

"Evidence now at hand suggests that in flight the bat finds his way by bouncing ultrasonic waves off solid objects; the pigeon homes on the magnetic lines of the earth; a bird flies thousands of miles from the tree branch in your backyard, and returns to the same branch, through stellar navigation.

"If we could only translate this characteristic into a mathematical formula—and then into hardware—we could endow an earth satellite with a similarly adaptable 'eye' that would select the precise information it was sent aloft to obtain."

Floating Laboratory

Scientists are getting their own special balloon flight station, to be set up this summer at Palestine, Texas.

From this base, they can release balloons lofting up instruments for high altitude study of the atmosphere and weather phenomena, for astronomical studies above the clouding effects of the earth's air, and for capturing primary cosmic rays.

Long planned, the balloon facility will be built and operated by the National Center for Atmospheric Research at Boulder, Colo. with the tab paid by the National Science Foundation.

Space Jaywalker

Hermes is the name of one of the sun's minor planets, a chunk of rock about a mile in diameter, weighing perhaps three billion tons.

Unlike other minor planets that follow orderly paths between Mars and Jupiter, Hermes has an eccentric orbit, and can actually come within about 200,000 miles of the earth, closer than the moon itself, and a near miss, cosmically speaking.

But the chance that it or similar bodies would ever collide with the earth with devastating effects is infinitesmally small, says John W. Macvey in Space Digest magazine.

Perhaps, he suggests, men in space ships one day might be able to rendezvous with one of the minor planets possessing a wide-ranging orbit, equip it with transmitters, and let it send back data on the reaches of space it visits.

Young Historians Carry Out Projects

The young people also located three of the old hand-wrought shutter hooks belonging to the old house.

No regular program meetings for the Junior Historians are planned, but rather small group service projects, as need arises such as placing the flags in the old cemetery, assisting at the museum through the summer months, tidying up the street before Stone House Day, helping with the house-cleaning in the houses which have been empty during the winter.

The new textbook "New Paltz —1677 to the Present Day," written by last year's seventh grade is being published on the school's off-set press for use of future classes. Plans are under way to make it possible for interested residents to obtain copies of this informative 65-page book.

Thanks to Harold O'Bryne's explorations, Mr. Doucette's classes plan a field trip to Towarataque Rock, the northwest corner of the Paltz Patent to uncover the old inscription and perhaps find an arrowhead or two around the site of this old council rock.

A trip to the State Museum in Albany June 5 assisted them in recreating the days when Matsaysay, Assineraken, Ankerop first welcomed Louis DuBois and his band to this beautiful country.

School children who are interested in this type of activity may apply for membership of the Junior Historical Society at the museum. Adults willing to assist the young people in making history come alive may contact Mrs. William Heidgerd or Mrs. Albert Otis.

Caution Parents Of Children on Operating Boats

With the boating season in full swing, parents should make sure their youngsters have fulfilled the legal requirements to operate a motor boat alone on New York State waters.

Conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm urges parents who bring their children along on a boating cruise or waterfront vacation to bear in mind the State's Navigation Law.

Dr. Wilm pointed out that the Navigation Law prohibits youngsters under 10 years of age from solo operation of a motor boat. It also requires that youngsters between the ages of 10 and 14 must earn a safety certificate through a state-sponsored Young Boatman's Safety Course before they may operate a motor boat alone.

Under the Navigation Law, a person 14 years or older must accompany young boat operators under 10 years of age or those, between 10 and 14 years, who have not earned the safety certificate. There are no restrictions with regard to motor boat operation by a person over the age of 14.

"For your own safety and the safety of others," Commissioner Wilm said, "a boat owner should make sure a youngster is legally authorized to operate a motor boat before giving the child permission to use his boat."

Violation of New York State Navigation Law provisions in regard to the operation of motor boats by youngsters is an offense punishable by a fine not to exceed $100.

Birds, Bees Are Ahead of Man in Guidance Systems

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bird and bee navigation secrets, balloons for scientists, and a space jaywalker are topics in science news:

Bird and Bee Secrets

Humans have made great progress in developing guidance systems for space vehicles, but "it will take 100 years for electronics to catch up with the sophisticated guidance and sensory systems of the birds and the bees," says John L. Burns, former president of Radio Corporation of America.

"Evidence now at hand suggests that in flight the bat finds his way by bouncing ultrasonic waves off solid objects; the pigeon homes on the magnetic lines of the earth; a bird flies thousands of miles from the tree branch in your backyard, and returns to the same branch, through stellar navigation.

"If we could only translate this characteristic into a mathematical formula—and then into hardware—we could endow an earth satellite with a similarly adaptable 'eye' that would select the precise information it was sent aloft to obtain."

Floating Laboratory

Scientists are getting their own special balloon flight station, to be set up this summer at Palestine, Texas.

From this base, they can release balloons lofting up instruments for high altitude study of the atmosphere and weather phenomena, for astronomical studies above the clouding effects of the earth's air, and for capturing primary cosmic rays.

Long planned, the balloon facility will be built and operated by the National Center for Atmospheric Research at Boulder, Colo. with the tab paid by the National Science Foundation.

Space Jaywalker

Hermes is the name of one of the sun's minor planets, a chunk of rock about a mile indiameter, weighing perhaps three billion tons.

Unlike other minor planets that follow orderly paths between Mars and Jupiter, Hermes has an eccentric orbit, and can actually come within about 200,000 miles of the earth, closer than the moon itself, and a near miss, cosmically speaking.

But the chance that it or similar bodies would ever collide with the earth with devastating effects is infinitesmally small, says John W. Macvey in Space Digest magazine.

Perhaps, he suggests, men in space ships one day might be able to rendezvous with one of the minor planets possessing a wide-ranging orbit, equip it with transmitters, and let it send back data on the reaches of space it visits.

Young Historians Carry Out Projects

The young people also located three of the old hand-wrought shutter hooks belonging to the old house.

No regular program meetings for the Junior Historians are planned, but rather small group service projects, as need arises such as placing the flags in the old cemetery, assisting at the museum through the summer months, tidying up the street before Stone House Day, helping with the house-cleaning in the houses which have been empty during the winter.

The new textbook "New Paltz —1677 to the Present Day," written by last year's seventh grade is being published on the school's off-set press for use of future classes. Plans are under way to make it possible for interested residents to obtain copies of this informative 65-page book.

Thanks to Harold O'Bryne's explorations, Mr. Doucette's classes plan a field trip to Towarataque Rock, the northwest corner of the Paltz Patent to uncover the old inscription and perhaps find an arrowhead or two around the site of this old council rock.

A trip to the State Museum in Albany June 5 assisted them in recreating the days when Matsaysay, Assineraken, Ankerop first welcomed Louis DuBois and his band to this beautiful country.

School children who are interested in this type of activity may apply for membership of the Junior Historical Society at the museum. Adults willing to assist the young people in making history come alive may contact Mrs. William Heidgerd or Mrs. Albert Otis.

Lodge Rules Out Primary Fight, Supports Brown

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP)—John Davis Lodge, calling for an end to Republican factionalism in Connecticut, has decided against waging a primary fight for the U.S. Senate nomination.

Lodge former governor and ambassador to Spain under the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration, threw his support behind Rep. Horace Seely-Brown Jr., who received the party's endorsement at the state convention last week.

Seely-Brown, an eastern Connecticut apple grower, beat Lodge 476 to 149.

Under a state law, Lodge was entitled to challenge the convention's decision in a statewide primary because he had received at least 10 per cent of the convention vote.

"Thoughtful consideration has confirmed my decision not to enter a primary for the Republican nomination," Lodge said Tuesday night.

"In light of the prolonged struggle at the recent state convention, I think it urgent, now that the delegates have made their decision, that factionalism and personal hopes be subordinated to party unity."

That was an apparent reference to the battle for the gubernatorial nomination. The convention went to a record eight ballots before nominating John Alsop of Avon.

Alsop, brother of writers Stewart and Joseph Alsop, defeated former State Chairman Edwin H. May Jr. of Wethersfield 337-317.

Lodge is a brother of Henry Cabot Lodge, former U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

With a 33-man horn line, the Jersey unit has one of the best "sounds" in the Garden State.

Project Started ToRaiseShowboat At Dayline Dock

A river lighter and crane with a crew of workmen on Tuesday started efforts to raise the sunken "Riverama," old time showboat which sank in the Hudson River at the Dayline Inc. dock, Poughkeepsie, last November.

The recovery craft and crew came from Cranston, R. I., arriving early yesterday and work began immediately to raise the showboat.

Robert P. Fried, Staatsburg, part owner of the "Riverama," which was to have become the Poughkeepsie Art Center, said the equipment of the Amico Marine Corp., will continue operations until the showboat is recovered.

To Make Daily Trips

A spokesman for the Hudson River Day Line Inc., made known yesterday that it has scheduled resumption of daily trips of excursion boats up the Hudson River to Poughkeepsie starting Saturday and continuing until Sept. 9.

Fried and Thomas Stary, Rhinebeck, head a corporation which was to have made use of the "Riverama" as a permanent home for concerts and art shows at Poughkeepsie. The boat was purchased from New York Trap Rock Corp., which had equipped it as a floating museum to highlight history of the lower Hudson Valley its industries and communities.

Serves Notice

Harold R. Dean, Poughkeepsie's superintendent of public works, some time ago warned the Day Line management, the Port of New York Authority and the U. S. Coast Guard that the "Riverama" still is on the bottom of the river. Dean and City Manager Kenneth Pearce noted that the City of Poughkeepsie has no responsibility for the use of the Day Line dock.

Day Line officials made known that the "Alexander Hamilton," well known river craft, with a capacity of 3,700 passengers, will be most frequently seen among boats plying the river during the summer.

Boats will leave Pier 81 at 41st Street, New York, at 10 a. m. and arrive at Poughkeepsie at 2:30 p. m. The return trip is made from the Poughkeepsie dock at 3:10 p. m., arriving in New York at 7:45 p. m.

Legality Upheld Of Greene Panel

A motion questioning the legality of a Greene County panel of jurors in Greene County Court, was denied Tuesday by Schoharie County Judge Robert Johnson, after Greene County Judge Roy C. Moon disqualified himself from presiding.

Frank Martocci, Kingston attorney, brought the motion on behalf of a client, Herbert Marshack, of New Baltimore, who faced a morals charge. The trial probably will be resumed Monday.

Martocci questioned the time the jury was drawn, availability of the jury list, the number of times some jurors had served in the last several years and impairment of his client's constitutional rights.

Judge Moon, Commissioner of Jurors Neal Brandow and Sheriff Fred Knight opposed the motion. Testifying on behalf of the motion were Martocci and Rosemary Byron, Athens attorney.

Marshack was arrested in November, 1960.

Dies of Knife Wounds

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A man accused of fatally stabbing a woman 11 days ago, died Tuesday in a hospital of knife wounds suffered in the argument.

William McCray, 53, of Buffalo was under police guard at Meyer Memorial Hospital. He had not been charged. Police said he stabbed Gertrude Owens, 48, last June 2 during a dispute, the details of which were not revealed.

Accepts Hospital Fund Drive Post

ARTHUR W. CHIPP

Appointment of Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson as chairman of the Kerhonkson-Accord area for the $850,000 Veterans Memorial Hospital building fund drive was announced today.

The announcement was made by Harry Resnick and Robert V. Stapleton, co-chairmen for the major fund campaign.

Chipp is the licensed manager of the Humiston Funeral Home in Kerhonkson.

"Mr. Chipp has long been associated with community activities both locally and throughout the area. We are all very grateful that he has consented to take on this most important assignment," Stapleton said.

The Kerhonkson campaign will get underway immediately, aiming for completion of all phases by Sept. 1, 1962. Chipp announced that he would be assisted in the campaign by a steering committee. Included on the committee are: A. J. Anderson, the Rev. Paul Babich, Sidney Charnick, Philip Davis, Dr. Alfred Feldshuh, Roland Riegel, Donald Schoonmaker, George Schwab, Dr. Solomon Snapiro, Morris Sims, Richard Terwilliger. The group heid its initial meeting Wednesday night at the Kerhonkson National Bank.

Chipp noted "For many years the Veterans Memorial Hospital has been a vital part of the health defense of our community. We have all been aware of the hospital's difficulties and have been amazed that the doctors and nurses were able to do such excellent work under such difficult conditions." He pointed to the future possibilities in a modern, fully equipped institution; "Our area can, and should have the finest in medical care. I am convinced that in the proposed new hospital we will, and that now is the time for all of us to forget the difficulties of the past and work to make possible the future."

IBMers Back on Job

Employes at three buildings of the IBM laboratory on Boardman Road, Town of Poughkeepsie, idled Tuesday by a power failure of the firm's electric system, returned to their work today on schedule. It was reported that a break in a water main in a basement of one of the buildings at about 7 a. m. yesterday caused the interruption of power service. Repairs were made and all operations were resumed today on normal schedule.

Hurley Man Reelected Head of Scout Council

CLIFFORD A. HENZE

The reelection of Clifford A. Henze of Hurley as president of Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scouts of America, took place recently during a Council session at Old Dutch Church. Rip Van Winkle Council serves more than 3,000 boys in Ulster and Greene Counties.

Others elected were:

Frank Bourke, Kingston, vice-president; Gifford R. Beal, Kingston, vice president; Richard Lent, New Paltz, vice-president; Raymond Garraghan, Kingston, vice-president; Sherwood F. Lasher, Kingston, commissioner and Herbert Greenwald, Kingston, treasurer.

Scouting officials at the annual business meeting heard of new highs in council activities during the past year.

Fund Drive at Peak

Council President Henze announced that the independent finance campaign in Ulster and Greene Counties outside of the towns of Kingston, Rosendale, New Paltz and Saugerties, reached a new all-time high: $15,248, an increase of $1,500 the amount these 24 towns raised in the two counties in last year's campaign.

A new high in summer camp attendance at Camp Tri-Mount was reached last summer and the camp received an A-98 rating from region two camping officials according to Chairman Henry Eighmey.

The largest delegation ever sent by the Rip Van Winkle Council attended the summer season at the Philmont Scout Ranch in Cimarron, New Mexico. Thirty Scouts and four leaders made the trip, Eighmey added.

One of the prime activities currently being undertaken in the Rip Van Winkle Council is the Camp Tri-Mount new dining hall construction program. Under the direction of Israel Slutsky and Raymond Garraghan, the work is progressing and completion is anticipated during the coming summer season.

In membership, 600 new members were enrolled in the Scouting program, revealed Chairman George Matthews. Current membership in the council is 3,068 and unit total stands at 108 units.

The number of district-sponsored basic and additional training courses increased to a total of 13 for Cub Scout leaders, seven courses for Boy Scout leaders, and three courses for Explorer leaders. 349 leaders attended the courses, Chairman Dr. Robert Ploss reported.

The annual council Junior Leaders Training Conference hit a new high in both attendance and program content and was the subject of a photo feature in Boys Life magazine, the two-million copy monthly publication of Scouting.

In advancement, there were 993 Cub Scout rank advancement, and 687 Boy Scout rank advancements. Also, 1,355 merit badges were earned by Boy Scouts, revealed Chairman Richard Gendreau.

In health and safety, several programs were held. They were: Fire Prevention Week program, Forest Fire Prevention program, Kingston District swimming course, camp medical recheck program, fire drills at Camp Tri-Mount, 8-point Defense Water Safety program conducted at the camp waterfront and the new Mile Swim Award program inaugurated at Camp Tri-Mount. Twenty-six boys qualified for this award, George Sheldon, chairman said.

Committee Appointments

Named to head council operating committees for the coming year were: Henry Eighmey of Kingston, camping and activities; George Matthews of Kingston. organization and extension; Dr. Robert Ploss of Kingston, leadership training; George Sheldon of Kingston, health and safety; William Bond of Saugerties, public relations; Alan McCorkle of Stone Ridge, finance and Richard Gendreau of Ulster Park, advancement.

Also elected for council executive board members were Elwood Hitchcock, East Jewett; Arthur Tasman, Ellenville; Johan Aalto, Gardiner; Clement Hulick, Greenville; Gordon Rennick, Greenville; Israel Slutsky, Hunter; Joseph O'Reilly, Hurley, and, Harry Christian, Kerhonkson. Also, Dr. Clement Angstrom, Henry Eighmey, George Matthews, Dr. Robert Ploss, George Sheldon, J. Richard Shults and Walter Tremper, all of Kingston. Also, Valentine Morrow, Maplecrest, Malcolm Taylor, New Paltz; Francis Hanigan, Phoenicia; William Bond, Saugerties; Russell Hardick, Saugerties; Harry Hoffman, Saugerties; W. Sidney Van de Bent, Shokan; Edward Green, Alan McCorkle and Guy McCorkle, Stone Ridge; Richard Gendreau, Ulster Park; Walter Balk, Woodstock, and Verner May, Woodstock.

Named as members of the advisory council were: Kenneth Mance, Ellenville; Henry Werker, Greenville; David Chait, Kerhonkson; Herbert De Kay, Walter Foster, the Rev. David Gaise, Henry Halverson, W. Sherrill Keyser and Harry Rigby, of Kingston; Herbert Bell, Milton; Gerald Overbagh and Raymond Quackenbush, Saugerties; and John Schuehler, West Hurley.

Pensions Available To Eligible Widows

Widows of veterans may be eligible for pension under the provisions of Public Law 86-211 according to an announcement made today by Charles Culver, counselor of the New York State Division of Veterans' affairs and John Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency. The veterans' officials said that thousands of widows who became eligible under this law have failed to apply for pension.

Generally in order for a widow to qualify for pension the veteran must have served in the Armed Forces a minimum of 90 days during wartime and the widow's annual income must be within the statutory limits. Widows of veterans who served in World War 1, World War 2 or the Korean Conflict may receive pension payments under Public Law 86-211.

Further information concerning veterans benefits or assistance may be obtained from Culver or Tyler at their office, 32 Main Street from 9 to 5, Monday through Friday.

Monroe Backs Posner

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—William N. Posner has received the unanimous endorsement of the Monroe County Democratic Committee's executive committee for the gubernatorial nomination.

The backing came Tuesday night at a special meeting of 43 leaders from the county's wards and towns. It was the only issue on the agenda.

Posner, in New York City on a business trip, was not available for comment and has not actively sought the nomination. He resigned last June as the committee chairman to devote more time to his accounting business and his family.

NURSERY CLASS where handicapped youngsters work at special play activities planned to meet their individual needs. This is a service offered at no charge to parents of children receiving therapy at the Ulster County CP Center, 400 Broadway. Presently 27 children are enrolled in four sessions per week. June has been designated CP Month in Ulster County for a fund drive to help the center.

Lodge Rules Out Primary Fight, Supports Brown

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP)—John Davis Lodge, calling for an end to Republican factionalism in Connecticut, has decided against waging a primary fight for the U.S. Senate nomination.

Lodge former governor and ambassador to Spain under the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration, threw his support behind Rep. Horace Seely-Brown Jr., who received the party's endorsement at the state convention last week.

Seely-Brown, an eastern Connecticut apple grower, beat Lodge 476 to 149.

Under a state law, Lodge was entitled to challenge the convention's decision in a statewide primary because he had received at least 10 per cent of the convention vote.

"Thoughtful consideration has confirmed my decision not to enter a primary for the Republican nomination," Lodge said Tuesday night.

"In light of the prolonged struggle at the recent state convention, I think it urgent, now that the delegates have made their decision, that factionalism and personal hopes be subordinated to party unity."

That was an apparent reference to the battle for the gubernatorial nomination. The convention went to a record eight ballots before nominating John Alsop of Avon.

Alsop, brother of writers Stewart and Joseph Alsop, defeated former State Chairman Edwin H. May Jr. of Wethersfield 337-317.

Lodge is a brother of Henry Cabot Lodge, former U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Project Started ToRaiseShowboat At Dayline Dock

A river lighter and crane with a crew of workmen on Tuesday started efforts to raise the sunken "Riverama," old time showboat which sank in the Hudson River at the Dayline Inc. dock, Poughkeepsie, last November.

The recovery craft and crew came from Cranston, R. I., arriving early yesterday and work began immediately to raise the showboat.

Robert P. Fried, Staatsburg, part owner of the "Riverama," which was to have become the Poughkeepsie Art Center, said the equipment of the Amico Marine Corp., will continue operations until the showboat is recovered.

To Make Daily Trips

A spokesman for the Hudson River Day Line Inc., made known yesterday that it has scheduled resumption of daily trips of excursion boats up the Hudson River to Poughkeepsie starting Saturday and continuing until Sept. 9.

Fried and Thomas Stary, Rhinebeck, head a corporation which was to have made use of the "Riverama" as a permanent home for concerts and art shows at Poughkeepsie. The boat was purchased from New York Trap Rock Corp., which had equipped it as a floating museum to highlight history of the lower Hudson Valley its industries and communities.

Serves Notice

Harold R. Dean, Poughkeepsie's superintendent of public works, some time ago warned the Day Line management, the Port of New York Authority and the U. S. Coast Guard that the "Riverama" still is on the bottom of the river. Dean and City Manager Kenneth Pearce noted that the City of Poughkeepsie has no responsibility for the use of the Day Line dock.

Day Line officials made known that the "Alexander Hamilton," well known river craft, with a capacity of 3,700 passengers, will be most frequently seen among boats plying the river during the summer.

Boats will leave Pier 81 at 41st Street, New York, at 10 a. m. and arrive at Poughkeepsie at 2:30 p. m. The return trip is made from the Poughkeepsie dock at 3:10 p. m., arriving in New York at 7:45 p. m.

Legality Upheld Of Greene Panel

A motion questioning the legality of a Greene County panel of jurors in Greene County Court, was denied Tuesday by Schoharie County Judge Robert Johnson, after Greene County Judge Roy C. Moon disqualified himself from presiding.

Frank Martocci, Kingston attorney, brought the motion on behalf of a client, Herbert Marshack, of New Baltimore, who faced a morals charge. The trial probably will be resumed Monday.

Martocci questioned the time the jury was drawn, availability of the jury list, the number of times some jurors had served in the last several years and impairment of his client's constitutional rights.

Judge Moon, Commissioner of Jurors Neal Brandow and Sheriff Fred Knight opposed the motion. Testifying on behalf of the motion were Martocci and Rosemary Byron, Athens attorney.

Marshack was arrested in November, 1960.

Dies of Knife Wounds

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A man accused of fatally stabbing a woman 11 days ago, died Tuesday in a hospital of knife wounds suffered in the argument.

William McCray, 53, of Buffalo was under police guard at Meyer Memorial Hospital. He had not been charged. Police said he stabbed Gertrude Owens, 48, last June 2 during a dispute, the details of which were not revealed.

JERSEY UNIT IN DRUM CORPS PAGEANT—A Bordentown, N. J., senior drum and bugle corps—the Jersey Devils—will be among six leading eastern units appearing in the eighth annual Pageant of Champions at Dietz Stadium Saturday at 8 p. m. The "Devils" have an unique organization within the corps itself— a 40 Plus Club, consisting of playing members 40 years of age or older. The club has 14 charter members. With a 33-man horn line, the Jersey unit has one of the best "sounds" in the Garden State.

Accepts Hospital Fund Drive Post

ARTHUR W. CHIPP

Appointment of Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson as chairman of the Kerhonkson-Accord area for the $850,000 Veterans Memorial Hospital building fund drive was announced today.

The announcement was made by Harry Resnick and Robert V. Stapleton, co-chairmen for the major fund campaign.

Chipp is the licensed manager of the Humiston Funeral Home in Kerhonkson.

"Mr. Chipp has long been associated with community activities both locally and throughout the area. We are all very grateful that he has consented to take on this most important assignment," Stapleton said.

The Kerhonkson campaign will get underway immediately, aiming for completion of all phases by Sept. 1, 1962. Chipp announced that he would be assisted in the campaign by a steering committee. Included on the committee are: A. J. Anderson, the Rev. Paul Babich, Sidney Charnick, Philip Davis, Dr. Alfred Feldshuh, Roland Riegel, Donald Schoonmaker, George Schwab, Dr. Solomon Snapiro, Morris Sims, Richard Terwilliger. The group held its initial meeting Wednesday night at the Kerhonkson National Bank.

Chipp noted "For many years the Veterans Memorial Hospital has been a vital part of the health defense of our community. We have all been aware of the hospital's difficulties and have been amazed that the doctors and nurses were able to do such excellent work under such difficult conditions." He pointed to the future possibilities in a modern, fully equipped institution; "Our area can, and should have the finest in medical care. I am convinced that in the proposed new hospital we will, and that now is the time for all of us to forget the difficulties of the past and work to make possible the future."

IBMers Back on Job

Employes at three buildings of the IBM laboratory on Boardman Road, Town of Poughkeepsie, idled Tuesday by a power failure of the firm's electric system, returned to their work today on schedule. It was reported that a break in a water main in a basement of one of the buildings at about 7 a. m. yesterday caused the interruption of power service. Repairs were made and all operations were resumed today on normal schedule.

Hurley Man Reelected Head of Scout Council

CLIFFORD A. HENZE

The reelection of Clifford A. Henze of Hurley as president of Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scouts of America, took place recently during a Council session at Old Dutch Church. Rip Van Winkle Council serves more than 3,000 boys in Ulster and Greene Counties.

Others elected were:

Frank Bourke, Kingston, vice-president; Gifford R. Beal, Kingston, vice president; Richard Lent, New Paltz, vice-president; Raymond Garraghan, Kingston, vice-president; Sherwood F. Lasher, Kingston, commissioner and Herbert Greenwald, Kingston, treasurer.

Scouting officials at the annual business meeting heard of new highs in council activities during the past year.

Fund Drive at Peak

Council President Henze announced that the independent finance campaign in Ulster and Greene Counties outside of the towns of Kingston, Rosendale, New Paltz and Saugerties, reached a new all-time high: $15,248, an increase of $1,500 the amount these 24 towns raised in the two counties in last year's campaign.

A new high in summer camp attendance at Camp Tri-Mount was reached last summer and the camp received an A-98 rating from region two camping officials according to Chairman Henry Eighmey.

The largest delegation ever sent by the Rip Van Winkle Council attended the summer season at the Philmont Scout Ranch in Cimarron, New Mexico. Thirty Scouts and four leaders made the trip, Eighmey added.

One of the prime activities currently being undertaken in the Rip Van Winkle Council is the Camp Tri-Mount new dining hall construction program. Under the direction of Israel Slutsky and Raymond Garraghan, the work is progressing and completion is anticipated during the coming summer season.

In membership, 600 new members were enrolled in the Scouting program, revealed Chairman George Matthews. Current membership in the council is 3,068 and unit total stands at 108 units.

The number of district-sponsored basic and additional training courses increased to a total of 13 for Cub Scout leaders, seven courses for Boy Scout leaders, and three courses for Explorer leaders. 349 leaders attended the courses, Chairman Dr. Robert Ploss reported.

The annual council Junior Leaders Training Conference hit a new high in both attendance and program content and was the subject of a photo feature in Boys Life magazine, the two-million copy monthly publication of Scouting.

In advancement, there were 993 Cub Scout rank advancement, and 687 Boy Scout rank advancements. Also, 1,355 merit badges were earned by Boy Scouts, revealed Chairman Richard Gendreau.

In health and safety, several programs were held. They were: Fire Prevention Week program, Forest Fire Prevention program, Kingston District swimming course, camp medical recheck program, fire drills at Camp Tri-Mount, 8-point Defense Water Safety program conducted at the camp waterfront and the new Mile Swim Award program inaugurated at Camp Tri-Mount. Twenty-six boys qualified for this award, George Sheldon, chairman said.

Committee Appointments

Named to head council operating committees for the coming year were: Henry Eighmey of Kingston, camping and activities; George Matthews of Kingston. organization and extension; Dr. Robert Ploss of Kingston, leadership training; George Sheldon of Kingston, health and safety; William Bond of Saugerties, public relations; Alan McCorkle of Stone Ridge, finance and Richard Gendreau of Ulster Park, advancement.

Also elected for council executive board members were Elwood Hitchcock, East Jewett; Arthur Tasman, Ellenville; Johan Aalto, Gardiner; Clement Hulick, Greenville; Gordon Rennick, Greenville; Israel Slutsky, Hunter; Joseph O'Reilly, Hurley, and, Harry Christian, Kerhonkson. Also, Dr. Clement Angstrom, Henry Eighmey, George Matthews, Dr. Robert Ploss, George Sheldon, J. Richard Shults and Walter Tremper, all of Kingston. Also, Valentine Morrow, Maplecrest, Malcolm Taylor, New Paltz; Francis Hanigan, Phoenicia; William Bond, Saugerties; Russell Hardick, Saugerties; Harry Hoffman, Saugerties; W. Sidney Van de Bent, Shokan; Edward Green, Alan McCorkle and Guy McCorkle, Stone Ridge; Richard Gendreau, Ulster Park; Walter Balk, Woodstock, and Verner May, Woodstock.

Named as members of the advisory council were: Kenneth Mance, Ellenville; Henry Werker, Greenville; David Chait, Kerhonkson; Herbert De Kay, Walter Foster, the Rev. David Gaise, Henry Halverson, W. Sherrill Keyser and Harry Rigby, of Kingston; Herbert Bell, Milton; Gerald Overbagh and Raymond Quackenbush, Saugerties; and John Schuehler, West Hurley.

Pensions Available To Eligible Widows

Widows of veterans may be eligible for pension under the provisions of Public Law 86-211 according to an announcement made today by Charles Culver, counselor of the New York State Division of Veterans' affairs and John Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency. The veterans' officials said that thousands of widows who became eligible under this law have failed to apply for pension.

Generally in order for a widow to qualify for pension the veteran must have served in the Armed Forces a minimum of 90 days during wartime and the widow's annual income must be within the statutory limits. Widows of veterans who served in World War 1, World War 2 or the Korean Conflict may receive pension payments under Public Law 86-211.

Further information concerning veterans benefits or assistance may be obtained from Culver or Tyler at their office, 32 Main Street from 9 to 5, Monday through Friday.

Monroe Backs Posner

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—William N. Posner has received the unanimous endorsement of the Monroe County Democratic Committee's executive committee for the gubernatorial nomination.

The backing came Tuesday night at a special meeting of 43 leaders from the county's wards and towns. It was the only issue on the agenda.

Posner, in New York City on a business trip, was not available for comment and has not actively sought the nomination. He resigned last June as the committee chairman to devote more time to his accounting business and his family.

NURSERY CLASS where handicapped youngsters work at special play activities planned to meet their individual needs. This is a service offered at no charge to parents of children receiving therapy at the Ulster County CP Center, 400 Broadway. Presently 27 children are enrolled in four sessions per week. June has been designated CP Month in Ulster County for a fund drive to help the center.

Local Nine Has Contest Sunday At Spring Valley

Featuring strictly area talent for the first time, the Kingston Braves will make their 1962 debut in the New York-New Jersey Baseball League Sunday at Spring Valley. The Bengals figure to be tough hosts. They walloped Beacon, 11-7, in the circuit's opening game this past week.

Manager Dick Bartsch has a squad of 20 players ready for the opener. The roster hasn't been completed and Bartsch expects to add some and drop some before settling on a final roster which he hopes will put the Braves in the thick of the battle for league honors.

Maines Returns

Lefty Bob Maines, a veteran of the NY-NJ League wars, will head the pitching corps. Others expected to see mound duty during the year are Paul Gardner and Mike Spada of Kingston and John Nolan of Saugerties. They are all righthanders.

Catching will be handled by Dick Bartsch, son of the manager and former Onteora Central star athlete and John Parete, ex-Kingston High All-DUSO performer.

Chick Boice, who was in the farm system of the Yankees, is listed as the first baseman. Second basemen are Paul Gianuzzi and Tony Amato of Kingston. Stanley Tetnowski of Woodstock and Mike Ferraro, the all-everything at Kingston High, are the shortstops and at third base is Ron Secreto of Kingston.

Outfielders on the roster are Frank Allen, Bill Chase, Joe Modica, Richie Sickler, Vince Smedes, Glen Puterbaugh and Paul Natale of Kingston and George Thompson of Hurley.

Following the road opener at Spring Valley, the Braves will make their home debut on Saturday, June 23, against Poughkeepsie, the defending champion. Twelve league games are on tap with each club in the five team circuit meeting the Braves three times.

The schedule:

Date	Opponent	Where
June 17	Spring Valley	Away
June 23	Poughkeepsie	Home
June 30	Spring Valley	Home
July 7	Newburgh	Home
July 8	Spring Valley	Away
July 13	Poughkeepsie	Away
July 14	Beacon	Home
July 21	Newburgh	Home
July 28	Beacon	Away
Aug. 4	Newburgh	Home
Aug. 11	Beacon	Home
Aug. 18	Poughkeepsie	Home

Seeded Stars Advance In Colgate Net Tourney

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — The two top-seeded players in the 40th annual Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament were still in the running today.

Paul Scarpa of Florida State and Bill Poist of Ohio Wesleyan won their matches Tuesday.

Scarpa, seeded No. 1, defeated Bill Hinkel of the University of Pittsburgh, 6-0, 6-2. Poist, second-seeded, beat John Wolf of Georgetown University, 6-1, 6-2.

Ed Bertram of St. John's, Brooklyn, became the first player to reach the quarter-finals by downing Pete Jurow of Adelphi, 6-3, 6-1.

The varsity doubles were postponed Tuesday by rain and were rescheduled for today.

Mower's 557 Top Tonche Score

Crazy, But Solid Softball California Cuties' Forte

If you want to see softball played like it has never been played before, you definitely will not want to miss the famed California Cuties against Joe Amato's All Stars Thursday night at 8:30 at Dietz Stadium.

A preliminary game between two local girl squads is scheduled at 7:30 p. m. Proceeds of the doubleheader go to the Glasco-East Kingston Little League.

The Cuties, an all-male combination that beats the best men's teams with ease, are rated the zaniest, clowniest, craziest softball team in the United States today.

But don't let their weird female garb and costume and hair-do's fool you. When the chips are down, the Cuties play a rugged game as the Amato All Stars are likely to discover.

Liza Jones Is Star

Among the colorful characters on the Cuties roster are Liza Jane, the zaniest gal around and Little Beulah, one of the smallest figures in softball—36 inches tall—and possessor of one of the strongest arms in softball.

The Cuties have several other stars, including Fireball Freda, star pitcher who is considered by many as one of the fastest pitchers on West Coast; Main Street Sally, the glamor girl of softball: Tessie the Terror, Lotta Fanny, Julie the Hillbilly and others.

The famous Cuties Hi-Kickers will do their renown chorus routine before the game and then go through their world famous pantomine infield which is rated by all as the best in softball

You won't want to miss an inning of this hilarious softball show. If you like your softball crazy, but spectacular, man, just dig those crazy doings Thursday night at Dietz Stadium.

Daily Double 8:50. General admission $2.00. Racing rain or shine. Heated grandstand areas. Children under 18 not admitted. Quickway exit 104. For group arrangements, reservations, travel information call Mont. 2900.

Palmer Is Favored to Win Open

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKMONT, Pa., (AP)—Arnold Palmer, his confidence booming again like his rocket-ride drives, is a 5-1 favorite to gain the second leg of professional golf's grand slam in the 62nd U.S. Open championship beginning Thursday at the Rugged Oakmont Country Club course.

"I'm out of the slump with my irons, if that's what it was, and my finger isn't bad at all," said the bronzed Masters champion from close-by Latrobe, Pa., after firing a 2-under-par 69 in his last major warmup on the 6,894-yard, par 36-35 — 71 course he has played on and off since he was a youngster.

"You could say I'm driving and putting pretty well. If my finger doesn't get any worse, it's not going to restrict me at all. The only time it really hurts is when I'm signing autographs."

Two stitches came loose Tuesday in the inch-long gash Palmer suffered on the ring finger of his right hand Sunday night while he was putting luggage into the trunk of his car. "I pulled 'em out," he said, "and it's a little tender but I don't think it'll need to be sewn up again."

Support continues strong for defending champion Gene Littler, despite an estimated 82 in his first look at Oakmont, and such other tournament-tested stars as Billy Casper, Gary Player, Dow Finsterwald, Mike Souchak, Doug Sanders, Doug Ford, Jack Nicklaus, and, of course, ol' Samuel Jackson Snead who will make his 22nd try for his first Open title.

Palmer, who is trying to complete the Masters — U.S. Open-British Open-U.S. PGA grand slam this year, feels the winning score will be close to 280—four under par for the 72 holes and three strokes less than the great Ben Hogan used here in winning his last of four Open championships in 1953.

"I think it'll be right around 280," Arnold said. "I know I'll feel more than satisfied if I can shoot that."

Local Nine Has Contest Sunday At Spring Valley

Featuring strictly area talent for the first time, the Kingston Braves will make their 1962 debut in the New York-New Jersey Baseball League Sunday at Spring Valley. The Bengals figure to be tough hosts. They walloped Beacon, 11-7, in the circuit's opening game this past week.

Manager Dick Bartsch has a squad of 20 players ready for the opener. The roster hasn't been completed and Bartsch expects to add some and drop some before settling on a final roster which he hopes will put the Braves in the thick of the battle for league honors.

Maines Returns

Lefty Bob Maines, a veteran of the NY-NJ League wars, will head the pitching corps. Others expected to see mound duty during the year are Paul Gardner and Mike Spada of Kingston and John Nolan of Saugerties. They are all righthanders.

Catching will be handled by Dick Bartsch, son of the manager and former Onteora Central star athlete and John Parete, ex-Kingston High All-DUSO performer.

Chick Boice, who was in the farm system of the Yankees, is listed as the first baseman. Second basemen are Paul Gianuzzi and Tony Amato of Kingston. Stanley Tetnowski of Woodstock and Mike Ferraro, the all-everything at Kingston High, are the shortstops and at third base is Ron Secreto of Kingston.

Outfielders on the roster are Frank Allen, Bill Chase, Joe Modica, Richie Sickler, Vince Smedes, Glen Puterbaugh and Paul Natale of Kingston and George Thompson of Hurley.

Following the road opener at Spring Valley, the Braves will make their home debut on Saturday, June 23, against Poughkeepsie, the defending champion. Twelve league games are on tap with each club in the five team circuit meeting the Braves three times.

The schedule:

Date	Opponent	Where
June 17	Spring Valley	Away
June 23	Poughkeepsie	Home
June 30	Spring Valley	Home
July 7	Newburgh	Home
July 8	Spring Valley	Away
July 13	Poughkeepsie	Away
July 14	Beacon	Home
July 21	Newburgh	Home

Seeded Stars Advance In Colgate Net Tourney

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — The two top-seeded players in the 40th annual Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament were still in the running today.

Paul Scarpa of Florida State and Bill Poist of Ohio Wesleyan won their matches Tuesday.

Scarpa, seeded No. 1, defeated Bill Hinkel of the University of Pittsburgh, 6-0, 6-2. Poist, second-seeded, beat John Wolf of Georgetown University, 6-1, 6-2.

Ed Bertram of St. John's, Brooklyn, became the first player to reach the quarter-finals by downing Pete Jurow of Adelphi, 6-3, 6-1.

The varsity doubles were postponed Tuesday by rain and were rescheduled for today.

Crazy, But Solid Softball California Cuties' Forte

If you want to see softball played like it has never been played before, you definitely will not want to miss the famed California Cuties against Joe Amato's All Stars Thursday night at 8:30 at Dietz Stadium.

A preliminary game between two local girl squads is scheduled at 7:30 p. m. Proceeds of the doubleheader go to the Glasco-East Kingston Little League.

The Cuties, an all-male combination that beats the best men's teams with ease, are rated the zaniest, clowniest, craziest softball team in the United States today.

But don't let their weird female garb and costume and hair-do's fool you. When the chips are down, the Cuties play a rugged game as the Amato All Stars are likely to discover.

Liza Jones Is Star

Among the colorful characters on the Cuties roster are Liza Jane, the zaniest gal around and Little Beulah, one of the smallest figures in softball—36 inches tall—and possessor of one of the strongest arms in softball.

The Cuties have several other stars, including Fireball Freda, star pitcher who is considered by many as one of the fastest pitchers on West Coast; Main Street Sally, the glamor girl of softball: Tessie the Terror, Lotta Fanny, Julie the Hillbilly and others.

The famous Cuties Hi-Kickers will do their renown chorus routine before the game and then go through their world famous pantomine infield which is rated by all as the best in softball

You won't want to miss an inning of this hilarious softball show. If you like your softball crazy, but spectacular, man, just dig those crazy doings Thursday night at Dietz Stadium.

Wolfert, Dendy Hole Out Aces At Woodstock CC

Woodstock Country Club, which produced five holes-in-one during the 1961 season, has two early season members of the Acers Club.

Ira Wolfert of Lake Hill, well known author and Pulitzer Prize winner, and Thomas H. Dendy of Woodstock, a veteran WCC member, both aced the par-three No. 4 "water hole" in recent days.

Esther Tremper Leads With 547

Palmer Is Favored to Win Open

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKMONT, Pa., (AP)—Arnold Palmer, his confidence booming again like his rocket-ride drives, is a 5-1 favorite to gain the second leg of professional golf's grand slam in the 62nd U.S. Open championship beginning Thursday at the Rugged Oakmont Country Club course.

"I'm out of the slump with my irons, if that's what it was, and my finger isn't bad at all," said the bronzed Masters champion from close-by Latrobe, Pa., after firing a 2-under-par 69 in his last major warmup on the 6,894-yard, par 36-35 — 71 course he has played on and off since he was a youngster.

"You could say I'm driving and putting pretty well. If my finger doesn't get any worse, it's not going to restrict me at all. The only time it really hurts is when I'm signing autographs."

Two stitches came loose Tuesday in the inch-long gash Palmer suffered on the ring finger of his right hand Sunday night while he was putting luggage into the trunk of his car. "I pulled 'em out," he said, "and it's a little tender but I don't think it'll need to be sewn up again."

Support continues strong for defending champion Gene Littler, despite an estimated 82 in his first look at Oakmont, and such other tournament-tested stars as Billy Casper, Gary Player, Dow Finsterwald, Mike Souchak, Doug Sanders, Doug Ford, Jack Nicklaus, and, of course, ol' Samuel Jackson Snead who will make his 22nd try for his first Open title.

Palmer, who is trying to complete the Masters — U.S. Open-British Open-U.S. PGA grand slam this year, feels the winning score will be close to 280—four under par for the 72 holes and three strokes less than the great Ben Hogan used here in winning his last of four Open championships in 1953.

"I think it'll be right around 280," Arnold said. "I know I'll feel more than satisfied if I can shoot that."

Joe Carr Is Favored To Win British Open

HOYLAKE, England (AP)—Joe Carr, the golfing pride of Ireland, was a clear favorite today to win the British Amateur Championship for the fourth time—with 12 Americans still among those trying to stop him.

England's Michael Bonallack, last year's winner and top seed, was shocked into a 2 and 1 defeat Tuesday by a young Irishman, Jackson Taggart. The experts predicted that with Bonallack gone, no one would be able to hold the big hitting Carr on this course of long flat fairways.

Robert Sweeny, 50, of Palm Beach, Fla., who won this title in 1937, met John Glocer of Northern Ireland in the second round.

David Goldman, 53, of Dallas, Tex., who was runner up to Lawson Little in the American Amateur of 1934, was matched against R. E. Rimmer of England in the third round.

Tom Stith Has First Workout On Cage Court in 14 Months

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—"I always felt I'd play again," said Tom Stith of his first basketball workout in 14 months.

"It was good to shoot again but I expected to hit more," he added.

He returned Monday, but only to shoot. Running still is taboo.

After his three brilliant seasons at St. Bonaventure in Olean, N. Y., the NBA team selected Stith as its No. 1 draft choice. But a lung infection was discovered after his last game, an All-Star East-West match in Kansas City.

He remained in a sanitarium for three months. Stith still faces an important gastric test in New York City Thursday.

Knick coach Eddie Donovan, who handled Stith at St. Bonaventure, said of his prospects in the 1962-63 NBA season:

"We don't know whether he'll play or not. We'll see as we go along. The doctors tell us the weakness in his lung has healed and scar tissue has formed, which is good. But whether he can stand the NBA grind no one knows."

Tinker Twine of Woodstock Wins All-Around Champion

A variety of 20 classes were listed for the 82 horses entered. The most popular spectator events were the Eastern Barrel Racing Association event, with eight contestants competing for fastest time around the cloverleaf barrel pattern on horseback; the Open Roping, where 17 topnotch calf ropers gave an exciting performance of their skills with live Brahma calves; and the novel Izzy Dizzy event, a game devised to provide fun for contestants and spectators alike.

A colorful array of all type horses was entered in the Grand Entry parade, with a new design pattern for a horse show called "The Snake Run," formerly seen at rodeos at Madison Square Garden. The Eastern Barrel Racing Association will make its first appearance at Madison Square this fall during the National Horse Show.

Leon Losey of Trumanburg served as judge for the show and Art Heidcamp was steward, a responsible position he has held for many years.

Mets Sign Eight As Free Agents

In an effort to form the foundation for a farm system of the future, the New York Mets today announced the signing of eight free agents, none of whom ever played professional baseball before. They range from Ed LaDuke, second baseman of the University of Indiana, who led the Big Ten in batting with .431, to Johnny Johnson, a third baseman, who just graduated from Odessa, Texas High: LaDuke incidentally, comes from New Albany, Indiana, the home of Billy Herman.

Bill Borgesch, director of the Mets' farm system, announced that in addition to LaDuke and Johnson, the following players were signed:

Burdette Is Back On Winning Beam

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Don't write off veteran Lew Burdette yet. After a slow start because of an ankle injury, the fidgety righthander is flashing the form which helped Milwaukee Braves to pennants in 1957 and 1958.

Backed by the Braves' heaviest hitting spree of the season, the 35-year-old Burdette breezed to a 15-2 victory over Los Angeles Tuesday night. The defeat cut the Dodgers' National League lead to one game over San Francisco, which swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati 2-1 and 7-5.

"I had good stuff, good control and threw harder than at any time this year," Burdette said. "After we got that big lead (8-1) in the first two innings, though, my job was a lot easier."

Burdette was hit hard and often in losing his first four decisions this season. He suffered a sprained ankle and was sidelined three weeks. Then he was put in the bullpen to pitch his way back into shape.

He has rebounded with four straight victories.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching — Dave Wickersham, Athletics, won his fourth in five games as a starter after beginning season as relief pitcher, limiting Chicago White Sox to three hits for 2-1 victory.

Batting — Hank Aaron, Braves, went 3-for-3 with 11th homer and two singles, pacing 17-hit attack that overwhelmed National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers 15-2.

Dark Is Elated After Double Win By San Francisco

CINCINNATI (AP) — The San Francisco Giants had just won a doubleheader, breaking a six game losing streak and climbing back to within a game of the National League lead.

Manager Alvin Dark was quietly elated at the turn in luck, which dropped the Cincinnati Reds from third to fifth place Tuesday night, but that was all. He sized up the pennant race this way:

"This is a year when you never know what will happen."

The Giants, who lost the league lead to Los Angeles during their losing streak, beat the Reds in a twi-nighter, 2-1 and 7-5.

Fine pitching by Juan Marichal and Mike McCormick, and the home run hitting of Orlando Cepeda were keys to San Francisco's double victory. Cepeda got his 16th and 17th homers in the second game and drove in four runs.

Marichal not only pitched fine ball but also drove in the winning run in the first game.

"Any time you get good pitching, the team is going to look good," Dark said after the games. "Marichal was great, and so was McCormick."

Bald Eagle Becoming Scarce

The bald eagle, adopted as an emblem of the United States in 1782, is waning. Fewer than 500 pairs survive south of Canada. For years they were hunted for bounty. Now federal law protects them.

The fourth place Los Angeles Angels crept within a game and a half of the first-place New York Yankees Tuesday night and Lee Thomas provided the punch in a 7-5 victory over Minnesota.

The 26-year-old left-handed swinger hit his eighth and ninth homers against the Twins, connecting with one on in the third and tagging another with the bases empty in the seventh.

The defeat dropped the Twins from the league lead into third place. The Yankees took over the top spot with a 2-1 triumph over Detroit. Cleveland, rained out at Washington, moved percentage points ahead of Minnesota into second place.

Kansas City edged the Chicago White Sox 2-1 on Dave Wickersham's three-hitter and Boston squeezed by Baltimore 4-3 in other games.

Although Thomas provided the fireworks for the Angels, it took a three-run outburst in the sixth inning to snap a 3-3 tie and subdue the Twins. Felix Torres' single drove in the tie-breaker as the Angels got the benefit of four walks in the inning.

Stafford Halts Tigers

Bill Stafford (6-3) held the Tigers to three hits until the ninth when singles by Rocky Colavito, Vic Wertz and Chico Fernandez scored a run and snapped a string of 25 scoreless innings compiled by the Yankee right-hander. Roger Maris hit home run No. 11, in the third inning after the Yanks had moved ahead in the first on Phil Linz' single, a sacrifice by Bobby Richardson and Johnny Blanchard's single. The loser was Yankee nemesis Frank Lary (1-4), now 28-11 lifetime against New York.

Wickersham, reliever turned starter, won his fourth against one loss as a front-liner with a three-hitter for the A's and brought his over-all record to an impressive 7-2. White Sox starter Juan Pizzaro (3-5), who allowed only eight hits, lost it when a single by Manny Jimenez, Gino Cimoli's triple and a single by Joe Azcue scored two runs in the eighth.

Frank Malzone drove in the first three Red Sox runs with a single and two-run homer. Carroll Hardy knocked in the clincher with a double in the third and robbed Jim Gentile of a grand slam homer in the Sixth. Boston's Gary Geiger cut down the potential tying run in the ninth by throwing Dick Williams out at the plate, preserving the triumph for Ike Delock (1-0). Jack Fisher (1-2) lost it.

Halting the tailspin which dropped them out of the National League lead, the San Francisco Giants snapped their six-game losing streak Tuesday night, sweeping a doubleheader from Cincinnati 2-1 and 7-5 and moved back within a game of the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Dodgers, rolling with seven victories in nine games and 20 in 24, ran into a 17-hit, five-homer Milwaukee outburst behind Lew Burdette's six-hit pitching and lost a game and a half of their lead with a 15-2 clobbering by the Braves.

The defending champion Reds fell from third place to fifth. Pittsburgh moved into third, 7½ behind, by edging the Chicago Cubs 4-3 and St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 3-2 to take over fourth. Houston defeated New York's Mets 3-2.

Juan Marichal (9-4) checked the Reds on seven hits in the opener and drove in the winning run in a two-run seventh inning surge that put it away for the Giants.

Cepeda Hits Pair

Orlando Cepeda drove in four runs for the Giants in the nightcap with two homers—a three-run shot in the first and a solo in the fifth that eventually proved to be the deciding run. Moe Drabowsky (1-5) was the loser.

Burdette, (4-4), recording his second complete game in a row and fourth consecutive triumph, retired 19 in a row at one stretch while the Braves were pounding Johnny Podres (3-5) and two successors. Hank Aaron, who had three hits, and Ed Mathews each hit home run No. 11 and Gus Bell, Frank Bolling and Tommie Aaron also connected. Mathews' homer was the 381st of his career, tying him for eighth place with the Yankees' Mickey Mantle.

Outhit by the Cubs 11-8, the Pirates scored two runs in the first and two in the second for their fourth victory in a row.

The Pirates then held on behind Harvey Haddix (5-2) and relief ace ElRoy Face. Glen Hobbie (1-8) lost it.

Rookie Fred Whitfield tagged a two-run homer off Paul Brown (0-5) in the eighth inning to win it for the Cardinals. Brown had opened the seventh with a double and scored to put the Phillies in front 2-1. The victory, the eighth in nine games for St. Louis, went to former Phil Don Ferrarese (1-2).

Joe Amalfitano's single drove in pinch runner Roman Mejias with the winning run and climaxed a two-run uprising in the last of the ninth that gave the Colts their victory over the Mets. An infield single by Billy Goodman and Pidge Browne's pinch-hit triple off Craig Anderson (3-6) preceded Amalfitano's game-winner. Ken Johnson (4-6) was the winner.

NEW 'JEEP' TORNADO-OHC ENGINE

BIRTH OF A CHAMPION! Today, after years of research, development and testing, Willys Motors proudly presents the 'Jeep' Tornado-OHC—America's first overhead camshaft engine designed specially for commercial vehicles.

WHAT IS AN OHC ENGINE? In a pushrod engine the valves are on top—the camshaft, which operates them, is at the bottom. It's an awkward situation like playing the piano sitting on the floor—you have to stretch up and over to hit the keys. Giving the Tornado-OHC overhead cams—which is what OHC stands for—is like giving the pianist a chair. You get much better performance.

LOADED OHC 'JEEP' VEHICLE PULLS LIKE IT'S EMPTY! The Tornado-OHC engine is the strongest, most economical 'Jeep' engine ever...gives you 33% more horsepower, yet it cuts gasoline consumption by up to 25%. Still more important, it produces very high torque at very low engine speeds. So it makes light work of starting off, accelerating and climbing hills with heavy loads.

LONG LIFE? IT'S ALMOST INDESTRUCTIBLE! 'Jeep' engineers tried to 'burn-up' the prototypes—but they couldn't. And because the Tornado-OHC produces more power with less effort—it actually has 36 fewer moving parts—it lasts much longer than a conventional pushrod 6-cylinder engine. It's almost indestructible!

COME IN AND TEST DRIVE THE TORNADO-OHC ENGINE! Now available in 'Jeep' Pick-ups, 4-wheel drive Utility Wagons, 2 WD Station Wagons and Panel Deliveries. But be warned, with its exciting performance you'll probably want to take it home with you. After Tornado-OHC performance you'll be unhappy with anything else—except another OHC 'Jeep' Vehicle!

Joe Carr Is Favored To Win British Open

HOYLAKE, England (AP)—Joe Carr, the golfing pride of Ireland, was a clear favorite today to win the British Amateur Championship for the fourth time—with 12 Americans still among those trying to stop him.

England's Michael Bonallack, last year's winner and top seed, was shocked into a 2 and 1 defeat Tuesday by a young Irishman, Jackson Taggart. The experts predicted that with Bonallack gone, no one would be able to hold the big hitting Carr on this course of long flat fairways.

The 40-year-old Irishman, who won the title in 1953, 1958 and 1960 was scheduled to meet John Langridge, a little know English player, in the third round.

Robert Sweeny, 50, of Palm Beach, Fla., who won this title in 1937, met John Glocer of Northern Ireland in the second round.

David Goldman, 53, of Dallas, Tex., who was runner up to Lawson Little in the American Amateur of 1934, was matched against R. E. Rimmer of England in the third round.

Tom Stith Has First Workout On Cage Court in 14 Months

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—"I always felt I'd play again," said Tom Stith of his first basketball workout in 14 months.

"It was good to shoot again but I expected to hit more," he added.

Stith, an All-American struck down by tuberculosis at the height of his sports career, reflected Tuesday on how it felt to return to the court.

He returned Monday, but only to shoot. Running still is taboo.

He is one of a dozen rookies participating in a week-long camp of the New York Knickerbockers.

After his three brilliant seasons at St. Bonaventure in Olean, N. Y., the NBA team selected Stith as its No. 1 draft choice. But a lung infection was discovered after his last game, an All-Star East-West match in Kansas City.

He remained in a sanitarium for three months. Stith still faces an important gastric test in New York City Thursday.

Knick coach Eddie Donovan, who handled Stith at St. Bonaventure, said of his prospects in the 1962-63 NBA season:

"We don't know whether he'll play or not. We'll see as we go along. The doctors tell us the weakness in his lung has healed and scar tissue has formed, which is good. But whether he can stand the NBA grind no one knows."

Tinker Twine of Woodstock Wins All-Around Champion

Miss Tinker Twine of Woodstock, riding her faithful and tested Midnight, captured the All-Around Champion Award in the horse show sponsored by the Kiersted Ranch at Lake Katrine.

Miss Twine, a veteran, accomplished horse equestrienne, captured the top prize in a field of 28 horses. She won the Western Pleasure, English Road Hack, and Junior Trail divisions and placed second in Bareback.

A variety of 20 classes were listed for the 82 horses entered. The most popular spectator events were the Eastern Barrel Racing Association event, with eight contestants competing for fastest time around the cloverleaf barrel pattern on horseback; the Open Roping, where 17 topnotch calf ropers gave an exciting performance of their skills with live Brahma calves; and the novel Izzy Dizzy event, a game devised to provide fun for contestants and spectators alike.

A colorful array of all type horses was entered in the Grand Entry parade, with a new design pattern for a horse show called "The Snake Run," formerly seen at rodeos at Madison Square Garden. The Eastern Barrel Racing Association will make its first appearance at Madison Square this fall during the National Horse Show.

Leon Losey of Trumanburg served as judge for the show and Art Heidcamp was steward, a responsible position he has held for many years.

Burdette Is Back On Winning Beam

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Don't write off veteran Lew Burdette yet. After a slow start because of an ankle injury, the fidgety righthander is flashing the form which helped Milwaukee Braves to pennants in 1957 and 1958.

Backed by the Braves' heaviest hitting spree of the season, the 35-year-old Burdette breezed to a 15-2 victory over Los Angeles Tuesday night. The defeat cut the Dodgers' National League lead to one game over San Francisco, which swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati 2-1 and 7-5.

"I had good stuff, good control and threw harder than at any time this year," Burdette said. "After we got that big lead (8-1) in the first two innings, though, my job was a lot easier."

Burdette was hit hard and often in losing his first four decisions this season. He suffered a sprained ankle and was sidelined three weeks. Then he was put in the bullpen to pitch his way back into shape.

He has rebounded with four straight victories.

Pitching — Dave Wickersham, Athletics, won his fourth in five games as a starter after beginning season as relief pitcher, limiting Chicago White Sox to three hits for 2-1 victory.

Batting — Hank Aaron, Braves, went 3-for-3 with 11th homer and two singles, pacing 17-hit attack that overwhelmed National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers 15-2.

Mets Sign Eight As Free Agents

In an effort to form the foundation for a farm system of the future, the New York Mets today announced the signing of eight free agents, none of whom ever played professional baseball before. They range from Ed LaDuke, second baseman of the University of Indiana, who led the Big Ten in batting with .431, to Johnny Johnson, a third baseman, who just graduated from Odessa, Texas High: LaDuke incidentally, comes from New Albany, Indiana, the home of Billy Herman.

Bill Bergesch, director of the Mets' farm system, announced that in addition to LaDuke and Johnson, the following players were signed:

Dark Is Elated After Double Win By San Francisco

CINCINNATI (AP) — The San Francisco Giants had just won a doubleheader, breaking a six game losing streak and climbing back to within a game of the National League lead.

Manager Alvin Dark was quietly elated at the turn in luck, which dropped the Cincinnati Reds from third to fifth place Tuesday night, but that was all. He sized up the pennant race this way:

"This is a year when you never know what will happen."

The Giants, who lost the league lead to Los Angeles during their losing streak, beat the Reds in a twi-nighter, 2-1 and 7-5.

Fine pitching by Juan Marichal and Mike McCormick, and the home run hitting of Orlando Cepeda were keys to San Francisco's double victory. Cepeda got his 16th and 17th homers in the second game and drove in four runs.

Marichal not only pitched fine ball but also drove in the winning run in the first game.

"Any time you get good pitching, the team is going to look good," Dark said after the games.

"Marichal was great, and so was McCormick."

Bald Eagle Becoming Scarce

The bald eagle, adopted as an emblem of the United States in 1782, is waning. Fewer than 500 pairs survive south of Canada. For years they were hunted for bounty. Now federal law protects them.

MARK SCHOOLS OF FISH QUICKLY

IF YOU TROLL IN FISHING FOR YELLOW PERCH, WALLEYES AND OTHERS THAT SCHOOL, IT'S WISE TO KNOW WHERE A FISH WAS HOOKED WHEN IT TOOK THE LURE; A BOAT'S MOMENTUM, WIND OR CURRENT USUALLY CARRIES YOU AWAY FROM THE SCHOOL OF FISH WHILE YOU'RE BUSY PLAYING THE FIRST ONE. SO, WHEN A FISH IS HOOKED, FLIP THIS BOTTLE OVERBOARD TO MARK THE LOCATION.

AFTER BOATING THE FIRST FISH, RETURN TO ANCHORED FLOAT AND CONTINUE FISHING THE SCHOOL.

NEW 'JEEP' TORNADO-OHC ENGINE
You'll be amazed at its performance!

BIRTH OF A CHAMPION! Today, after years of research, development and testing, Willys Motors proudly presents the 'Jeep' Tornado-OHC—America's first overhead camshaft engine designed specially for commercial vehicles.

WHAT IS AN OHC ENGINE? In a pushrod engine the valves are on top—the camshaft, which operates them, is at the bottom. It's an awkward situation like playing the piano sitting on the floor—you have to stretch up and over to hit the keys. Giving the Tornado-OHC overhead cams—which is what OHC stands for—is like giving the pianist a chair. You get much better performance.

LOADED OHC 'JEEP' VEHICLE PULLS LIKE IT'S EMPTY! The Tornado-OHC engine is the strongest, most economical 'Jeep' engine ever...gives you 33% more horsepower, yet it cuts gasoline consumption by up to 25%. Still more important, it produces very high torque at very low engine speeds. So it makes light work of starting off, accelerating and climbing hills with heavy loads.

LONG LIFE? IT'S ALMOST INDESTRUCTIBLE! 'Jeep' engineers tried to 'burn-up' the prototypes—but they couldn't. And because the Tornado-OHC produces more power with less effort—it actually has 36 fewer moving parts—it lasts much longer than a conventional pushrod 6-cylinder engine. It's almost indestructible!

COME IN AND TEST DRIVE THE TORNADO-OHC ENGINE! Now available in 'Jeep' Pick-ups, 4-wheel drive Utility Wagons, 2 WD Station Wagons and Panel Deliveries. But be warned, with its exciting performance you'll probably want to take it home with you. After Tornado-OHC performance you'll be unhappy with anything else—except another OHC 'Jeep' Vehicle!

Tar Boy Last At Buffalo Track

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Levi Harner, who drove in the first race at Buffalo Raceway on June 12, 1942 and finished last, repeated the performance in Tuesday night's Twentieth Anniversary Special Pace at the track.

Harner, reining Tar Boy, finished at the rear of a six-horse field.

The victorious horse in the $7,500 event was Winning Adios, who equalled the fastest pace time of the season at Buffalo—2:01 1-5.

The winning 4-year-old son of Adios, driven by Keith Waples, edged out Milford Hanover by a length in returning $5. Mr. Childs was third.

Buffalo Raceway is the scene tonight of the $13,000 W. N. Reynolds Memorial Stake for 3-year-old trotting fillies.

At Yonkers Raceway Tuesday night, Flash Counsel, a 22-to-1 outsider, came from second at the top of the stretch to win the featured $3,000 pace by a neck over Gogo Playtime in 2:04 1-5. The winning 5-year-old, driven by Daniel Talbot, returned $46. Meadow Chuck was third.

In other harness racing in New York State:

Saratoga — Federalist ($13.30) won the $3,000 Kenneth G. Reynolds Memorial Pace in 2:07. Bill Current drove. Luck Layne was second and Little Annabelle third.

Vernon—Spellbinder ($4.10) and Tally Dares ($4.90) finished in a dead heat in the featured Class B-3 pace. The time was 2:02 4-5. Rich Gallon was third.

Got His Wires Crossed

"This is Dr. Blank," said the caller. "Give me delivery, please. Quickly."

The switchboard girl dutifully connected the doctor with the circulation department of the newspaper. After a few minutes of confused conversation, the doctor admitted he had the wrong number. He wanted the delivery room at St. Mary's Hospital.

Be Cheerful Seeks Third Straight Win

MONTICELLO, N. Y., June 9 — Eleven-year-old Be Cheerful will be aiming for its third straight victory against tougher company in tonight's feature $1,500 Class B-1/B-2 Handicap Trot at Monticello Raceway.

Co-owned by Clyde Hahn and Lee Konjas of Kingston, the gritty gelding comes off a 2:06.4 victory against Class C-1 rivals. Be Cheerful won that dash by a length and three quarters. Mike Organ will rein him from post two.

Flake Hanover, with a 2:06.1 win to its credit, is the early favorite. Bob Camper's four-year-old Hoot Mon mare snapped an eight-race non-winning last week and is showing signs of last season's good form. Flake Hanover has been assigned the No. 6 slot, and is among four Class B-1 amblers in the race.

Other B-1 starters will be Mandy's Girl, from the No. 5 lane with Frank Burgett, and Pro Mac (Maurice Pusey) and Philomel (George Sziklai) from the seven and eight posts.

Valiant Hanover will start along the rail with Jean Berube. The rest of the field from the rail out will be Be Cheerful, Kilter (Lucien Fontaine), Tennez (Tom Gay).

Racing secretary Jim Dunnigan has carded two claiming races to get the program under way. The first dash will be a trot and the second a pace. Both races carry claiming prices of either $2,000 or $2,500.

The associate feature will be a $900 Conditioned Pace in the fifth race. Camper's Precise Time looms as the early choice against threats like Adios Wilskers, Awol, and White Connie.

Becker Hurls 2nd No-Hitter

Tom Becker hurled a second straight no-hitter and his Tiger teammates broke a 1-1 tie with five runs in the fifth frame for a 6-1 win in the Rondout Valley Little League last evening.

Gary Mulligan and Greg Haase had doubles for the winners and Haase added a single for his day's work. The Braves scored their run in the opening session and the Tigers picked up one in the fourth before clinching it in the fifth frame.

Snyder, Murphy Pace Jays Team

Gary Snyder hurled a one-hitter in his debut as a pitcher and Andy Murphy slugged his sixth and seventh home runs of the season as the Jays walloped the Eagles, 5-1, in a Jaycee Little League game yesterday.

Murphy started the winners on the right foot with a three-run blast in the opening inning. After the losers came back with their only run in the second on a two-out error, "A. J." knocked number seven out of the lot in the fifth.

Steve Sior had the lone Eagle hit, a second inning single. Murphy also singled in addition to his homers.

Snyder fanned four and walked two in gaining the decision over Jay Kenik, who fanned eight and passed only one.

Toni-Lynn Nips Fil-Jon, 4-3

Larry Crantz and Bob Jones combined their talents to hurl the Toni-Lynn Maternities to a 4-3 American Little League verdict over Fil-Jon Manufacturing last evening.

Crantz was pitching one-hit ball going into the final inning when he became wild and walked two batters. An infield error loaded the bags and Mike Weishaupt's double brought home a pair of runs. Jones relieved at this point and walked in a run. Then Crantz saved the day with a neat play at shortstop to force a runner at third and end the game.

Ithaca Loses 1st Game of Year, 5-4

OMAHA (AP)—The bullpen has become a key to the College World Series, and timely hitting combined with speed are added factors in Michigan's favor in its bid for the national championship.

The Wolverines and Florida State, the only unbeaten teams remaining in the double elimination NCAA championships, have a showdown tonight in the tournament's third round. A couple of relievers, Jim Bobel of Michigan and Tom Davis of Florida State, chalked up victories Tuesday night to put their schools alone in the winner's bracket.

Bobel turned in five near perfect innings in relief and Michigan banged out 14 hits in an 11-4 rout of Holy Cross. Florida State also showed bullpen strength in its 5-4 victory that ended little Ithaca's season - long perfect streak at 18 games.

Santa Clara needed Bob Garibaldi's 1-hit relief pitching over 3 1-3 innings to beat Missouri 7-4 in 12 innings. Missouri committed four errors in the 12th and let Santa Clara score three unearned runs.

Texas whacked Colorado State College 12-2 in Tuesday's other game.

Tar Boy Last At Buffalo Track

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Levi Harner, who drove in the first race at Buffalo Raceway on June 12, 1942 and finished last, repeated the performance in Tuesday night's Twentieth Anniversary Special Pace at the track.

Harner, reining Tar Boy, finished at the rear of a six-horse field.

The victorious horse in the $7,500 event was Winning Adios, who equalled the fastest pace time of the season at Buffalo—2:01 1-5.

The winning 4-year-old son of Adios, driven by Keith Waples, edged out Milford Hanover by a length in returning $5. Mr. Childs was third.

Buffalo Raceway is the scene tonight of the $13,000 W. N. Reynolds Memorial Stake for 3-year-old trotting fillies.

At Yonkers Raceway Tuesday night, Flash Counsel, a 22-to-1 outsider, came from second at the top of the stretch to win the featured $3,000 pace by a neck over Gogo Playtime in 2:04 1-5. The winning 5-year-old, driven by Daniel Talbot, returned $46. Meadow Chuck was third.

In other harness racing in New York State:

Saratoga — Federalist ($13.30) won the $3,000 Kenneth G. Reynolds Memorial Pace in 2:07. Bill Current drove. Luck Layne was second and Little Annabelle third.

Vernon—Spellbinder ($4.10) and Tally Dares ($4.90) finished in a dead heat in the featured Class B-3 pace. The time was 2:02 4-5. Rich Gallon was third.

Got His Wires Crossed

"This is Dr. Blank," said the caller. "Give me delivery, please. Quickly."

The switchboard girl dutifully connected the doctor with the circulation department of the newspaper. After a few minutes of confused conversation, the doctor admitted he had the wrong number. He wanted the delivery room at St. Mary's Hospital.

Be Cheerful Seeks Third Straight Win

MONTICELLO, N. Y., June 9 — Eleven-year-old Be Cheerful will be aiming for its third straight victory against tougher company in tonight's feature $1,500 Class B-1/B-2 Handicap Trot at Monticello Raceway.

Co-owned by Clyde Hahn and Lee Konjas of Kingston, the gritty gelding comes off a 2:06.4 victory against Class C-1 rivals. Be Cheerful won that dash by a length and three quarters. Mike Organ will rein him from post two.

Flake Hanover, with a 2:06.1 win to its credit, is the early favorite. Bob Camper's four-year-old Hoot Mon mare snapped an eight-race non-winning last week and is showing signs of last season's good form. Flake Hanover has been assigned the No. 6 slot, and is among four Class B-1 amblers in the race.

Other B-1 starters will be Mandy's Girl, from the No. 5 lane with Frank Burgett, and Pro Mac (Maurice Pusey) and Philomel (George Sziklai) from the seven and eight posts.

Valiant Hanover will start along the rail with Jean Berube. The rest of the field from the rail out will be Be Cheerful, Kilter (Lucien Fontaine), Tennez (Tom Gay).

Racing secretary Jim Dunnigan has carded two claiming races to get the program under way. The first dash will be a trot and the second a pace. Both races carry claiming prices of either $2,000 or $2,500.

The associate feature will be a $900 Conditioned Pace in the fifth race. Camper's Precise Time looms as the early choice against threats like Adios Wilskers, Awol, and White Connie.

Becker Hurls 2nd No-Hitter

Tom Becker hurled a second straight no-hitter and his Tiger teammates broke a 1-1 tie with five runs in the fifth frame for a 6-1 win in the Rondout Valley Little League last evening.

Gary Mulligan and Greg Haase had doubles for the winners and Haase added a single for his day's work. The Braves scored their run in the opening session and the Tigers picked up one in the fourth before clinching it in the fifth frame.

Snyder, Murphy Pace Jays Team

Gary Snyder hurled a one-hitter in his debut as a pitcher and Andy Murphy slugged his sixth and seventh home runs of the season as the Jays walloped the Eagles, 5-1, in a Jaycee Little League game yesterday.

Murphy started the winners on the right foot with a three-run blast in the opening inning. After the losers came back with their only run in the second on a two-out error, "A. J." knocked number seven out of the lot in the fifth.

Steve Sior had the lone Eagle hit, a second inning single. Murphy also singled in addition to his homers.

Snyder fanned four and walked two in gaining the decision over Jay Kenik, who fanned eight and passed only one.

Toni-Lynn Nips Fil-Jon, 4-3

Larry Crantz and Bob Jones combined their talents to hurl the Toni-Lynn Maternities to a 4-3 American Little League verdict over Fil-Jon Manufacturing last evening.

Crantz was pitching one-hit ball going into the final inning when he became wild and walked two batters. An infield error loaded the bags and Mike Weishaupt's double brought home a pair of runs. Jones relieved at this point and walked in a run. Then Crantz saved the day with a neat play at shortstop to force a runner at third and end the game.

The winners tallied twice in the opening inning and added single runs in the fourth and fifth frames.

Ithaca Loses 1st Game of Year, 5-4

OMAHA (AP)—The bullpen has become a key to the College World Series, and timely hitting combined with speed are added factors in Michigan's favor in its bid for the national championship.

The Wolverines and Florida State, the only unbeaten teams remaining in the double elimination NCAA championships, have a showdown tonight in the tournament's third round. A couple of relievers, Jim Bobel of Michigan and Tom Davis of Florida State, chalked up victories Tuesday night to put their schools alone in the winner's bracket.

Bobel turned in five near perfect innings in relief and Michigan banged out 14 hits in an 11-4 rout of Holy Cross. Florida State also showed bullpen strength in its 5-4 victory that ended little Ithaca's season - long perfect streak at 18 games.

Santa Clara needed Bob Garibaldi's 1-hit relief pitching over 3 1-3 innings to beat Missouri 7-4 in 12 innings. Missouri committed four errors in the 12th and let Santa Clara score three unearned runs.

Texas whacked Colorado State College 12-2 in Tuesday's other game.

Missouri and Colorado State were eliminated from the tournament. Santa Clara and Texas, opening round losers, stayed alive with their victories.

If food cooked in aluminum untensils injurious to health?

The question whether food cooked in aluminum ware is injurious to health was raised soon after cooking utensils were first made of aluminum in 1892 and has never been put completely to rest. Cooking vessels of other metals were also questioned at one time on the ground that they were a menace to health. More than two centuries ago Dr. Girtanner of Gottingen predicted that the time would come when "kitchen utensils will be made of silver, and even of gold, which will contribute more than anything else to prolong life, poisoned at present by the oxides of copper, lead and iron, which we daily swallow with our food." There appears to be no positive evidence that food cooked in aluminum vessels is more injurious to health than food cooked in utensils of iron and copper.

A friend was visiting the new superintendent of an insane asylum and was being shown over the extensive grounds. They came to a shaded place where the leaves were falling from the trees as it was the fall of the year.

Visitor — Look, fellow, you've got that rake upside down. Why don't you turn it over right side up?

Elderly Man (to a group of listeners) — For almost 15 years, my habits were as regular as clockwork. I got up at quarter of six, had breakfast at six-fifteen, was working at seven-thirty, had lunch at twelve-thirty, dinner at six-thirty, and was in bed at ten sharp.

A Listener (sympathetically) — My, my, and what were you in for?

Judge — But this officer says that while you were in a drunken state you tried to climb a lamp-post.

Drunk — Yes, I did, your honor, but three crocodiles had been following me about all night, and they were getting on my nerves.

Cooking vessels of other metals were also questioned at one time on the ground that they were a menace to health. More than two centuries ago Dr. Girtanner of Gottingen predicted that the time would come when "kitchen utensils will be made of silver, and even of gold, which will contribute more than anything else to prolong life, poisoned at present by the oxides of copper, lead and iron, which we daily swallow with our food." There appears to be no positive evidence that food cooked in aluminum vessels is more injurious to health than food cooked in utensils of iron and copper.

A friend was visiting the new superintendent of an insane asylum and was being shown over the extensive grounds. They came to a shaded place where the leaves were falling from the trees as it was the fall of the year.

The visitor saw a patient who was pulling a rake along on the ground. The rake was held upside down. This puzzled the visitor.

Visitor — Look, fellow, you've got that rake upside down. Why don't you turn it over right side up?

Inmate — Ha, I tried that and it caught up a lot of leaves.

A mother listening to the evening prayer of her sleepy little daughter was astonished and amused to hear the following: "Now I lay me down to sleep. I pray the Lord my soul to keep. When he hollers let him go, Eenie, meenie, miny, mo."

Elderly Man (to a group of listeners) — For almost 15 years, my habits were as regular as clockwork. I got up at quarter of six, had breakfast at six-fifteen, was working at seven-thirty, had lunch at twelve-thirty, dinner at six-thirty, and was in bed at ten sharp.

A Listener (sympathetically) — My, my, and what were you in for?

Judge — But this officer says that while you were in a drunken state you tried to climb a lamp-post.

Drunk — Yes, I did, your honor, but three crocodiles had been following me about all night, and they were getting on my nerves.

While accepting a farm-safety award at a banquet, Ron Hunter, of Rock Port, Mo., came in contact with a lighted candle on the table and burned his hand very bady.—Mrs. E. J. West, Independence, Mo.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS

The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard. Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

Packers Give Axe To Jim Pollard

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Packers of the National Basketball Association were seeking a new head coach today after firing Jim Pollard.

Pollard was dismissed Tuesday and then was offered a job as assistant to General Manager Frank Lane. However, it was believed Pollard would refuse the new position.

The Packers also announced they would play their 1962-63 home games in the Chicago Coliseum instead of the International Amphitheatre.

Prize List Out At Barrington

GREAT BARRINGTON — Prize lists for the 11th annual Great Barrington Charity Horse Show, July 5-8 at the Great Barrington Fairgrounds, are being mailed out this week to more than 2,000 exhibitors in anticipation of the 1962 show. Cash prizes total $10,000 in addition to trophies and ribbons.

In its 11 years the show has grown to the extent that it is now the largest outdoor show in New England and the second largest show in the east. It is exceeded in size only by the Devon, Penna., show just completed. Pre-show entries already received indicate that this year's show will top the records in participation set last year according to show manager Joe Maguire.

The show offers exhibitors full classifications for saddle horses and fine harness horses including Morgans, Walkers, Palominos, Parade and Hackney horses, as well as Hackney and Roadster ponies. Classes are also available in both breeding and harness categories for Shetland and Welsh ponies.

An extensive western division includes classes for Quarter horses, cutting horses, calf roping and barrel racing. The show is known to hunter-jumper exhibitors as the one in which a horse must go six feet for a win in a down-and-out class.

A full junior division features competition for hunting ponies, junior hunters, hunter equitation and saddle seat equitation.

Stafford Keeps Hot Hurling Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Stafford's string of 25 scoreless innings has been broken but the New York Yankee right-hander couldn't care less.

"I didn't even know I had it," Stafford said in the clubhouse Tuesday night, still elated after a 2-1 victory over Frank Lary and the Detroit Tigers. The Tigers finally broke through with a run after two were out in the ninth.

The thing that Stafford was most pleased about was the fact that he didn't walk anybody. Yankee press box statisticians said he hadn't walked anybody in the last 33 innings.

"If I walk over 65 men in a season I think I have had a bad year," he said. "If you look it up, you'll find I walked exactly 100 in 406 innings, counting a few months in Richmond and three years with the Yanks."

Stafford, only 23, appears to be headed for his top year in the majors with a 6-3 record. In the last four starts he has allowed a total of only 20 hits and seven runs. Only two of the runs were earned.

Packers Give Axe To Jim Pollard

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Packers of the National Basketball Association were seeking a new head coach today after firing Jim Pollard.

Pollard was dismissed Tuesday and then was offered a job as assistant to General Manager Frank Lane. However, it was believed Pollard would refuse the new position.

The Packers also announced they would play their 1962-63 home games in the Chicago Coliseum instead of the International Amphitheatre.

Prize List Out At Barrington

GREAT BARRINGTON — Prize lists for the 11th annual Great Barrington Charity Horse Show, July 5-8 at the Great Barrington Fairgrounds, are being mailed out this week to more than 2,000 exhibitors in anticipation of the 1962 show. Cash prizes total $10,000 in addition to trophies and ribbons.

In its 11 years the show has grown to the extent that it is now the largest outdoor show in New England and the second largest show in the east. It is exceeded in size only by the Devon, Penna., show just completed. Pre-show entries already received indicate that this year's show will top the records in participation set last year according to show manager Joe Maguire.

The show offers exhibitors full classifications for saddle horses and fine harness horses including Morgans, Walkers, Palominos, Parade and Hackney horses, as well as Hackney and Roadster ponies. Classes are also available in both breeding and harness categories for Shetland and Welsh ponies.

An extensive western division includes classes for Quarter horses, cutting horses, calf roping and barrel racing. The show is known to hunter-jumper exhibitors as the one in which a horse must go six feet for a win in a down-and-out class.

A full junior division features competition for hunting ponies, junior hunters, hunter equitation and saddle seat equitation.

Stafford Keeps Hot Hurling Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Stafford's string of 25 scoreless innings has been broken but the New York Yankee right-hander couldn't care less.

"I didn't even know I had it," Stafford said in the clubhouse Tuesday night, still elated after a 2-1 victory over Frank Lary and the Detroit Tigers. The Tigers finally broke through with a run after two were out in the ninth.

The thing that Stafford was most pleased about was the fact that he didn't walk anybody. Yankee press box statisticians said he hadn't walked anybody in the last 33 innings.

"If I walk over 65 men in a season I think I have had a bad year," he said. "If you look it up, you'll find I walked exactly 100 in 406 innings, counting a few months in Richmond and three years with the Yanks."

Stafford, only 23, appears to be headed for his top year in the majors with a 6-3 record. In the last four starts he has allowed a total of only 20 hits and seven runs. Only two of the runs were earned.

Mercury Edges Near Freezing In Michigan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures dropped into the 30s in parts of the northern Midwest today as cold Canadian air spread across the northeast quarter of the nation.

The mercury edged to near freezing in Marquette, Mich. Readings were in the 40-50 range in most of the cool belt. It was warm in much of the South with temperatures in the 70-80 degree range.

As the chilly air moved eastward, rain and showers broke out in many sections from the New Jersey coast through western Virginia to northern border areas of Mississippi. Thunderstorms and showers also erupted in the warm and humid regions of the Southland.

Rain splashed across Western sections, with heavy amounts in some areas. The wet belt extended across parts of the Rocky Mountain region, the northern plateau westward into western Washington and in western sections of the plains states.

A flash flood, in the wake of heavy rain and hail storms, hit Hay Springs in northwest Nebraska.

A small tornado struck near the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's manned spacecraft center in Houston, Tex. Twisters also menaced other parts of Texas, which has been hit by violent weather daily for more than a week.

Weather Picture Through Monday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from 7 p.m. today to 7 p.m. Monday:

Eastern New York—A cool period is indicated with temperatures averaging several degrees below normal. Another period of rainfall is likely about Sunday or Monday with amounts generally one-half inch or less.

Western New York—Temperatures will average 2-5 degrees below normal. Cool beginning of the period, warming toward the end of the week, then cooler about Monday. Precipitation will average one-fourth inch in scattered showers about the first of the week.

Temperature normals—Daytime highs 75-82. Nighttime lows 55-65.

Greene Leader Is Candidate for State Assembly

What appears to be the end of the four-candidate contest for the Republican nomination for Assemblyman in Greene County came Tuesday with the announcement by Greene County Clerk Neal Brandow that he is a candidate for the assembly post. The post, held by William E. Brady for 20 years, will become vacant through the retirement of Assemblyman Brady who has announced he will not be a candidate.

With the announcement that Assemblyman Brady of Coxsackie would not again contend for the nomination, there came a rash of candidates.

First to announce his candidacy was Under-sheriff Joseph Pavlak of Catskill. Then Supervisor Clarence Lane of Windham, Supervisor George Cobb of Catskill and William Freese of Cairo cast their hats in the ring.

Question Settled

Announcement Tuesday by Brandow that he would seek the nomination because there was "a very real threat of a primary fight with the resulting danger of rending our Republican party into warring factions, apparently has settled the contest question, according to Greene County political observers.

Brandow, a power in Republican politics in Greene County, has been county clerk for 10 years and has headed the GOP organization for seven years. He is a former Coxsackie supervisor. His name was also mentioned as a possible candidate for State Senate, prior to Senator E. Ogden Bush being selected to succeed himself. Many friends of Brandow had urged that he seek the post of state senator in the event Senator Bush declined to again become a candidate.

Veterans Group Re-Elects Slate

Officers of the Kingston Veterans Association were unanimously re-elected at the meeting held last week at the VFW Post Home, Delaware Avenue.

Returned to office were Sidney Lane, vice commander, District II, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of New York, chairman; Robert Heaney, past commander of Ulster Detachment Marine Corps League, co-chairman; Fred Bayona, vice commander of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, secretary and Joseph E. Sills Jr., past commander of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, public relations.

The association expressed appreciation to all who participated in the Memorial Day parade and to merchants who used memorial notices advising of holiday closing.

The KVA also commended area residents for displaying the flag throughout the city.

JFK to Meet Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will hold a news conference Thursday at 4 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time.

Reversing a previous White House announcement that there would be no presidential meeting with newsmen this week, press secretary Pierre Salinger said signals were switched because Kennedy's schedule opened up, thus allowing time for the conference.

Khedda Rejects Evian Revisions

TUNIS (AP)—Algerian nationalist Premier Youssef Ben Khedda categorically rejected today the possibility of revising the Algerian peace agreements to give further guarantees to European residents.

The head of the Algerian provisional government charged that "a series of maneuvers" is being made "in an attempt to sabotage the Evian (peace) agreements by making it appear possible they can be revised under the pretext of giving additional guarantees to the Europeans."

"My government categorically excludes this possibility," Ben Khedda said.

Ben Khedda, who made his statement as he left for Cairo, said, "The return of real peace can only be realized through the loyal application of the accords concluded at Evian."

Ben Khedda's statement came after two weeks of contacts between representatives of Algeria's European minority and members of the Algerian provisional executive body which is governing the North African territory until the July 1 self-determination referendum.

The European Secret Army Organization, trying to preserve French rule in Algeria, let up on its killing of Moslems when the secret contacts were begun. The secret army recently intensified scorched earth tactics, destroying schools and other installations by fire and explosives.

Ben Khedda's declaration may be followed by a resumption of large-scale murder of Moslems by the European terrorists. The nationalist premier said so far France had not employed sufficient means to re-establish order in Algeria.

"In certain French political and military circles," he said, "there is complacency and complicity with colonialist extremists."

Ben Khedda flew to Cairo for a meeting of the Casablanca alliance of African states. He indicated he would seek military aid against European terrorism should France not put it down.

Barn Escapes Blaze

JORDANS, England (AP) —A barn built of wood from the Pilgrim ship Mayflower escaped damage Tuesday night in a blaze that destroyed a neighboring inn.

The barn is maintained by residents of this Quaker village as a memorial to the Pilgrims who crossed the Atlantic in 1620.

Dutchess to Hold Hearing on Pay Hikes for Judges

Dutchess County's Board of Supervisors has authorized a hearing prior to the July meeting of the board, to discuss a proposal for the county to pay Surrogate W. Vincent Grady, Beacon, and Family Court Judge Joseph Jiudice $20,000 salaries beginning Sept. 1.

Surrogate Grady's present salary is $17,000 and Judge Jiudice receives $6,000 for part-time services.

The State has proposed to pay $10,000 toward the $20,000 annual salaries starting Jan. 1, 1963. The law requires a public hearing for salary changes.

The court reorganization law takes effect Sept. 1, calling for Judge Jiudice to become a full-time judge of Family Court.

Mercury Edges Near Freezing In Michigan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures dropped into the 30s in parts of the northern Midwest today as cold Canadian air spread across the northeast quarter of the nation.

The mercury edged to near freezing in Marquette, Mich. Readings were in the 40-50 range in most of the cool belt. It was warm in much of the South with temperatures in the 70-80 degree range.

As the chilly air moved eastward, rain and showers broke out in many sections from the New Jersey coast through western Virginia to northern border areas of Mississippi. Thunderstorms and showers also erupted in the warm and humid regions of the Southland.

Rain splashed across Western sections, with heavy amounts in some areas. The wet belt extended across parts of the Rocky Mountain region, the northern plateau westward into western Washington and in western sections of the plains states.

A flash flood, in the wake of heavy rain and hail storms, hit Hay Springs in northwest Nebraska.

A small tornado struck near the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's manned spacecraft center in Houston, Tex. Twisters also menaced other parts of Texas, which has been hit by violent weather daily for more than a week.

Weather Picture Through Monday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from 7 p.m. today to 7 p.m. Monday:

Eastern New York—A cool period is indicated with temperatures averaging several degrees below normal. Another period of rainfall is likely about Sunday or Monday with amounts generally one-half inch or less.

Western New York—Temperatures will average 2-5 degrees below normal. Cool beginning of the period, warming toward the end of the week, then cooler about Monday. Precipitation will average one-fourth inch in scattered showers about the first of the week.

Temperature normals—Daytime highs 75-82. Nighttime lows 55-65.

Greene Leader Is Candidate for State Assembly

What appears to be the end of the four-candidate contest for the Republican nomination for Assemblyman in Greene County came Tuesday with the announcement by Greene County Clerk Neal Brandow that he is a candidate for the assembly post. The post, held by William E. Brady for 20 years, will become vacant through the retirement of Assemblyman Brady who has announced he will not be a candidate.

With the announcement that Assemblyman Brady of Coxsackie would not again contend for the nomination, there came a rash of candidates.

First to announce his candidacy was Under-sheriff Joseph Pavlak of Catskill. Then Supervisor Clarence Lane of Windham, Supervisor George Cobb of Catskill and William Freese of Cairo cast their hats in the ring.

Question Settled

Announcement Tuesday by Brandow that he would seek the nomination because there was "a very real threat of a primary fight with the resulting danger of rending our Republican party into warring factions, apparently has settled the contest question, according to Greene County political observers.

Brandow, a power in Republican politics in Greene County, has been county clerk for 10 years and has headed the GOP organization for seven years. He is a former Coxsackie supervisor. His name was also mentioned as a possible candidate for State Senate, prior to Senator E. Ogden Bush being selected to succeed himself. Many friends of Brandow had urged that he seek the post of state senator in the event Senator Bush declined to again become a candidate.

Veterans Group Re-Elects Slate

Returned to office were Sidney Lane, vice commander, District II, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of New York, chairman; Robert Heaney, past commander of Ulster Detachment Marine Corps League, co-chairman; Fred Bayona, vice commander of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, secretary and Joseph E. Sills Jr., past commander of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, public relations.

The association expressed appreciation to all who participated in the Memorial Day parade and to merchants who used memorial notices advising of holiday closing.

The KVA also commended area residents for displaying the flag throughout the city.

JFK to Meet Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will hold a news conference Thursday at 4 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time.

Reversing a previous White House announcement that there would be no presidential meeting with newsmen this week, press secretary Pierre Salinger said signals were switched because Kennedy's schedule opened up, thus allowing time for the conference.

Khedda Rejects Evian Revisions

TUNIS (AP)—Algerian nationalist Premier Youssef Ben Khedda categorically rejected today the possibility of revising the Algerian peace agreements to give further guarantees to European residents.

The head of the Algerian provisional government charged that "a series of maneuvers" is being made "in an attempt to sabotage the Evian (peace) agreements by making it appear possible they can be revised under the pretext of giving additional guarantees to the Europeans."

"My government categorically excludes this possibility," Ben Khedda said.

Ben Khedda, who made his statement as he left for Cairo, said, "The return of real peace can only be realized through the loyal application of the accords concluded at Evian."

Ben Khedda's statement came after two weeks of contacts between representatives of Algeria's European minority and members of the Algerian provisional executive body which is governing the North African territory until the July 1 self-determination referendum.

The European Secret Army Organization, trying to preserve French rule in Algeria, let up on its killing of Moslems when the secret contacts were begun. The secret army recently intensified scorched earth tactics, destroying schools and other installations by fire and explosives.

Ben Khedda's declaration may be followed by a resumption of large-scale murder of Moslems by the European terrorists. The nationalist premier said so far France had not employed sufficient means to re-establish order in Algeria.

"In certain French political and military circles," he said, "there is complacency and complicity with colonialist extremists."

Ben Khedda flew to Cairo for a meeting of the Casablanca alliance of African states. He indicated he would seek military aid against European terrorism should France not put it down.

Barn Escapes Blaze

JORDANS, England (AP) —A barn built of wood from the Pilgrim ship Mayflower escaped damage Tuesday night in a blaze that destroyed a neighboring inn.

The barn is maintained by residents of this Quaker village as a memorial to the Pilgrims who crossed the Atlantic in 1620.

Dutchess to Hold Hearing on Pay Hikes for Judges

Dutchess County's Board of Supervisors has authorized a hearing prior to the July meeting of the board, to discuss a proposal for the county to pay Surrogate W. Vincent Grady, Beacon, and Family Court Judge Joseph Jiudice $20,000 salaries beginning Sept. 1.

Surrogate Grady's present salary is $17,000 and Judge Jiudice receives $6,000 for part-time services.

The State has proposed to pay $10,000 toward the $20,000 annual salaries starting Jan. 1, 1963. The law requires a public hearing for salary changes.

The court reorganization law takes effect Sept. 1, calling for Judge Jiudice to become a full-time judge of Family Court.
